FIRST PLANE TRIP MADE BY JACKASS

A jackass flew from Miami to Kingston, Jamaica last week. The jackass was Kentucky Colonel, a 1,100-pound specimen from the blue grass country of Texas.

He made the trip aboard a Pan American Airways cargo clipper. It was believed to be the first international air trip ever made by a jackass—human beings not included, of course.

Kentucky Colonel, a state champion, was sold by owner Henry Graddy of Versailles, Ky., to the Jamaican department of agriculture for $1,500. The jack will be available at stud for mule breeders on the island.

The old-fashioned blacksmith was honored in poetry. Few have a song in their hearts after an auto mechanic's bill is presented, notes the Victoria Times.
