Potato King Thanks Rain For Crown

Ontario potato king C. H. Chapman of Nipissing, Ont., credits a "very wet season" with winning his title for him. A member of the 600-Bushel Potato club of Parry Sound district, Mr. Chapman's farm produced 897 bushels an acre to break previous records in Ontario. Shown are: Mrs. Isobel Tremblay, left, and Chapman, right, both with winning spuds. His are the Chippewa variety.

Thieves Abandon Equipment When Alarm Goes Off

Evidently frightened away when they touched off the burglar alarm robbers, who broke into the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch in Brooklin some time during Wednesday night, failed to get anything. It was the fourth time in the last five years that attempts have been made to rob the bank. All have been unsuccessful.

Wesley Piatti and Geoffrey Bailey, who live in a store about 100 yards from the bank, heard the burglar alarm siren blow but did not notify police. They explained that the siren "goes every time the lights flicker" and so many false alarms have been sounded that nobody in the village pays any attention to it any more.

An unidentified Uxbridge man returning from work about four o'clock in the morning notified police when he noticed that the back door was open.

The robbers had gained entrance by jimmying the lock on the rear door of the bank. They also jimmyed the lock on an inner door. It is believed that they started the siren when they tried to cut the padlock off the alarm box with a pair of bolt cutters.

They also used the bolt cutters to cut the telephone wires leading into the bank before they entered. The robbers left all their tools behind the bank when they made their getaway. These included an acetylene welding unit, two jimmy bars, the bolt cutter and a large canvas with which they intended to cover the glare from the welding torch.

About two years ago, robbers made a similar attempt to rob the bank. On that occasion, they managed to set up their equipment and had cut a hole in the door of vault before they were frightened away.

John H. Goodwin, manager of the bank, said that two other attempts had been made before that. On both occasions the robbers entered through the windows but were frightened away before they got anything.

It was after the attempted robbery two years ago that the burglar alarm siren was installed.

Markham Man Loses Sister

Many old friends and acquaintances learned with deep regret of the sudden death of Eliza Payne, widow of the late Richard E. Hallett at the home of her son Ross at Sonya in her 72nd year. The funeral took place to Sunderland cemetery, being conducted in the Pinkham Funeral Chapel by Rev. Mr. Fleischer.

The late Eliza Payne was born in Brock Township in 1878, a daughter of the late George Payne and Christena McLean, and married Richard E. Hallett. For many years they farmed on the 1st concession until 1916, when her husband passed away after which she retired to Sunderland to live.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. Ross Hallett in Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, she had gone to help at his home when she was suddenly stricken.

Left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother are four sons, Ross of Brock, Roy of Whitby, William of Oshawa and Clayton of Sonya, and two daughters, Mrs. Shirley Fraser, (Gladys) Whitby, and Lucille of Saginaw, Mich., also two brothers, George Payne of Epsom, William of Markham and one sister, Mrs. M. Thorburn of Lindsay.

Convict Two More in Vaughan Township Building Charges

Two more cases of infractions of building and residential by-laws in Vaughan Township were dealt with last week when, in York County police court, Magistrate O. M. Martin levied fines of $10. each and costs against the defendants. Another case was remanded to November 21 for hearing.

Two charges were laid in one case, one of occupying a garage as residence for two years, the other of adding an extension without a permit. Suspended sentence was given in the second charge with a $10 fine in the first.

In the second case the charge was that of occupying a basement as a dwelling and $10 fine was imposed in this case also. Giving evidence Township Building Inspector H. C. H. Miller disclosed that numerous warnings had been given in both cases and that efforts had been made to have those charged comply with township by-laws.

The total number of prosecutions launched by Vaughan Township since the start of the "clean-up" is now nineteen, with convictions being secured in each case.
