

Whitchurch S.S. Con. Resolutions

Resolutions passed at the recent Sunday School Convention for Whitchurch Township are indicated in the following paragraphs:

That in view of the discussion re-teacher visiting their scholars: "That this convention recommend that all our Sunday School teachers make a special effort this coming year to visit everyone of their scholars in their homes if possible."

That realizing the need for early decisions for Christ and the Christian way of life: "This convention urges all teachers, workers, and parents to endeavour to secure as many commitments to Christ during this next year as can be made intelligently and sincerely by the boys and girls of our Sunday Schools."

During the past few years, we have noticed the Lord's day has been desecrated by people engaging in various building projects, sporting activities, etc. This practice has resulted in our day of rest being disturbed, and our children and young people being taught irreverence for God's day of rest.

In view of the above alarming inroads made in this direction, which we feel works against the best interests of our people and community:

"We, the Sunday School Association of Whitchurch Township assembled at this rally, May 26, 1948, in Baker Hill Baptist Church, do strongly urge all our ministers, S.S. teachers, and parents to stress the importance of keeping the Lord's Day as God intended. A day of rest and worship to be reverently and strictly observed."

Re Temperance:

(1) That we continue our protest of the undemocratic way in which further outlets for sale of liquor in cocktail bars has been forced upon certain cities without the people being given an opportunity to express their wills in this matter.

(2) That this convention agree with Premier Drew that the recent legislation is working for Temperance when the over all increase of sale and consumption goes steadily on from week to week reaching an all time high for liquor sales in this province.

(3) That as a convention of S.S. teachers and workers among the youth of our township, we reaffirm our conviction that total abstinence from the use of alcohol as a beverage is the Christian duty today, and we urge our teachers to voluntarily and gladly abstain therefrom. We also urge upon all the urgent necessity of using every opportunity to teach our boys and girls the evils of intemperance, and the wisdom of neither touching or handling such a menace to both the individual and society as a whole.

We the members of this Sunday School Association do here express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to the pastor and officials of this church for their kindness and hospitality today. To the speakers and leaders of each session, and to those who have inspired us and helped in the message of song. And last but not least to the ladies who through their provision for our physical needs have made this a memorable day.

MAY MARKET FIVE MILLION HOGS

Officials of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, say that the total hog run may reach five million in 1948. It reached 47 hundred thousand in 1947 and was only 44 hundred thousand in 1946. The peak year, 1944, saw 88 hundred thousand hogs marketed in Canada, but the average in the immediate pre-war years was only about 36 hundred thousand.

Chapman Jerseys Set Records

Several Jersey cows have recently completed records in Ontario County. In the herd of Woodlands Investments Limited, Oshawa, Ontario, Pickering Priceless Marlon 162593 has completed a junior two-year-old record in 304 days of 7,008 lbs. milk, 427 lbs. fat with an average test of 6.09%. Marlon was bred by Frank M. Chapman of Pickering, Ontario.

In the herd of George T. Todd, Pickering, Ontario, Toddview Betsy Lou 149027 has completed a senior three-year-old record in 281 days of 7,451 lbs. milk, 411 lbs. fat with an average test of 5.52%.

Several cows have completed records in the herd of Frank M. Chapman, Pickering, Ontario, including Pickering Standard Starbright 162348 that, as a young junior two-year-old in 305 days, produced 6,487 lbs. milk, 344 lbs. fat with an average test of 5.30%.

The three best flap-jacks made at the Canadian National Exhibition this year will be worth fifty dollars. The best quilt will win one hundred dollars, the best house dress another hundred dollars, the best birthday cake fifty dollars and the same for the best-ironed shirt.

"Some smart housewife could step in this year and walk off with one thousand dollars in Exhibition prizes," said Women's Director Kate Aitken when releasing the 1948 Women's prize list. "And all housewives are smart today. They have to be to get along at present prices."

DALTON RETURNS

The return of Hugh Dalton, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, to the British cabinet as Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster after an eclipse of six months has been announced from London. He succeeds Lord Pakenham, who replaces Lord Nathan as Minister of Civil Aviation on the latter's resignation.

