NEWS and VIEWS

The Hill Midgets meet Stouffville in Memorial Park here next Monday night. These two clubs played to a 7-all tie in their last meeting, which was May 24th.

Stouffville High School softball team absorbed a 20-15 drubbing at the hands of Markham last week. The home team was leading at one point, but faltered near the end of the game, and Markham pushed on to win. At the same time, the Stouffville girls' team downed the Markham girls, 8-6.

Stouffville Midgets took an 8-1 shellacking from Newmarket on Monday night. The visitors rattled out a triple with two on, and a double with three on, for five runs, and were never headed after that. Don Davis and Lorne Boardway handled the Stouffville pitching. Bud Lehman rated a star for his work at second base, despite his team's defeat. Richmond Hill will provide the opposition here Monday night next in the local park.

"Bruce Lehman's Relief Work Features Tobaccocorn's First Victory; Take Aylmer 12-8," that's the heading on the sports page of last week's Delhi News-Record. Friends will be pleased to learn that Bruce, who along with brother Lou used to toss up some fine baseball for Stouffville some years back, is into the game again, and according to a note from Bruce, "just for the fun of it."

The item in the Delhi weekly says in part: "Aided by the masterful relieving hurling of the veteran Bruce Lehman, Delhi entered the win column over Aylmer RCAF. Intermediates 12-8. Lehman, who had not pitched a game for two years, was rushed in by Manager Skoog in the sixth innings. The veteran allowed two hits and a sacrifice in this frame, and from this point on, blanked the homesters, giving up only two hits. He also struck out five."

CEDAR GROVE GARDEN PARTY Sat. Night, July 3rd

NINE OF THESE PLAYERS ARE BACK IN LINEUP

Considerable Change in Lineup as Intermediates Down Aurora 9-7

There was a marked change in the line-up Manager Ken Laushway of the Stouffville Intermediate ball club, presented in their opening meeting with Aurora on Wednesday night. The home club defeated the visitors 9-7.

The revised line-up presented for the first time, Ewart Bagg on the mound with Ken Schell taking the pitches; Polly Minton was at first, Jewett at second, Rouse on short-stop and Hocus Miller on third; in the outfield were, Murray Holden, Wally Nicholson and Nick Procenko. Lew Raxlin, Roy Ward and Don Campbell were also ejected into the outfield line-up before the end of the game. The team hit consistently, collecting thirteen safeties off the two Aurora twirlers, Brown and Simmons.

Ken Schell, local catcher, wielded the heaviest bat, cracking out a double and two singles in three trips to the plate.

Stouffville missed a double play by an eyelash in the first innings, when Minton took a man out at first, and threw wild in attempting to catch Stunden who streaked from third on McFale's grounder down the first base line. Bagg held the Yongestreeters well in check until the third, striking out four. However, after two were out in the third innings, Aurora broke into a scoring rash, and wound up with five runs in this frame. Wes. Wright relieved Bagg on the mound, but failed to stop the rally, as Bovair sent the first ball pitched into deep centre for a triple, clearing the bases. At this point, Orv. Rouse was waved in to pitch, and turned in a masterful performance in his relieve roll. Rouse struck out five in the next three innings.

Stouffville still led 8-6 after the damaging third innings, and each added one more run in the fourth to complete the scoring 9-7.

Stouffville's First Game in Newmarket Ends in Argument

Stouffville and Newmarket are at it again, but this time, it's the Midget baseball crew who are running amuck. After slogging out a 10-2 lead in four innings on a rain-soaked field, the locals will have to replay the game this Wednesday, as four and a half innings must be played to constitute a completed game.

When it became apparent that darkness was closing in on the game, both teams resorted to delaying tactics, Newmarket to prolong the contest since they were away behind, and Stouffville to finish it off in a hurry.

Stouffville Midgets are a hustling bunch of young ball chasers, who will be hard to stop in this season's circuit. They've chalked up two wins, a tie, 1 loss, in 3 games, and should get better as the schedule goes on. Don Davis as their number one hurler is shaping up nicely, and several relief moundsmen are expected to improve.

