A Whistling Baby

The wee daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Paisley who left Stouffville only last year to live in Vancouver has been getting the headlines in the daily press out West, because of her peculiar ability to be able to whistle. Hearing of the remarkable feat of the child a press reporter called at 1930 West Sixteenth street a few days ago, and here is his report:

A little boy was scuffling along in the fallen leaves in the street outside, and after considering the matter carefully he agreed that Mr. and Mrs. Bert Paisley, in Suite 1, might fill the bill. They had a little baby girl.

"She whistles at dogs," he said. So I tapped on the door of Suite 1. Mrs. Paisley opened the door. She was a happy looking woman with dark curly hair.

I asked her if she had a baby that whistled, and she looked a little surprised.

"Well, Margaret Ann whistles sometimes," she said. "Of course she doesn't carry a tune. At least not very far. Would you like to come in?"

We went inside and sat down in the front room. Margaret Ann was running around.

"She's a little tired," her mother explained. "It's almost her nap time. Maybe she won't want to whistle."

Educated Eleven-Months
Margaret Ann was eleven months old. She stood firmly on her two feet. She had been standing on them for two months. She smiled at her mother and she smiled at me.

"Bow wow," said her mother. "Usually when we say bow wow she whistles. She's crazy about dogs. When I take her down to the store to buy my groceries she whistles at all the dogs she sees."

Margaret Ann smiled at us again and remarked, "Bow wow" with great clarity. "Bow wow" But she wouldn't whistle.

"She's been whistling for two or three months now," her mother told me. "I think it was the radio that started her off. And Tom encouraged her. That's her brother. He's fourteen. He thinks she's wonderful. As soon as he comes into the house he calls to her, 'I'm going to get you! I'm going to get you!' And she runs and hides behind the chesterfield."

"He taught her to play paddy-cake, too. And to dance. It's such a funny little jig."

She leaned over and turned on the radio. "Baby You're Heading," sang Roy Rogers, "For Dangerous Ground."

A Jitter-Bug Next
Margaret Ann stood stock still for a moment. Then she clapped her hands and jiggled her fat, little body to the music. She quivered like jelly.

"She likes cowboy music best," her mother explained. "But Tom is training her to boogie-woogie, too."

Margaret hummed toothlessly, but the funny hum-hum followed the tune. She stopped abruptly and came over and started to chew my box of matches.

"I think she's getting another tooth," her mother said. "She's got six now. She was so good about it, we didn't even know they were there until she yawned one day."

"Bow wow!" she said suddenly. Margaret Ann grinned at her, showing all six teeth. But she didn't whistle.

"She can say Mamma," her mother told me. "And Dadda. And Tom. And of course she can tell us off for fair in her own language."

"Mm-mim," remarked Margaret Ann.

"That means she wants a biscuit," her mother elucidated. She went and got a cracker. Margaret Ann leaned against her and munched.

"She really is pretty tired," said her mother, ruffling the soft hair as I rose to leave. "Maybe she'll whistle for you another day."

"Bye-bye," I called from the doorway, waving my hand.

"Bye-bye," said Margaret Ann quite clearly, dropping her biscuit so that she could flap her fat little hand. "Bye-bye."

A pomeranian on the doorstep suddenly gave tongue.

"Woo-woo," whistled Margaret Ann. "Woo-woo."

It was as good as Whistler and His Dog, any day.

GREENWOOD

Our vicinity was rather deserted last Saturday afternoon as most everyone took in the Markham fair.

Mr. Ken Webb entertained relatives over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Byers and Marjorie visited with Mr. and Mrs. W. Medland of Brooklyn last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Beelby spent last Sunday with John and Mrs. Middleton.

The frost has put an end to the tomato picking, the corn is about finished for the canning factory, but there are a number of silos still to be filled.

Don Linton is busy erecting a silo these days, and Norman Wilson is putting his up again after being blown over sometime ago with a storm.

Mr. Fred Brown and Miss Betty Piatti visited last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. Pegg.

Mrs. P. Wilson and Leslie spent last Sunday with Mrs. A. Rogers of Brooklyn.

A number expects to attend the W.A. of Oshawa Presbytery to be held at Whitby this Thursday, Oct. 9th commencing at 10.30 a.m.

GREEN RIVER

Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Nighswander and daughter of U.S.A. and Mrs. A. Ellis of Orangeville are spending a vacation with their brother John Nighswander.

Mrs. W. Gray sr., Ida and Henry had dinner on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. N. Stevenson, Scarboro Junction.

Mrs. R. Dafeo entertained a few friends on Wednesday last.

These grand old homes become very useful for S.S. We were grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Malcolm on Sunday last. Next Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Carter will welcome all who can attend.

GEO. CALDWELL DIES

AT THE AGE OF 84
BLACKSMITH AT UNIONVILLE

One of Richmond Hill's best known residents passed away last week when George Caldwell died at his home there. He was a tradesman of the old school, a blacksmith in the days when forge and anvil were known alike in urban and rural districts, and when the "smithy" ranked as clergyman or lawyer in the roll of councillor and friend to everyone in the community.

