NEWS and VIEWS

Each New York Yankee took home a world series bonus of $84, while each Dodger got $64. Not bad pickings for only five games.

Del Bissonnette of Winthrop, Maine, has resigned as manager of the Toronto Maple Leaf ball club, after only one season.

Shareholders and others interested in the new Arena are reminded that the general company meeting at the Arena this Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

Merv Broughton, former Newmarket Junior, last season with the 'A's, will play this winter in the Michigan-Ontario league.

Bud Watson, blond Unionville Junior, and with Stouffville Intermediate ball club for a time, has been sent over to Stratford for a trial, after failing to make the grade with Barrie Flyers.

Polly Minton will probably line up with Unionville Intermediates this winter. He along with some of the other boys have been turning out for regular practice with both the Millionaires and Clippers and they should be in fine shape when their team is formed.

Some decision is expected to be reached this week on the date of the official grand opening of the new arena. It will no doubt be early in November. Ice will be available however several weeks before the official ribbon is cut by some government dignitary.

Eric Smith, who turned in some goal-tending performances for Aurora Juniors a couple of seasons back, when they collided with Stouffville, and then again last year with Aurora Intermediates, as decided to retire.

Jack Andrews, who has been drafted here and there to Ontario and American hockey spots this fall, has finally wound up with St. Catharines Junior 'A' Club. Andrews signed the now famous 'C' form with Buffalo Bisons of the American Association, who ordered him away from Galt with the choice of either Fort Erie, Buffalo or St. Kitts.

Season tickets for the forthcoming hockey season will be on sale shortly. Over a thousand seats will be reserved, and tickets exactly similar to those used at Maple Leaf Gardens, Oshawa, Barrie and other well-known arenas are being secured. Season ticket holders for Junior and senior hockey series will purchase the entire schedule of nights with layoff privileges no doubt. Information re rates etc. will be announced in December.

It's about time the O.B.A. put its finger on the public's pulse and did something to shorten the playoff season so that teams can wind up the season when interest in baseball is still high. In holding championship games at this time of the year, teams are finding it difficult to draw the support they deserve and having a headache trying to keep their players together. So says the Kitchener Record.

Bookings for ice time at the new arena are fast reaching the saturation point, many contracting for time throughout the entire winter. The T.H.L., one of the largest contractors for ice time, will alone use up ten hours a week from December through to May. Local enthusiasts interest is not being forgotten either. Ten hours a week have been set aside by the company for the youngsters and teenagers of the town, in addition to time which will also be provided for them to play their minor hockey league games.

Because of the work going on at the new artificial ice arena only a few turned out to the Curling Club meeting on Friday evening. Walter Brillinger reports that another meeting will be called in a couple of weeks and it is hoped that the local communities will come to some agreement.

Bud Watson has hit the hockey trail this year with that same determination that has made his puck handling ability a highlight with Unionville Jr. for the past few seasons. Yes, Bud is teamed up with Stratford Junior 'A' club and made his debut on Wednesday night. The short but stalky forward was unable to play the opening game because he had not obtained his release from Unionville. He will no doubt be watched with much interest by both fans in his home town and the surrounding community.

