Gordon Sinclair boasted an Easter lily in bloom the other day in his news broadcast, but Mrs. John Spenceley can go even one better. This Claremont lady has a lily which she planted last spring, and which now has two stalks, thirty inches high, with six beautiful flowers, measuring 8 in. long and 7 in. across, pure white.

Sarco plant is making headway with the addition to their Claremont plant, and have begun cutting into the east wall of their fine brick building to join up the addition. The added space will make room for increased production and increased employment.

County trucks were busy on Monday hauling fill to the C.P.R. grade crossing on the 9th concession just west of Claremont. This approach was greatly improved last year, having the abrupt incline at the tracks removed, and the road is being further widened at this time.

Work started this week on the new Pickering Township bridge being erected on the sideroad running north from No. 7 highway by the Don White farm. Clerk Lloyd Johnston also informs us that the municipality expects to take delivery on their new Adams maintainer inside of the next three weeks.

Operations were halted for a time at the Claremont Canning Co. plant on Monday morning, when the machine which places the tops on cans, went out of commission. A steady flow of tomatoes is being received at both the Lloyst plant and the Claremont Canning Co.

The telephone service between Stouffville and Claremont is still a bitter disappointment to most people, despite the repeated promises of improvements. The number of lines available are most inadequate to the number of calls, and at times it requires practically half a day to reach either place by telephone.

Pays First Goat Claim In Pickering History

Claimant Gets Allowed for Lost Milk

History was being written into the records of the township of Pickering when at the last meeting of the Township Council, a claim was honored for the loss of a goat. Sheep claims aplenty have been paid under the Act, but so far as one can learn this is the first time dogs have been guilty of killing a goat, thus bringing a claim before council.

Of course the amount of the claim wasn't large and the reeve and council refused to let the matter get their "goat" by arguing the right or wrong of such a claim. In fact to show their reasonableness in the matter, the legislators allowed the claimant $10 for loss of the goat's milk. We understand that is the final payment, for even though the milk is still lost, the matter ended with the claim paid at the September meeting.

Death of Prominent Englishman Recalls Pioneer Families In Brougham

(by Mrs. T. C. Brown)

While Canada mourns and honours an illustrious son and the Old Land mourns a noble statesman, Viscount Greenwood, in the little village of Brougham in Pickering Township the people love to recall him as a happy school boy who spent many holidays on his grandfather's farm one mile west of the village, and who joined in village activities, and was very popular. His grandfather was third in line from the first Thomas Hubbard who settled here in the latter years of the 18th century. His grandfather, Thomas Hubbard, was in comfortable circumstances and devoted much time to public affairs, and was a member of township council. He was a magistrate and general adviser to the community where his good judgment was appreciated. His wife, Harriet Churchill Hubbard, represented another worth while pioneer family. The Viscount's mother was born and grew up in a home here where the highest ideals of life were maintained and a good start in life is to be well born. One special incident of over 60 years ago is recalled when the late Viscount was about 18. He was scheduled to recite in the township hall which was packed with an expectant audience. He had appeared on the platform and made his bow, when he was seized with a fit of laughter, and made futile efforts apparently to gain control of himself. But the audience was now laughing uncontrollably. He was a scene beyond description, but with a bow he made a dignified withdrawal. His parents passed away in 1902 and were not spared to share the honours of their illustrious son. There are still relatives here of the Hubbard connection who will keep him in loving remembrance and watched with interest his wonderful career.

Cattle Die in Bobcaygeon Area

An interesting disclosure which has been made as a result of investigation into the unexplained deaths of several head of cattle in the Bobcaygeon area is that they all died on calm days. It is the opinion of one authority that if the wind had been blowing steadily no cattle would have died because it would have dispersed poisonous algae, a poisonous seaweed.

Another fact which has come to light is that no cattle have died inland, all deaths have occurred near the lakes' edge—Pigeon and Sturgeon.

Dr. B. E. Kelly, Medical officer of Health for Bobcaygeon, has ordered that signs be posted warning that the lake waters are deemed unsafe for swimming. He said Thursday that while he didn't think any human being would ever get enough of the water in their systems while swimming to do them any harm the move was a precautionary one. He pointed out that cattle are no respecters of water and that they drink whatever is available and consume large quantities of it.

It is not known if the waters are contaminated, but farmers have been ordered to keep their cows from grazing on the lake shore. For the first time, Buckhorn, Pigeon and some parts of Lake Chemung have become impregnated with a yellowish green substance that discolors the water so thoroughly it is impossible to see more than two feet down. Tourists who have been coming to the Kawarthas for 20 years claim it is the first time this condition has existed.

The discoloring has not affected the fishing, but it interferes with the washing of clothing in the lakes, because the green scum gets on the clothes.
