

WHAT'S THE HOLD UP?

What's holding up the installation of the floodlights in Markham? Last fall all the softball players who make use of this park as a home diamond canvassed the town in an effort to scrape up $3,000 to install an up-to-date lighting system. Now after seven months there is still no sign that the job will be completed this summer. The poles arrived over a month ago but have not been moved since their arrival. Following numerous inquiries there seems to be no sound explanation for the delay.

BANQUET FOR BOWLERS

The Stouffville United Church Young Peoples Society wound up their thrilling bowling schedule on Friday night with a chicken banquet at Oak Ridges. Following the dinner, Mr. Ross Winterstein presented captain Lorne Boadway with the Stouffville Sand and Gravel trophy emblematic of the Young Peoples championship. Those on the team besides the captain were Marion Murphy. Jean and Maurice Halsted. Connie Lewis and Murray Redshaw. When the final scores were counted up Pat Lehman topped the girls with the highest average while Lorne Boadway headed the men's class.

LOCAL SOFTBALLERS BOUND TO IMPROVE

Although the Stouffville softball squad were soundly trounced by Markham in their home and home duel last week. they may be assured of one thing - they are bound to improve. One must remember that when the locals matched batting strength with Markham, they were facing the best in the league. Three other clubs in the group also suffered double setbacks and as far as the standing of the teams is concerned it doesn't matter whether you lose by one run or twenty-one. One thing is certain, the players must outfit themselves with the proper equipment. Fielders without spikes might just as well chase a fly ball on roller skaes, especially in the evening when the grass is damp. Who knows, the "Shamrocks" may rally with that fighting Irish spirit and turn the tables on their opposition.

WEATHERMAN WASHES OUT HOLIDAY TOURNEY

A heavy downpour of rain on Monday morning turned the local baseball diamond into a sea of mud and the Stouffville Red Sox management found it necessary to cancel their May 18th holiday tournament. The spirits of the local squad were also thoroughly dampened due to the inclement weather. As most fans realize the Red Sox operate throughout the season only on a shoe string and it was their plan that a well-organized tournament might get them off to a good financial start. Now the team must depend solely on the support of the fans who attend their regular scheduled games. On Monday, May 25th, the Red Sox play host to Sunderland to open the baseball season here. Keep Stouffville's "National Sport" thriving by offering your vocal and financial support to the club on Monday evening.

CAHA TO CLAMP DOWN The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association introduced a number of proposals at its general meeting held at Niagara Falls last week. Some of them should be accepted while others would not be a benefit to the sport. A move to silence any profane protests from players in the penalty box was introduced and such a resolution would certainly be a step in the right direction. Some players have little or no regard for the spectators seated in the immediate area. Another move to curb the shorthanded club from icing the puck was introduced. Such a plan would certainly throw terrific pressure on the defending club, but it might aid in cutting down the number of penalties in a game. The motion to ban the "slap shot" from hockey was defeated. Such penalties as kneeing, boarding, tripping, crosschecking and charging are to be strictly adhered to by the officials and major penalties will be handed out when warranted. One delegate suggested that any player who shoots the puck at the goaltender after the play has been stopped should be given a misconduct penalty. One of the many resolutions given approval was that of secretary-manager Geo. Dudley which provided that the CAHA executive must follow the book when JERSEY JOE NETS $250,000 IN TWO MINUTES.

Did you see the fight last Friday night? - What fight? That's the question and usual answer that's been ringing in the air ever since Marciano and Walcott staged their brief skirmish in Chicago Stadium before a crowd of 14,000 fans. Those who saw the "fight" on T.V. will probably agree that the so-called knock-out punch thrown by the Champ didn't appear to have the force behind it to K.O. the Challenger for the count. On the screen it appeared that Rocky hit his opponent with a right uppercut and pushed him with his left, but of course who are we to judge the power of Marciano's right. Maybe Jersey Joe lost track of the count and, if dazed this could easily be the case; or perhaps he just decided "to sit this. one out." For his brief squat on the canvas, he picked up a cool $250,000. The action in the ring between the police and a ringside late arrival proved about as interesting as the heavyweight match itself. From Jersey Joe's sitting position on the ring floor one would think in all fairness to boxing that he had been dazed by Marciano's right; if not he should have at least risen to his knees at the eight count. As far as there being any protest lodged concerning a "short count" or unfair officiating, it appeared perfectly legitimate on the TV screen as it did to the International Boxing Commission. Walcott's boxing career has come to an end, but at the age of 39? who shouldn't retire from professional sport.

Port Perry Drops From County League

At an organization meeting held in Uxbridge on Friday night the Port Perty club notified the Tri-County League that they intended to pull out of the group. The Port claimed that the distance between the towns was too great and expenses involved, too high. They will enter the Durham League. Many of the players on the Port Perry squad are employed at Osnawa and they find it practically impossible to arrive at the visitors' parks in time to start a 6.30 game. The schedule for the season was drawn up with the Red Sox playing the majority of their home
