"Fillers" Get Attention From Our Overseas Correspondent

By George Abell of Stouffville
Just lately it has occurred to me that this column does not contain enough real facts in condensed form from this side of the water. I'm referring to those little gems of information that Charlie slips into the Tribune each week to keep the whole thing tidy. You know what I mean—if a column ends a quarter of an inch from the bottom of the page you'll see something like this underneath it to fill up the blank:

"The population of Keokuk, Iowa, is composed entirely of men, women and children", or something along those lines.

So from now on I shall also provide this valuable service from this side of the Atlantic.

Now that the preliminaries are over, let's see what's doing underneath the fog bank that the Star and Tely haven't already told you about.

The shows are the biggest news in the "Big Smoke" just now. There are two on this week. At Earl's Court Stadium, which resembles the Coliseum, the annual Motor Show is being held and at the Olympia, which also resembles the Coliseum, the annual Dairy Show is taking place.

At Earl's Court over 300 British European and American cars are on display and for the first time in 13 years most of the British cars can be bought without any delay. That is, all except the little ones that everyone wants. They are still on an indefinite waiting list. The British cars are new designed solely for the export market and there are a lot of new models of the open sport's car that sells so well in the United States. All the new models of the cars made in the States are there and I was surprised to learn that they feature super-sonic giggling pins and ultra dynamic laughing valves for 1953. The day will soon come when after a party you will only have to sit behind the wheel, turn on the key and say, "Home Betsy" to arrive safely at your front door.

But the British are an uneducated lot of people. What they want in a car is something cheap to buy, cheap to run, and something that will keep going for fifteen years or more. So much for the motor show.

"It is estimated that in schools of Manchester, 97.35 per cent of all children under 12 have running noses."

The other show is the dairy show and while I haven't been there, I understand that the dairymaids are a better show than the cows. As cows and I were never the best of friends, let that be enough about the dairy show.

"If all the mountains in Scotland were laid end to end Great Britain would consist of England, Northern Ireland and Wales."

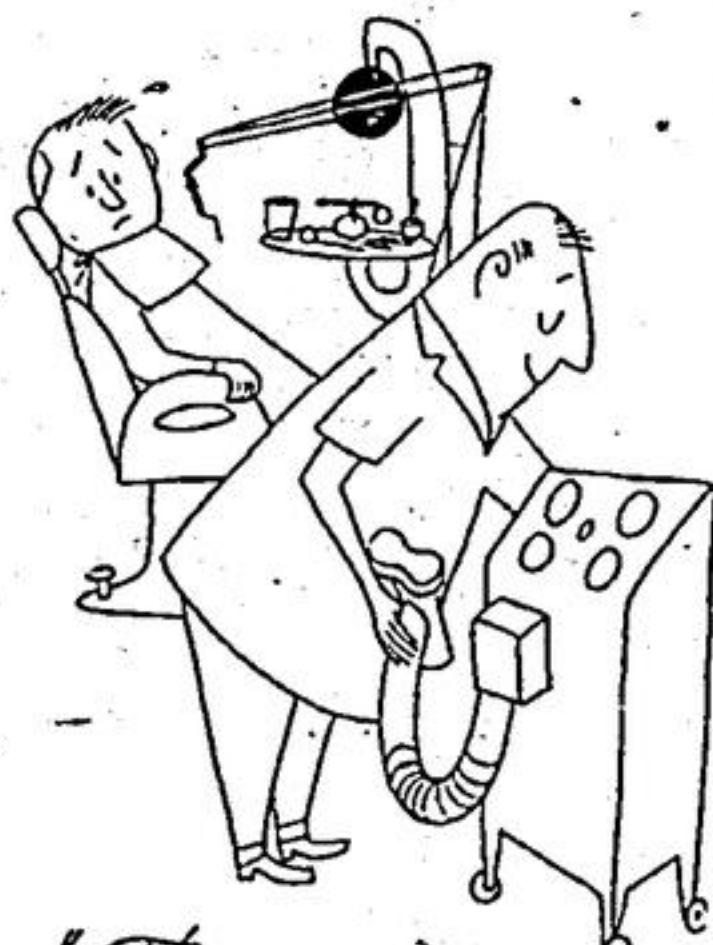

Last Tuesday was the anniversary of Nelson's little do with Napoleon's fleet and is kept over here as "Trafalgar Day". It's not a Public holiday and even the banks keep open, but it is the occasion for a very colorful ceremony in Trafalgar Square. Naval flags are flown. Nelson's column is decorated and wreaths are laid.

It gives you a start to go around after the crowds have gone and read the cards on the wreaths. Many of them are from living relations of the one-eyed sailor who stands so patiently on his pedestal staring down at Whitehall and Big Ben all day. I hope he is cleaned up before the Coronation for after all these years as providing a roosting place for pigeons, he won't look so good to the television cameras when the "big day" comes around.

"Trolley buses run on tracks in the streets but subway trains are usually found lower down."

"That's enough for now."

Some folks are like buttons—always popping off at the wrong time.

"This won't hurt a bit"

FIND IT HARD to relax in the dentist's chair? Then you'll be glad to know that the dentist's drill now has a rival—a new device which "drills" teeth by means of a fine spray of aluminum oxide powder. They say the new technique takes the "ouch!" out of having a tooth fixed.

Manufacturers in many fields keep coming up with new uses for aluminum. And our research people are often called on for help in finding a remedy for their production aches and pains. Many times the result is another Canadian plant opening up to make a new and useful aluminum product. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Grows 130,000 Worms in His Basement

Dave Pitkeathly of Hamilton Ontario, resented paying 50 cents a dozen for fishing worms a couple of years ago, so he started to grow his own. Now in his basement, he has 130,000 worms and he is aiming at a million. At present he does not market them but he hopes to retire soon and devote all his time to them. He and his granddaughter, Mary Jacques find the hobby fascinating. For instance, if he wants bright red wrigglers, he just feeds them pulverized bricks. He hopes to breed a new strain of worms whose life expectancy will be twice that of the average.

Dog's Life Isn't So Bad

Most canine wardrobes include, at best, a change in dog blankets. Not so with Babee and Dolly, two tiny Pomeranians who strut around in most exotic costumes. The thorough-bred have a wardrobe of 17 costumes from 11 lands, the handiwork of their fond mistress, Mrs. Tom Pavich, of Hamilton, Ont. "Sun Ray Babee," seen above in costume smoking a cigar, is also adept at such feats as twirling a baton while marching on his hind legs.
