WHITCHURCH AND MARKHAM PHEASANTS TRAVEL SOUTH?

Within 10 minutes of downtown Toronto, there are hundreds of wild pheasants in the Ashbridge Bay area this winter—but you can't molest them. The Department of Lands and Forests points out the birds are protected by a closed season and in addition, there is a civic bylaw against discharge of firearms inside the city limits. Thousands of ducks also winter at Sunnyside and Toronto Island, but the same regulations apply there. Hundreds of citizens feed the ducks all winter.

MARMALADE

Hello Homemakers! People are talking more about marmalade this winter. Homemade preserves are always the favourite sweet of the "toast and jam crowd." You can make marmalade with pride if you use some care.

Since it will not be long before the favourite Seville oranges are in the fruit stores, here are recommendations for a clear, sparkling marmalade with evenly distributed fruit.

Wash and wipe the citrus fruit. Use a good sharpe knife and cut even sized thin slices.

Use measuring cup or scales for quantities in recipe.

Do not double any marmalade recipe more than once.

Let fruit and water stand over night.

Give your undivided attention to mixtures while cooking.

Cook until the jelly test is obtained—that is, until the syrup forms a sheet-like substance as the last few drops fall from the side of the stirring spoon.

Add a thin layer of melted paraffin to filled jars and allow containers and marmalade to cool—then pour on more wax.

Amber Marmalade
1 grapefruit, 1 orange, 1 lemon, 7 pints cold water, 5 lbs. sugar.

Wash and wipe fruit and cut in paper-thin slices, using a very sharp knife. Add water and let stand overnight. Add sugar and cook until the syrup thickens slightly on a cold dish (218 degrees F.). Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal.

Carrot and Orange Marmalade
6 carrots, 3 oranges, 1 lemon, sugar.

Dice the carrots and cook them until they are tender, in as little water as possible. Slice the oranges in thin pieces and add the juice and grated rind of the lemon. Measure the carrot and fruit, and add two-thirds as much sugar. Simmer the mixture until it is clear. Turn it into jelly glasses, and when it is cold, cover it with hot paraffin.

Apple Butter

Wash 10 sour apples, and cut them in eighths. Cook them in a small amount of water until they are tender. Put them through a sieve. To each cup of pulp add four tablespoons of sugar and 1 tablespoon of lemon juice and cook the mixture until it is thick. (Grated lemon rind may be added). Pour into hot, clean glasses and seal.
