Paradox: The faster the motorist drives, the greater the chance that death will overtake him.

The main reason governments are to a considerable extent failures is that people are the hardest things in the world to govern.

Progress is stopped by folk who use an office to look for sleep they lost the night before.

It would be interesting to know how many acres of skin will be scratched by vacationists this summer.

Urging Extra Care

ON THE WEEK-END!

Holiday week-ends are periods of extra hazard and added congestion on the highway. These conditions will continue to result in accidents unless offset by patience, forethought and alertness on the part of all highway users.

Thousands of visiting tourists and children on vacation add to already crowded highways. The need for extra care is obvious. A traffic death is a needless death.

You risk your life when you drive too fast for conditions—fail to stay in your own traffic lane—or fail to obey signs and regulations designed for your protection—or, when on foot, you fail to take necessary precautions.

Enjoy your week-end. Make it safe—one you will remember, happily.
