Persons who send in local news items or telephone us news are certainly appreciated by this paper. Too often some interesting or bright news is missed because the reporter does not know about it. Everybody giving a little help certainly increases the general interest in the home paper.

Persons whose subscriptions are about to expire should get their remarks in to The Tribune promptly. Otherwise the paper will be discontinued. To wait until this occurs and then to be replaced on the mailing list entails a lot of work. Get in promptly and help us to retain the old rate of $2 per year.

WEDDINGS

COOPER-WATSON VOWS HEARD AT UXBRIDGE WILL LIVE IN TORONTO

Trinity United Church, Uxbridge, was decorated with stalks, gladioli and candelabra on Saturday, Aug. 7, 1948, for the double-ring marriage of Margaret Christina Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Watson, and Aylmer Haynes Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Cooper, Goodwood. Mrs. W. E. Remion, organist, Fred Oliver, pianist, and Emil First, violinist, played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a two-piece gown of heavy white satin, fashioned with high neckline, long sleeves and fitted bodice. The peplum and the full skirt fell into a long double train. Her headdress was a mantilla of French Chantilly lace. She carried a crescent bouquet of white gardenias and caladium leaves. Off-the-shoulder gowns of blue satin were worn by Mrs. R. L. Painter, matron of honor, Mrs. B. V. Marshall, Margaret McElheran and Mary Watson, bridesmaids. Each carried a crescent bouquet of cerise gladioli petals, white dahlias and fuchsia and white foliage with a headdress of matching flowers cascading over one side. Delbert Cooper was groomsmen. Ushers were Frederick Travell, Elwood Foskett, Roy Painter and Harvey Peasby.

In her home, Mrs. Watson received in smoke blue silk crepe with corsage of bouvardia and pink roses. Mrs. Cooper chose dove gray crepe with corsage of blue carnations, roses and amethyst gladioli petals.

To travel through the eastern U.S., the bride donned a gray ensemble with gold accents. She carried brown mink and an alligator bag. On their return, they will reside in Toronto.

Owing to mechanical trouble in the clock governing the coming on of street lights, Stouffville found itself in darkness on Monday evening until a very late hour. However, only street lights were affected, and it showed how dependent we are on them when out after dark. Fifty years ago or more a few oil lamps on four or five prominent corners looked very good to the residents of that day.

Do Your Part

Persons who neglect to cut the weeds on their properties in town, are being checked by the Weed Inspector, and warned to do so immediately, otherwise the work will be done and made a charge against the lands. Those property owners who see to it that their boulevards are kept nicely cut, perform a great service. Fortunately most owners do this otherwise we would have a very untidy and unsightly community to live in. Everybody appreciates the efforts of property owners on Main street and all other streets in keeping their frontage in attractive shape.