REJECTS CLAIM OVER FRACTURE OF FAN'S NOSE

Mr. Justice LeBel dismissed the action brought by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Payne in non-jury Assize Court against Maple Leaf Gardens and two hockey players.

Plaintiffs claimed damages for injuries received by Mrs. Payne when struck with a hockey stick, Oct. 26, 1946. Her nose was broken. The two players were John Mariucci, Chicago Black Hawks, and Gaye Stewart, then of Toronto Maple Leafs, later playing for the Black Hawks.

The accident occurred when both players dropped their sticks and were struggling over a stick which one of them had picked up.

"Spectators must appreciate that there is some risk involved and the risk increases as one gets closer to the contest. A stick might get over the boards in a number of ways in the course of a game," said Mr. Justice LeBel.

"The woman plaintiff who received injury was well versed as a spectator. She had been at 75 per cent of the games during the 1945-1946 season and at the three games which had been played in the 1946-1947 season."

At the request of plaintiff's counsel, Mr. Justice LeBel made an assessment of Mrs. Payne's damages, setting the figure at $1,250 for her and $252, actual out-of-pocket expenses, for her husband. This was done in case there might be an appeal.

BELLS AND BUSY DOGS HELP TO SAVE SHEEP AND STEPS

(By Alex Gray, Claremont R.R.2)

A few years ago almost every farm down our line had 15 to 20 sheep. Today only two out of ten flocks remain and these are small. I would judge that dogs and high cost of fencing have had much to do with the disappearance of these flocks. According to reports, the sheep population is down in every country in the world. Being a much needed animal for both meat and wool, we think now is a good time to invest in a few good breeding ewes as we have found them a paying investment over the past 40 years, considering housing, labor and feed.

One Fall I loaned a ram lamb to a neighbor who had eight ewes; he had the use of the ram and his wool and agreed to return him the next spring at dipping time. He brought him back, a fine big yearling in good condition. His eight ewes had 15 lambs in May and raised them all. He also said he had not given them one pound of feed as it had been an open winter and they ran in an orchard where there had been a good crop of long grass; they had an old shed for shelter.

There are others who have a few acres of waste land that could be put to use in this way. A large flock kept on the same pasture too long will have to be treated for parasites. We use bluestone and mustard with fair results, as well as moving the flocks to fresh pasture. We can drench from 75 to 100 per hour, but Phenothiazine tablets are recommended to be better.

Keep Dogs Busy

It also pays to dip; we put the flock through the tank three weeks after shearing as it takes less dip and it reaches the skin. We have had our flock stay clean for two or three years or until a new ram was brought in.

Now as to the dog menace, we breed Border Collies, train them for both sheep and cattle and they do all the running. However, there are many useless dogs that have nothing to do. I would say to dog owners, give them work, make them do the running and see that they are safely tied at night and when going away. If this was done it would save many flocks and avoid hard feelings amongst neighbors. If a dog once gets the habit of chasing sheep he can't be cured; there is nothing to do but destroy him.

Put Bells on Sheep

I would also say to sheep owners, get some bells and put one on about every fifteen sheep. The ordinary dog doesn't like noise and often leaves the job. The bells can be bought from the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers. A few years ago a pair of very bad dogs got going in our neighbourhood and worried every flock within five or ten miles of our own, costing the township many hundreds of dollars. Our flock had bells on and were left till the last, but considering the number they had to work on — about 200 — little damage was done; they got a few odd ewes that spread out from the flock. I rushed out with the gun but no dogs were to be seen, they had been scared by the bells. I sat in the middle of the flock for two hours but they never came back.

The following morning a neighbor found them worrying his geese and he got them right in the creek with the geese. It was quite a relief to know they had been caught.

Another time, a neighbor told me he heard dogs barking and bells ringing in our pasture where we had 16 rams. The rams had been running but no damage was done and no dogs to be seen. And so I believe the bells again saved the
