The Editor's Mail
Midland, Feb. 9, 1948

Dear Editor,
One of the first items I noticed in the last week's issue was a reference to the second paper published in Stouffville some 50 years ago. Strange as it may seem, I had intended mentioning that paper, wondered how many of your present day readers could remember it. It was a very good paper, but the publishers made the mistake of thinking Stouffville could support two papers; the same mistake the farmer made when he had two windmills erected on his back flats. He soon found out he had to take one down. There wasn't wind enough to run them both.
Your Tribune advs do get results where you least expect. Let me explain. A Midland farmer was saying he was in the market to buy a couple of good Holsteins, but did not know where to get them. I said, "perhaps I can help," so I handed him the sales register of The Tribune. He found what he wanted and the day of that sale. The Midland farmer and his truck went down in Pickering. That night he was back home with two of the best animals he could purchase, and well pleased with his trip. Yes, The Tribune advs do get results.
May prosperity be with you throughout the present year.
Ralph Brown
