Are we reverting to primeval days? Wild animals are becoming so numerous and unafraid that a fox is reported to have come into the barnyard with the cows at evening milking time and then, despite the presence of the female partner on the farm to set about catching a rooster. Two reports of cattle rustling this past week also call for the strong arm of the law as well as a steady aim of a shot gun. One of the cottages at the Lake was robbed of goods reported worth $1000 the other night. Another man left a small engine out side one evening and in the morning it had vanished!

The heaviest traffic ever recorded for June is on our ninth line this year. A trip with even more dips and bumps than the former roller coaster at the Exhibition. When is our road to be improved? That seems to be the 64 dollar question.
