Harvesting has become a rapid operation around here. The combine enters the field after one o'clock, cuts, threshes the wheat, and pours it into the bag, and it is either at the elevator or in the barn bin by supper time. The next morning the straw baler comes along after the rake has piled it into rows, and the field is completely clear by noon. Judging by the looks of the uncut field of wheat it turned out a bumper crop on the farm of Edgar Ward. Is the western plan of farming spreading to old Ontario?

Well-known Entertainer Narrowly Misses Losing Car by Fire

(Brougham Correspondent)

Al Harvey of Brougham, well-known entertainer and radio personality, came within an ace of losing his car by fire on Saturday evening.

The Harvey car was parked in front of the family residence at Brougham, when a passing motorist noticed smoke inside the vehicle. He summoned Mrs. Harvey who was nearby, and the blaze among some papers on the rear seat was extinguished.

It seems that Mr. Harvey had just returned with the car a short time previous, and recalled flicking the ashes from a cigarette. The assumption is that some of these ashes blew in the rear window and caught on some papers there.

The fortunate thing was that Mr. Harvey didn't drive his car into the garage and close the doors, as was his usual custom. Had he done so, and the flames eaten any closer to the gas tank, a conflagration of considerable proportions, might have resulted. As it was, damage amounted to a large hole in the back seat upholstering.

WEDDINGS

INGLIS — PROUSE

Gladys Alberta Prouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Prouse of Claremont was married to Mr. John Inglis of Georgetown in Claremont United Church, Saturday afternoon, July 23rd at 3 o'clock. Miss Muriel Mason of Port Hope, a cousin of the bride, sang and she was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Will Evans. The best man was the groom's cousin, Gordon Inglis of Georgetown, and the reception was held on the lawn of the bride's home. Ushers were Mr. Russel Prouse of Brampton and Mr. Kenneth Horton of Georgetown.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin with lace yoke and floor-length veil. She carried red roses. The bridesmaid wore blue floral net over taffeta and carried pink roses and the flowergirl wore green taffeta with a nosegay of sweet peas.

For travelling the bride wore yellow jersey dress with black accessories. After a trip to Montreal and Niagara Falls the couple will reside in Georgetown.

Mrs. John Garland, in blue, was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. D'Arcy Kennedy, in blue, and Mrs. Michael Smith, in pink, all sisters of the bride. They were gowned alike in net over taffeta with matching halos and veils and cascades of pink carnations. Barbara Joan Featherstone and Mary Ellen Kennedy, neices of the bride, were flower girls, and little John Garland was ring bearer. John Garland was groomsman for his brother and James Featherstone, Jack Featherstone and Bill Featherstone, all brothers of the bride, ushered. Five Year Program To Be Carried Out On Brooklin Farm

Plans to take care of a crowd of some 10,000 people at the Soil Conservation and Farm Improvement Field Day to be held on the farm of Heber Down, Brooklin, on September 8, is gathering momentum. Top-ranking agricultural experts of Ontario, including Col. the Hon. Thomas L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, will be present, and it is expected that the official opening ceremony will be conducted by Hon. Leslie M. Frost, Premier of the province of Ontario. The tentative program of the day's activities, in which a five year program of soil conservation and farm improvement practices will be inaugurated, was arranged, and this event, the first of its kind to be held in Canada, is expected to draw interested farmers and technical agriculturists from all parts of Ontario, as well as from neighbouring states and the province of Quebec.

Wide Rrange of Projects

Canada's first soil conservation and farm improvement day will find the soils, agricultural engineering and horticulture departments of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, co-operating in carrying out a complete "face-lifting" job on the Heber Down farm. Plans have already been made for a wide range of projects to change completely the method of operating the farm. Among the most formidable projects are the entire elimination of a thickly-grown fence row, the construction of a water diversion terrace, the institution of a contour cultivation and strip cropping procedure, ditching and laying of tile drains, a pasture improvement project, and a buckthorn eradication demonstration. The Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture will carry out the last named two projects, while the Department of Lands and Forests will conduct a reforestation project and woodlot improvement demonstration project on part of the farm. As fast as the contour strips are plowed, seeding of fall wheat will be done.

The outstanding feature of the day is that the work which will be undertaken and carried through to completion will constitute what would normally be a five-year program of soil conservation and farm improvement.

To Modernize Farmhouse

In addition to the work in the fields on the Down farm, the barn will be renovated and painted, part of the farmhouse will be completely remodelled and modernized, and the surrounding of the farm and farmhouse landscaped by outstanding horticulturists from the O.A.C. at Guelph.

At last week's meeting, Miss Kathleen Taggart of the Women's Institute Branch of the Department of Agriculture, submitted plans for remodelling and modernizing of the farm home, these plans having been prepared by the Central Housing and Mortgage Corporation, which is co-operating in the project. One of the plans submitted was accepted by the committee, and this work will be done prior to and on the day of the demonstration, so that the visitors can visualize what can be done in modernizing a typical farm home.

Speaking Program

Plans were made for the program of speaking which will be held between 12.30 and 2 p.m. at the headquarters on the farm. The regular CBC farm broadcast by Jack McPherson will be given direct from the farm. This will be followed by the formal opening ceremonies and speeches, with Howard Harper, of Goodwood, chairman of the general committee, as master of ceremonies. The speakers will include W. P. Westney, Pickering, Warden of Ontario County; Heber Down, owner of the farm; Agriculture Minister T. L. Kennedy; Premier Leslie M. Frost, H. Lynn Fair, agricultural representative; A. H. Martin, director of the Crops Branch, Toronto; F. S. Fletcher, chairman of the select legislature committee on soil conservation, and Prof. G. N. Ruhnke, director of agricultural research for Ontario.

Invitation to Women's Groups

Provision has been made for the establishment of eating tents and other conveniences on the grounds, and a ivitation was extended to Women's Institutes and women's church group to make application for the concessions for lunch tents. No charge will be made for space for eating tents or booths, and women's groups interested in providing such facilities for the huge crowd are asked to communicate with the secretary for the day, H. Lynn Fair, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Uxbridge, Ontario. A rest tent, with motion pictures to entertain the crowd, and other headquarters facilities will be made available at strategic locations on the farm. A time schedule is being drawn up for demonstrations and talks on the various projects, so that the thousands of visitors can have a clear picture of what is being done and why it is being done.

Parking space will be made available for 2,000 automobiles, as the event is arousing such province-wide interest that parties are expected from every county in old Ontario.
