

Urge Year's Service for Mennonites in Event of War But not in Armed Forces

Mennonite youth will be urged to give a year of volunteer service in "areas of need," such as hospitals and penal institutions, rather than enter the armed forces in the event of war.

Over 1,500 young Mennonites attending the first Community Youth Conference on church and war held in Kitchener over the weekend, learned that a detailed plan to direct young people into service work is being patterned after a similar American plan.

Primary concern of the conference was what the action of the church would be in time of war. Those attending the conference unanimously agreed that the church's policy of not taking up arms would be adhered to.

"We feel that violence is not the answer, but we want to make a contribution in the war against communism," said Rev. John H. Hess, associate pastor of First Mennonite Church, where the conference was held.

Describing the attitude of the church as "non resistant, or pacifist," Rev. Mr. Hess admitted that, in theory, Mennonites would not fight against Russian seizure of the North American continent, but would attempt to win them over to God's way when they arrived.

"Our church does not sanction the action of some of its young men who joined the services in the last war," said Rev. Mr. Hess. Reason for this latest conference, he said, was to "give youth guidance for the future."

Rev. Mr. Hess said that the church lobbies were filled and people were standing in aisles to hear Don Smucker, of the faculty of Bethany and Mennonite Biblical Seminaries, Chicago, address the conference.

Mr. Smucker's Saturday night address, entitled "Christianity and Communism," was followed by discussion groups who considered the "impact of communism and practical approaches to it." The group passed no resolutions.

"We have traded Hitler for Stalin," declared Mr. Smucker who asserted that each war added impetus to communism.

"The War Within Ourselves" was the topic of the speaker's Sunday address. "We hate war; it is wrong—but we have it. Killing is not the answer. The alternative is to overcome evil with good."

More Fire Protection Asked for Oak Ridges

Purchase of a fire truck of the type designed for rural fire fighting, together with necessary equipment, formation of a volunteer fire department; clearing of ice and snow from roads leading to Wilcox Lake and the digging of a well in the bed of the creek passing under No. 11 Highway were the recommendations made for fire protection in the Oak Ridges-Lake Wilcox area by a representative of the Ontario Fire Marshal's department at a public meeting held in Oak Ridges school last week.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Oak Ridges Lions Club and its president, C. L. Stephenson, was chairman. Included among the considerable number who attended were Mr. and Mrs. A. Spears and their children, who lost their home and all their belongings in a fire at Lake Wilcox last week.

The recommendations made by W. G. Alexander, B.E.M., of the Fire Marshal's department followed a survey of the area made recently at the request of the Lions Club. Visits would be made to all homes in the district, said President Stephenson, and if it was disclosed that there was sufficient interest on the part of property owners, when facts and figures in connection with adequate fire protection were given them, a petition asking King and Whitechurch Townships to establish a fire area would be circulated.

Cost of proper fire protection, said Mr. Stephenson, would be approximately $3. per $1,000 of assessable value yearly. He pointed out that the Ontario government would contribute 35 per cent of the cost of equipment and 25 per cent of the cost of subsequent operation and maintenance. Original cost of the equipment would, at this figure, be wiped out in twenty years. Insurance rates, he said, would not be affected as the underwriters would not make a reduction in rates until hydrants were installed.

"A fire in this district would be serious under present conditions," said the report from the fire marshal's office.

It stated that the assessment for the Oak Ridges area is $400,000 which is not near the burnable value.

"Most of the buildings in the Oak Ridges area are of frame construction," it continued. "fire in any one of them could easily spread to other exposures especially in the Lake Wilcox area where a large number of summer cottages are located."

"These cottages are of frame construction built on 25 foot lots with very little space between the buildings. A number of these cottages are rented as permanent residences and occupied the year round."

Fido, a dog's name, is taken from the Latin fidus, meaning faithful.

If sold for the value of its chemical elements, the human body would be worth about 98 cents.
