Fireworks Here For The Coronation
Stouffville's Coronation Committee met last week and made plans for a fireworks display in the park on the evening of June 2nd, and some free refreshments for the kiddies. After considerable discussion, the committee agreed that time was almost too short in which to prepare any large program and both Whitechurch and Markham Townships are arranging large celebrations which will no doubt draw the great proportion of country folks. Stouffville's hardball club is arranging for a game here in Memorial Park in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Lewis of Stouffville had quite a thrill while on a fishing expedition in Haliburton on Thursday when a big bull moose came thrashing through the bush and swam out quite near their boat which was anchored off shore. The Lewis' were at Big Hawk Lake, a favourite haunt of local anglers and a second boat containing two Unionville men was nearby.

On Tuesday morning, under supervision of the teachers and several mothers, twenty-six children from the Kindergarten-Nursery School enjoyed a walk in Mr. Len Hoover's woods where our beautiful Canadian wild flowers were blooming at their best. Through the courtesy of Messrs. The Tribune is pleased to receive a letter from Miss Jean Sanderson, O'Brien Ave., who has recently arrived in England and will visit there with relatives while taking in the Coronation. This is Jean's first visit to the Old Country and we believe her impressions may be interesting to our readers. We quote: "I find England to be very quaint, full of tradition and very green. I am most thrilled with the way you find flowers growing everywhere. English people are wonderful gardeners and Canadians could take a few lessons in gardening from them. Every home here has a hedge or fence or brick wall built around it. The towns almost seem to run into each other and I haven't seen much farmland. Television here is owned by the BBC and although the reception is good there is no choice of programs and you can only see whatever the company is producing. There are no commercials and I miss the jingles. I have had more tea since I arrived, both aboard ship and over here, than ever before. The coffee we had at sea was Italian. The food here is very good, just the same as at home, only aboard ship I would have traded anything for one of Harold's hamburgers and coffee. The shops are very nice and quite smart too! Busses are unique in that you pay for as far as you are going with no transfers."

PRESENT PARSONAGE HOUSED FORMER BANKERS

Present United Church parsonage on Church St. occupied by Rev. D. Davis, was built more than sixty years ago by the late Nathan Forsyth. The home was taken over as a parsonage over thirty-five years ago by the then Methodist congregation. Originally lived in by Mr. Forsyth, the builder, the dwelling also served as the home of two former bank managers, W.

J. Stark, who was also reeve of the town at one time, and Harold Morden, manager of the old Standard Bank. A Mr. Geering also resided there for a time.

Prepare for Trade Fair In September

Stouffville Chamber of Commerce will hold their second annual Trade Fair in September of this year with tentative dates being the 24th, 25th and 26th. Last year's initial fair proved to be one of the finest shows ever staged in town and drew record crowds for three days. A committee comprised of Alf. Mole, V.H. Atkinson, Chas. Nolan and Lloyd Weldon, chairman, was named by the Chamber of Commerce at their regular meeting on Thursday night, to begin organization plans for this fall's fair. The total floor space was over-subscribed for last year and there is a waiting list for any available space which may be dropped by exhibitors this year.

The May 18th holiday passed very quietly in Stouffville, with the hardball tournament washed out by the intermittent rain. Heavy traffic was noted commencing on Saturday as hundreds of north-country holidayers took the Stouffville route across country. A great many local folks were out of town during the weekend, and except for the family firecracker parties, all was very peaceful. It proved more of a day off than a holiday as there were few patriotic observances which are supposed to accompany holidays. This fact was possibly due to the juggling of the holiday from its right date, to make the long weekend, and also that many communities are planning large celebrations on Coronation Day.

Your exhibits are needed to make the Spring Flower Show a success on Monday, May 25, in the United Church basement.

Miss Kathleen Jackson, one of the local Telegram carriers was a winner in a recent contest for their carriers.