SELDOM SEEN

It takes courage to do what you really want to, and so few of us have that courage. For instance, one of those highly successful cousins of mine from the city flew in here last night. He was motoring to some point up north to spend the weekend with his family at their cottage and then return for the winter. It was Bill who gave me that idea for saying that a lot of us lack courage.

Bill is one of my favorite cousins. He's growing to be short and stout in a pompous way with hair that's thinning to a scarcity. He's always dressed in the best of fashion and driving a new car. He smokes good cigars and looks the part of a well fed and prosperous banker.

Bill came in just before supper time and it was a foregone conclusion that he would stay to supper and for the night if it was at all possible. He ate heartily in the satisfied manner of a man who enjoys good food. We had just churmed yesterday afternoon and he drank three glasses of fresh buttermilk.

"That's the first buttermilk I've tasted since I left home," he said in a sort of recollecting way, "and it's better than all the fancy drinks I've ever had since."

He gave me one of those fancy cigars and we sat on the veranda talking while the night crept in around us. I suppose our thoughts were directly opposite because when I said, "It certainly must be nice to be able to have cigars like these every day," he just laughed and said "I was wishing that I could sit down and enjoy a smoke from one of those corn cobs you have on the window sill there."

So while he puffed on the cob, I enjoyed the corona. It was warm and pleasant and quiet in that peaceful way of a late summer evening in the country. You could just sense the easy way in which Bill relaxed in that old rocker.

"Josh," he said after a while, "I'd give anything to be able to trade places with you."

Coming from a man with an income in the thousands to a man who has never had a whole thousand dollars at one time it was rather surprising and I expressed it.

"I never did want to be a banker, Josh," he said in a way that was almost pathetic, "but father wanted one of his sons to be something other than a farmer and I was the one boosted along the way. Today I have more money than I know what to do with, but what good is it doing me. All I can think about is how to make more and get more property. The only people I know are the ones like myself who think about the same things.... and they all start with money."

Bill was quiet for a while and went on; "My wife is constantly trying to find something to amuse herself. We go off to stale parties made up of stale people like ourselves. My son has never worked in his life and doesn't seem in the least way inclined to start. He spends more in a year than I had in all my life until I was twenty-one. The only young men that seem to go out with my daughter are fellows who seem to have an eye on my bankroll. Josh, to give everyone their dues, we're the hicks and people like you folks in the country are the smart ones. Just think of living here where you can be happy and contented and there's not a continual fear of losing your money. You don't have bright lights and noise.... but you have calm and plenty of it and a chance to go to bed at night and be weary in a way that brings on sleep. Josh, if I had enough courage I'd chuck the whole thing and get a little place in the country."

HANDS AT WORK... for ONTARIO

LEARNING MACHINE ASSEMBLY

MACHINE ASSEMBLY

John N. West, 25, of Toronto, a Royal Canadian Navy veteran, is shown here making an adjustment to one of the 10,000 parts in a business machine designed for a New Zealand firm.

Various types of business machines are produced in Ontario factories. Because of their intricate mechanisms it is essential that these machines be checked by expert craftsmen at every stage of their production.

ONTARIO'S products are desired and purchased by people all over the world and the capacity to produce such goods largely determines the economic welfare of every man, woman and child within her borders. Because the sale of every article produced in Ontario brings valuable dollars into this Province, we all are more assured of job security... and we and our children can have more of the better things in life. But to produce such goods in sufficient quantities, skilled labour is vital. That is why every single one of us should be glad that war veterans are constantly being trained to provide the skilled hands so needed by industry. They receive ON THE JOB training under expert instructors in our Ontario factories.

This training, provided through the co-operation of the Department of Veterans' Affairs, the Federal Department of Labour and the Ontario Department of Education, starts the veteran on the road to skilled craftsmanship. In assembling business machines, for example, veterans must have a thorough knowledge of electricity and must learn to perform intricate work on precision machines having thousands of separate parts. These Canadian-made business machines are sold in all parts of the world, creating new wealth for Canada and Ontario. Therefore every effort of these newly skilled veterans helps to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and contributes to the welfare and happiness of all her citizens.
