Assessment Light On Ajax Industry Report To Council

"I was not impressed with the size or the quantity of industry at Ajax," said County Assessor Gordon McLean reporting to Ontario County Council upon the completion of the first assessment of the former Crown property. Probably many of the firms will develop in time but at present they will not be bearing any heavy assessment," he continued.

The assessor said that it was impossible to place a normal factory assessment upon the former assembly line buildings in which most of the present industry is located. Many of these line buildings are not entirely suitable for the use of permanent industry. In addition, practically all the industry is operating on a rental basis from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. "We have now completed the outside assessment with the exception of the land," said Mr. McLean. "When our figures are added up, I think we will find that some 908 houses are assessed for approximately $1,800,000. The total assessment of Ajax will be approximately $2,500,000."
