It's just a shame that the high prices are making us do without the things that our parents never had. Forgetfulness is a virtue only when you can remember the right things to forget.

Eldred King Holds Post with County Junior Farmers

"The other face of the coin of privilege is responsibility," quoted Miss Eleanor Syracuse when addressing York County Juniors at their annual meeting. The meeting was held at the Ontario Department of Agriculture Board room in Newmarket. Miss Syracuse who is President of the Ontario Junior Farmers' Association, an organization with over 12,000 members, stated that the Junior Farmer age is the age of decision.

The Juniors were pleased to have County President Norman Tyndall in charge of the morning session and back in our midst after his overseas visit. Ed Pearson, Assistant Agricultural Representative, explained the purpose of this period was to provoke thought in line with the Junior Farmer theme of "Self Help and Community Betterment." Each Club had a representative express its ideas regarding a project for his own club and also on one that might be done on a county basis. The projects suggested by the Unionville Club included a farm gate sign project and also a farm clean-up campaign. Vellore spoke on a grain club project and also the formation of a community choir. The Sharon representative outlined a farm entrance improvement project and also a project to have road signs made for the boundary line of York County for all major roads entering the County. The Schomberg club reported on a project in which they plan to join with other organizations for the improvement of the local hall.

Mr. T. R. Hilliard, Provincial Secretary of the Ontario Junior Farmers' Association, was the commentator on an afternoon study of the introducing and thanking of speakers.

The election of officers for the coming year was an important section of the meeting. Each office was highly contested and the result of the ballots were as follows:

County President, Carl Boynton, Woodbridge; Vice President, Jeanette Harrison, Mt. Albert; Secretary - Treasurer, Eldred King, Markham; County Director, Carl Boynton, Woodbridge.

Mr. W. M. Cockburn, Agricultural Representative for York County, congratulated the new executive and challenged them to do the best job possible during the coming year and called for the co-operation of every Junior Farmer member in the county.

CEDAR GROVE

(Thursday, March 27)

This week has brought esteem and distinction to Cedar Grove. Our hardworking drama group have already won two laurels and on Friday night will vie for a third. They won the Toronto East Rural Festival last Friday night at Mount Albert and Monday evening came home from Toronto with the Co-Ord Trophy. Marion McCowan received the best actress award and the marks obtained by the group itself were enough to make us very proud of them.

The Community Club meeting, held Monday night at Helen and Archie Little's, comprised mostly of year end business concerning the rink and euchres and plans for the garden party which always begins surprisingly early. There seemed to be enough activity during the meeting for everyone to thoroughly enjoy Helen's delicious chicken a la king and home made pies and the business was over.

Tuesday night's social evening can now be set down as a great success. We not only had a good group of our own villagers but almost every neighbouring community was well represented. The silk screen prints transformed our school house into a veritable art gallery and after Mrs. Housser's enlightening talk on their origin and process we all felt a keen comprehension of their importance. Mr. DeWitt showed three films all with bearing on the theme of the evening and all very much enjoyed. We hope this is just the beginning of many such nights in Cedar Grove and if the eagerness and attendance is any standard of judging there will be others coming along frequently. Last Sunday evening the Choral Group sang in Runnymede United Church in Toronto. Mr. Martin is tenor soloist in this church and for last Sunday's service the Choral Group took over the choir loft.

Charlie Whittaker tripped on the ice last Sunday morning and dislocated his shoulder. He was running to his chiekers during the power cut-off and lost his footing.

The Tapscotts entertained a few friends last Saturday night at a euchre party in their home.

Mrs. A. T. Offen has guests this week. Her niece, Mrs. Rae Symington, and her husband and twin sons are visiting while Mr. Symington attends a mechanics course at Oshawa.

Speaking of money matters—it sure does.