Mr. Caldwell was born in Madoc and learned the blacksmith trade in Unionville sixty years ago. He took up residence in Markham and later lived at Headford for a time. Thirty-eight years ago he came to Richmond Hill where he was employed as blacksmith at the Trench Carriage plant and later at the Innis Sash and Door factory. He retired some years ago.

The late Mr. Caldwell was in fairly good health until recently.

ASK INCREASED
TAX EXEMPTION

Ottawa, Oct. 3—Action of the Quebec Roman Catholic Assembly is asking increased income tax exemptions started officials of the Finance Department yesterday and drew brief but non-committal comment from Acting Finance Minister St. Laurent.

Mr. St. Laurent confined his comment to this statement:

"The government continuously has under review the matter of exemptions so that income tax may be as fair as possible to all people under existing circumstances."

Finance and Revenue Department officials said no word on the matter had been received from the assembly and one spokesman suggested that if any recommendation were received it probably would go direct to Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

(The church statement recommended increase from $750 to $1,500 in income tax exemptions granted single persons and from $1,500 to $3,000 in exemptions for heads of families.)

ELLIOTT McCLURE DIES

LOADING CATTLE FOR FAIR
Manager of the O.A. Thompson Jersey cattle farm, Markham township, and for several years manager of Creed's Guernsey farm at Woodbridge, Elliott McClure died at Kingsvale Farms, King township while assisting to load cattle for the Markham fair on Friday.

As a token of respect to Mr. McClure, rules of the Guernsey Association which stipulate that cattle must be exhibited at the regional fair before being entered in the championship fair at Simcoe have been waived.

Kingsvale Farms has been invited to exhibit at the championship fair at Simcoe despite the fact the herd was not entered at Markham Regional Fair. Mr. McClure was a member of Woodbridge Presbyterian Church, the Orange Order and Black Knights.

Surviving are his widow, the former Marjorie Brunger two daughters, Mrs. Russell Watson and Margaret, and a son, David.

TO THE RATEPAYERS OF UXBRIDGE TOWNSHIP

You are now receiving through mails notices of assessment for 1948 made under the new County Assessment Plan, and in many instances the figures are quite different from those of previous assessments. The valuations for buildings have been finally checked by the County Assessor, and the valuations for lands by myself, all valuations being based on standards of value which have been set up for the whole County of Ontario.

In valuing farm lands many factors, such as kind of soil, accessibility to good roads, suitability for power farming, distance from schools, churches, shopping centres, etc., have been considered in arriving at a valuation.

Business assessments are fixed by statute, and their relation to property assessments cannot be changed.

However we are only human, and liable to error, and if you feel that your property has been over or under valued in comparison with other lands it is your privilege to appeal against your assessment, and in such case your property will be re-examined and every effort will be made to establish an equitable valuation thereof.

Sincerely yours,
John Ashenhurst,
Assessor, Uxbridge Township.

ELECTRICITY

Maintains Employment...
Keeps Pay Envelopes Full

PLEASE DON'T WASTE IT!

Electric power is vital to Industry, and Ontario is experiencing an era of high production, unparalleled in its history. Contrary to expectations, the demand for electric power did not drop sharply following the war. More electric power is actually being used today for production of peacetime goods than was required at any time to forge weapons for Victory. This demand is constantly increasing and, during the next six months, Hydro facilities will be strained to the utmost.

New Hydro developments, planned to keep pace with Ontario's growth, were halted during the war years. They have since been hampered by shortages of men, materials and equipment. However many new stations to deliver electric power are being rushed to completion. Some are already in operation. But the need for saving electric power in your own home, during the Fall and Winter months, is urgent if the needs of Industry and Agriculture are to be fully served and employment maintained at peak levels:

Won't you please play your part? Remember—even a little bit of electricity, conserved by hundreds of thousands, helps a lot. It's your Hydro: Use it wisely so that Hydro facilities can more adequately meet the demands of all consumers:

Save
ELECTRICITY

Turn off all unnecessary lights. Don't forget about burning lights in empty rooms, halls, basement, attic, porch and garage. Eliminate all colored bulbs.

Keep lamps, reflectors and shades clean. Dusty fixtures waste as much as 25% of your light. When kettle boils, turn off switch. Stored heat will bring it to a full boil. Keep kettle free from lime.

When cooking, use "High" heat for as little time as possible. Then turn to "Low" and use stored heat. Use oven for cooking complete meals, rather than the cooking surface. Only one element is required for the oven process while three or four elements are needed for the cooking surface.

Use the correct size of cooking utensil on the proper size element. When cooking vegetables, use a minimum amount of water.

Defrost refrigerator, regularly, when 1/2 inch of frost has accumulated on the evaporator.

Where water is electrically heated, please use it sparingly. A drop a second from a leaking hot water tap can waste as much as 175 gallons a month.

Fill washing machine to water line only and keep lid on tub when washing. Do not overload. Wherever possible, use the wringer at same time as clothes are being washed in the tub.

Please do not use portable electric heaters as they place a heavy strain on your Hydro System.

Your toaster, vacuum cleaner, electric iron or other electrical appliances should not be used any longer than required.
