Markham R.R.1

The government is expected to clamp down shortly on the practice of working girls collecting unemployment insurance benefits after leaving their jobs for marriage. Cabinet is considering new regulations under the Unemployment Insurance Act which would close up loopholes that now permit brides-to-be to dip into the fund.

Four Beers Makes For Carelessness Court Decides

"You were not in fit condition to drive," Magistrate F. S. Ebbs told James Reymar, 25, of Markham, last week registering a conviction on a charge of careless driving. Penalty was $25 and costs or one month, plus license suspension for six months.

Counsel for Reymar, John Greer, submitted that there was no evidence to show carelessness but the Bench chose to accept evidence of Constable Walter Higgins that the accused admitted drinking four or five pints of beer prior to the accident. No defence was put in by Reymar.

The accident happened on the Altona Road North on September 13 at seven in the evening. According to Constable Higgins the road was very narrow at this point as it led up to a bridge. Owner of the truck which left the road was John Gordon, 19, of Scarborough. He was a passenger. The men had come from a Highland Creek hotel.

Local Newsprint Costs Hit New High

Cost of newsprint for the production of The Tribune hit a new high last week and wholesalers passed on another $10 a ton increase to shoot the price to nearly $140.00 a ton.

War, technology and underwear are making money worth more in Canada.

The increase of $6 a ton in Canada for roll newsprint is compared by paper makers with the current increase of $150 a ton for currency paper in Canada, of which dollar bills are made.

There have been similar increases in Bible paper and paper for cigarettes.

All these papers have large rag content. There just aren't many rags. Most linen now is woven with rayon which makes a better garment, but this combination cannot be used for paper making.

Similarly, combinations of cotton and rayon are useless for paper making.

And as for cotton linters (short fibre off cotton seed useless for weaving) they are scarce, too. They are used for plastics and in the manufacture of explosives.

HIT BY TRAIN, TOSSED IN AIR, STATION AGENT SLIGHTLY HURT

Roy Wilcox, 25-year-old C.P.R. Don Station agent, was resting comfortably at his home last night with only minor injuries to prove he had been hit by a freight train.

Wilcox was thrown 12 feet against the wall of the station when the train, travelling at about 30 miles an hour, struck him as he stood on the tracks in front of the station watching for another locomotive. The engine's piston arm bumped him into the air and knocked him clear of the tracks. Had it not struck him, he would have gone beneath the wheels.

"I thought I was for it," Wilcox said. "It wasn't until I was lying on the station platform that it dawned on me just how 'close a scape I'd had.'"

Jumpy Nerves Mark Kangaroo Wedding

Marana, a lonely kangaroo, was removed from "blessed singleness" when officials of a Toronto zoo presented her with a husband fresh from Sydney, Australia. No one enjoyed the wedding ceremony. The kangaroos jumped around their cage while keepers vainly tried to quiet their fears for jittery photographers. When one sat up for the official portrait the other would be travelling like an express train around the pen. When it stopped to rest the other took up the torch. Beaming zoo officials, including the curator, Dr. J. A. Campbell, were happy for Marana and her mate. Marana is at left.

Former Markham Farmer Was Ardent Pigeon Fancier

A veteran of World War I and one of Canada's leading pigeon fanciers, William J. Adams, died at Sunnybrook Hospital Friday.

Born in London, England, in 1881, he came to Canada 45 years ago. After farming in Markham he was engaged in teaming for the C.P.R., later enlisting in the Canadian Army, in which he served for two and a half years overseas.

After the war he joined the CNR and moved to Richmond Hill 27 years ago and had been engaged in contracting since.

A member of York County Veterans for 25 years, he was first vice-president of the Richmond Hill branch of the Canadian Legion and chairman of the Poppy Fund committee of that branch.

He had been a pigeon fancier for 40 years and held Canadian and United States championships, besides many other trophies.

Survivors include his widow, the former Harriet Kerry, five sons, William J. Jr., of Vaughan Township police force, Arthur H., at home, Thomas of Ottawa, John and James Stewart, both at home. Another son, George, was killed in the Dioppe raid.

Driver Not in Control Court Says

When an automobile is stuck in a snowbank the driver behind the wheel cannot be said to be in control, the Ontario Court of Appeal ruled last week in directing a verdict of acquittal on an appeal by Isaac Williamson.

Williamson was found by police seated behind the wheel of his car which was stuck in a snowbank, in a ditch on the Altona Rd. He was charged with being in charge of a motor car while intoxicated.

Magistrate Ebbs of Whitby convicted Williamson, and on an appeal the conviction was upheld by Judge Coleman at Whitby.

In upholding Magistrate Ebbs, Messrs. Justices Roach, Hogg and Aylesworth decided that the whole object of Section 285, Subsection 4, of the Criminal Code under which the charge was laid is to protect the public from dangerous drivers.

They decided that since the car could not be moved without being towed the driver could not be considered to be in charge.

Picked Up by Police On No. 7, Delivering Punch Boards

A Lansing man was convicted in Police Court Friday on a charge of transporting punch boards, which he is alleged to have been selling. The charge was laid as a result of an investigation carried out by the Ontario Provincial Police who picked up the accused on No. 7 Highway south of here.

The accused pleaded guilty to the charge. His car was searched and under the front seat were found seven punch boards.

A statement was read which had been made by the accused on the following day to the chief of the anti-gambling squad of the O.P.P. In this statement, the accused admitted handling punch boards and said that he delivered them to customers he met in his salesman job.

Crown Attorney Jordan told the Court that the offense carried a maximum penalty of two years in prison and a fine of $2,000. The accused told the Court that he was not aware that a prison sentence could be imposed and said that he thought a fine of $100 would be stiff enough. He blamed the date for his difficulties.

Magistrate Gee imposed a fine of $100 plus court costs of $17.

MINDEN CATTLE ALMOST VICTIMS - CREEK QUICKSAND

Quite a number of men were called to Mr. Allen Hewitt's farm to aid in rescuing three cows from a creek. That particular place in the creek is said to have quicksand and the animals kept sinking until they nearly drowned.

By means of ropes and a wrecker, the men managed to rescue the animals from the treacherous waters. The cattle are familiar with the creek and it is not known how they happened to get into that particular spot, unless they had been chased.

Peru has the highest of the Andes Mountains. They tower 9,000 feet.

Tornadoes sometimes rise and fall. This accounts for the irregularity of their damage-pattern.