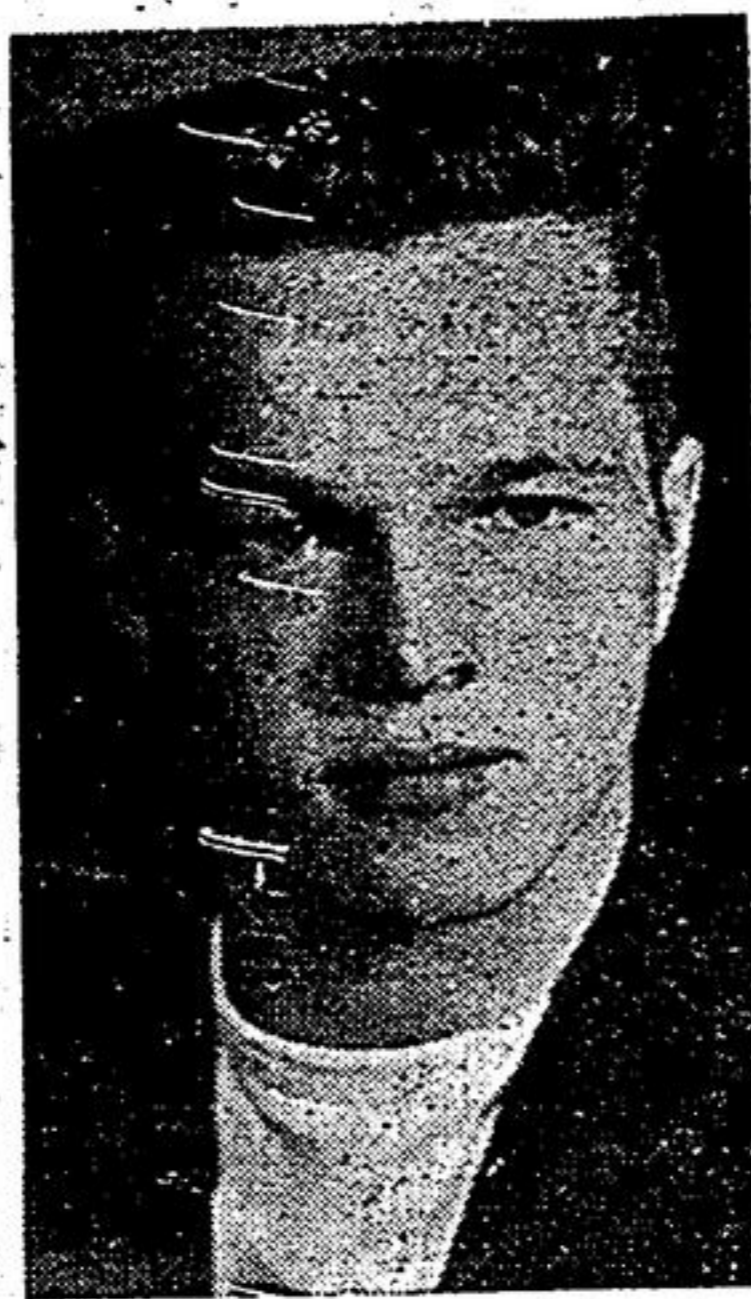

Aurora Juniors and North Toronto Lions who will make Nobleton their home ice, look like sure starters in this group with the local Junior 'B' entry managed by Cec. Hendricks.

Unionville Intermediates, like our local club, has nothing too definite to report for this week's issue but President Ernie LeMasier says in another week Coach Charlie Nesbitt should have some certain prospect in mind.

Manager O'Neill of the Clippers will have a probable line-up of our Stouffville Intermediate Club for next issue. Ross Hockberg, Flash Kelly, Jack Drummond, Austie Baker, Les Clarke, Bill Bradbury, Don Smith are probable starters. Another dozen players are expected to be picked from this week's practice by Coach Fife.

Markham Millionaires have gotten down to brass tacks and cut their team down for this year. Manager Harry Watt and Secretary John Wegg both agree that some changes in the line-up will be certain to follow as the season progresses but up to press time these are the boys who may take to the ice. Since Markham still has too many players, some will either be released or sit out certain games. Goal, Carr, Stunden, Defence, B. Baker, George Scott, Clement, Perry, Fred Scott, Forwards, 1st line, Brennan, Singleton, J. Watson, 2nd line, Jewett, Sluce, Bell (Jr. A. Galt), 3rd line, G. Rumney, J. Rumney, B. Forgie, H. Forgie, J. Radcliff and Nesbitt. The third line has not been definitely decided upon but will be made up of the last six players mentioned. Carr and Stunden will alternate in goal during the season. To make sure the team is in keeping with O.H.A. regulations four players are moving into town.

Local Hockey Gossip

Stouffville hockey club worked out at Oshawa Arena on Friday night and again this Tuesday. Their squad of thirty players was culled down considerably after Friday by Coach Bert Fife, and there was considerable new blood out on Tuesday night. Offers have been dangled at several of last year's Clippers by the Markham Millionaires, and it is understood that four have accepted. Markham is minus four of last year's club and is out for strong replacements. Replacements are being brought in by both Stouffville and Markham from Toronto. Markham management met with the Stouffville chiefs here last week to discuss league setups, but word comes to us this week that the Markham Club has changed their mind from a Senior 'B' entry to an Intermediate 'A' card. The Markham men at last week's meeting urged Stouffville executives to reach for a Senior 'B' entry, but apparently have decided to go their separate way. Stouffville, on the other hand, could place in Intermediate 'B', which they yet may do, and be included in the Yonge St. league which included last season, Sutton, Newmarket, Aurora and Bradford, all clubs to draw a good crowd. The high bracket hockey will necessitate long trips of perhaps fifty to a hundred miles to play a game, which is tough on the club's resources. Stouffville is coming up with a comparatively young team, one which, if held together, should make much faster company another year, but nevertheless a team which could fill the arena every game, if entered in their right class with towns not too far away which carry a good supporting crowd.

Ice, Ice, when it will be ready! Everybody asks this same question continually. Well, the nearest we can come to an answer would be Monday, Oct. 31st, providing everything operates smoothly once the machinery starts to roll. Naturally it will require longer to start up ice-making this season.

than any future season, since the machinery is all new, and untried, and motors developing nearly 100 h.p. can't be just started up and left. However, no stone is being left unturned to get the plant operating just as quickly as possible. Practice time booked for this weekend has had to be cancelled as has the exhibition game which Markham booked up many weeks ago for Oct. 27th. Owing to the chance of last-minute delays with new and untried equipment, the date of the first hockey match will only be known on short notice. That game when it comes, will be played between the two local clubs, Stouffville Clippers, (Intermediates) and the Maple Leaf Juniors, (Junior 'B').
