OTTAWA LETTER

(By Jack Smith, M.P.)

The government hopes to conclude the business of this session some time next week and working with that objective morning, afternoon and night sessions are held daily including Saturday. The second session is likely to be called about February 1st.

The Minister of Reconstruction has a Bill before the House to encourage and assist in the construction of the trans-Canada highway. This project is one for which there has long been a popular demand and the government's action now is receiving support from all sides of the House. Highways of course are a provincial responsibility, but there has been a growing feeling in Canada that we should have one coast-to-coast highway.

Most provincial governments would have great difficulty in assuming alone the financial burden of completing a trans-Canada route to adequate standards in addition to the demand for annual outlays covering capital expenditures and maintenance costs on their over-all highway systems.

Chinese Proverbs

H. A. MacKenzie, M.P. for Lambton-Kent was a member of the House prior to 1945 but did not return in the 1945 election. In 1946 and 1947 he was with the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation organization in China. Last week he gave a speech on conditions in China as he saw them at first hand. He closed his address with a very interesting Chinese proverb, which goes as follows:

"Where there is righteousness in the heart, there is beauty of character. Where there is beauty of character, there is harmony in the home. Where there is harmony in the home, there is order in the nation; and where there is order in the nation, there is peace in the world."

Newfoundland Names

Seven members from the new province of Newfoundland are very interesting additions of the House. They are enthusiastic about the future of their province as a part of Canada and like nothing better than to tell about that interesting land down east. Talking to one of the members the other evening he told me the odd names of places in the new province. Newfoundland boasts such place-names as: Horse Chops, Cape White Handkerchief, Ireland's Eye and Joe Batt's Arm. Fishermen from Britain, France, Spain and Portugal gave the coves and points around Newfoundland's coast the names that now are the addresses for the hardy people living in the far-flung outposts of the new province.

Newfoundland has a Washletorow, an Isle aux Morts, Point Engagee, Cul de Sac and Cinq Cerq. Also a Breakheart Point, Come-by-Chance, Happy Adventure, Heart's Desire, Heart's Content and Little Heart's Ease.

There are said to be at least 1,000 terms of speech peculiar to Newfoundland. Most have to do with the sea and ships and have been carried over into common usage. A braggart, for instance, is an "October Galer"; a grave is a "long-home"; grumbling is "mully-grubs"; flattery "plawmush". A good man is "as fine a man as ever hove a gallus over his shoulder"; while a thief is "an honest man

HAPPIEST MAN NOT IN OUR AURORA

Our attention was called to a newspaper item last week where a man from Aurora had given away a vast estate then turned around and died. Investigation indicated that the despatch was from Aurora, Illinois, not Aurora, York County. The despatch reads: James Powell, recently disclosed as the man who had given away $350,000 to make his friends happy "while I'm still alive," died early today.

Powell, a 74-year-old retired real estate man, had been in failing health for several years and lived in semi-retirement at an Aurora hotel.

Powell had tried to keep secret the gifts to his friends, charities, schools and city government—ranging from $100 to $50,000. He specified only that the beneficiary should not disclose his identity.

"I do not want it to appear that I am doing what I am to gain publicity or glory," Powell said in announcing the various gifts. He urged that he be identified only as "an unknown soldier marching away."

His identity was disclosed after his latest gift of $25,000 to the City of Aurora to start a fund for a municipal auditorium.
