Horticultural Prize Winners

There was a grand display of flowers in the Memorial Hall on Thursday evening, the 17th, when the local Horticultural Society staged the principal show of the season. Over fifty members entered the competitions. As there were 110 classes in the prize list and many competed in a number of classes the many tables in the spacious hall were taxed to capacity, the high general quality of the exhibits reflected the training many members have received through the educational activities of the society. The excellence of floral arrangement in various classes also received much praise from the judge.

The many citizens, old and young, who turned out to see the exhibition were delighted with the lovely scene presented. It was unfortunate that there were not sufficient chairs to accommodate the large attendance during the entertainment program. However, interest in the helpful comments by the judge, Mr. Douglas Boyd, and in the beautiful doll carriage display offered real compensation.

Readings by Mrs. Ray Fleury also tended to make the enforced standing well worth while. Splendid solos by Annie Koenders, sung in the Dutch tongue, and by Miss Margaret Reid were greatly enjoyed; Clarion Baker and Mrs. Jas. Oldham acting as accompanists.

The special prize winners in the doll carriage competition were Eleanor Sherk, Astrid Osterdahl and Patricia Barry. As all entries in this class were good, the task of the judges, Mr. and Mrs. D. Boyd was not an enviable one. All entrants were given a small prize in recognition of the work involved and the pleasing results obtained.

Needless to say, the directors and all who assisted in the work of preparation are pleased with the fine response by exhibitors and by members and friends who helped to make the August show a real success.
