WILD DUCKS SCARCE

In the spring of 1947 the supply of wild ducks on the North American continent was so low that there is a real threat to the sport of duck shooting. Even if the nesting season is good, according to the Department of Lands and Forests drastic restrictions on shooting are to be expected.

From a high of 145 million birds estimated in 1943, there is now believed to be something like 80 million birds, while the number of hunters, has nearly doubled in the same period, and despite the reduced bag, the number of ducks killed was double that of a few years ago. Prairie birds, too, are on the down grade in numbers.

Frank Wagg says that he expects to have new potatoes on the market in a few days, despite the backward spring.

The company acquired the place as accommodation for the workmen, but now find they do not require it any longer. Another real estate deal that went through last week was the sale of two cottages at Musselman's Lake, west shore, to Clayt. Baker. Previous owner was Mrs. Murison, Stouffville. These deals were all negotiated by H. Moyer for the Willoughby Agency.

One of the popular events of the season will be the Stouffville Horticultural Society picnic in Memorial Park on the afternoon and evening of Thursday, July 10. Supper will be served at 6.30 o'clock, and members and friends are asked to bring lunch and necessary dishes, also sugar for your coffee. There will be a social time, with perhaps games for the younger element. With favorable weather there is no place quite so inviting as the park at this time of year. It is in fine shape and you will enjoy it. Further particulars phone M. Merten's, secretary.

If a certain young Church St. lassie, named Shirley Bone has her way, a posse will be organized to go on a fox hunt in this north central section of town. Shirley was very proud of her school project this term, the raising of forty baby chicks, now some months old. One evening this week, a fox apparently slipped out from the swamp north of the Earl Keith property and cleaned up thirty-eight of the forty birds which were Shirley's pride and joy. Five of the chickens were missing and the rest of the decapitated lot were lying about the field. This is the closest a fox has ventured to town to be reported in some time.

Sixteen lads from Stouffville are enjoying a week's camp life at Camp Ahshunyoong on Lake Simcoe. There has never been a fatality in the camp through accident in all of the sixteen seasons it has operated. Tuesday, Dominion Day, was a dull holiday in town with the exception of baseball in the afternoon. Mid-week holidays are no longer popular, and it is hoped that before another year ends, Ottawa will decree that public holidays be held on Mondays.

Several local families moved up to Stayner last week for the annual Mennonite camp, which is a big affair in the history of that church. Recently a large new building was completed on the grounds reserved and owned by the church for camp purposes. This year's camp is expected to be one of largest in history of the undertaking.

Town Assessor Blake Sanders was removed to Toronto East General Hospital last week, and on Sunday underwent an emergent operation, and appears to have survived the ordeal well. Still another operation will be carried out before our townsman returns home. Friends will hope for an early recovery.

Four summonses were issued by the local constable for speeders over last weekend. There are some daring drivers who have no regard for their own or anybody's safety, when they travel 40 and 50 miles an hour on Main street through traffic. They are the drivers the constable intends to impress with court action.

Top grade fresh strawberries were selling for 25 cents a box in the stores the early part of this week. Dealers said they are not likely to drop much, especially if the present dry spell is prolonged to any extent. The crop is good this year over Ontario. Like the apple and raspberry crop strawberries are expected to exceed the 1946 output.

Mrs. James Monks (Myrtle Beebe) was in town last week for a day. She may bring along her trailer camp and spend the summer on a couple of lots she owns on Church street north, and towards fall Mrs. Beebe contemplates going South again for the winter, making the trip by train. It was during her last visit South when Mr. Monks died so suddenly.

Complaint is Justified

Charges made in the House of Commons last week that newspapers were not paying their fair share of postal costs were made. The complaint was against the larger dailies which are making a mint of money out of advertising, sending out tons and tons of newspapers containing mainly advertising matter, and stories, not live news. We think the complaint is justified and that papers of this class should pay the full cost of their distribution through the mails.

Mr. Watson recently bought a house in Uxbridge township which will be moved in for remodelling to his needs.

Engineers Busy Too

Residents of O'Brien avenue who requested the council to obtain the probable cost of a storm sewer that would drain the cellars in that area, have been promised some help by the council in obtaining the figures. However, it will be a couple of months before an engineer can even look over the situation, so that the information is going to be slow in obtaining. Many cellars on O'Brien were flooded this spring and real damage was done in some of them to furnaces and other equipment consequently the move to invest in a sewer would seem a prudent one.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Davis are holidaying in Buffalo this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Golden are at Belle Ewart for their summer holidays.

If old-timers who passed on 25 years ago were to return to Stouffville at this season of the year, they would get the impression that we had become a nudist colony, or something very close to one, judging by the way many of the girls have stripped themselves of clothing for the summer months.

Constable Rusnell asks the newspaper to remind customers of the local system that water for lawns and gardens may be taken from hose between the hours of six and eight each evening. Infractions of the bylaw leave person liable to a fine, or they may be cut off the system. A cruise of the town a few days ago revealed that several were using hose for lawns at wrong hours.

Another Factory Offer

One of the finest manufacturing firms in Ontario appealed for accommodation in Stouffville recently, with the view to moving part of their well established plant here, but no existing accommodation could be offered when the firm appealed to the authorities, and so another good manufacturing plant is lost to us. It would seem that no end of industry could be located if factory accommodation could be provided. Even well-to-do firms are skeptical about building in a new town where industry is not already established on a considerable scale. They want to rent factory space.
