WEDDINGS

PEELING — HARDY
The marriage of Miss Erlene Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Peeling of Oshawa, and Grant Russell Hardy, son of Mrs. Leonard Pilkey of Claremont and the late Mr. H. Hardy was solemnized by the Reverend John K. Moffat, in the parsonage of Simcoe Street United church recently.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was wearing a suit of navy blue French wool with beaded motifs on the jacket. A small white hat, white accessories and a corsage of red roses completed her ensemble.

She was attended by Miss Doris Gibson who was in blue grey with navy blue accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mr. Kenneth Harmer acted as best man.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. Her mother received wearing a two-piece dress of blue corded gabardine with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a two-piece dress of grey wool with red accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The couple left on a motoring honeymoon around Lake Ontario and will make their home in Oshawa.

Prior to her marriage the bride was entertained at several miscellaneous showers, and received a presentation from her fellow employees at a supper party at Adelaide House.

Revised Bible Sales Soar, Near Three Million

More than 2,500,000 copies of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible have been sold in the year it has been on sale.

These figures are significant as evidence of the acceptance of the recent revised Standard Bible and of hunger for religion throughout the world, in the opinion of Dr. Luther A. Weigle, chairman of the Standard Bible Committee and Dean Emeritus of the Yale Divinity School.

Dr. Weigle expressed his views in an interview following his address before the New England Library Association convention.

The 2,258,833 copies sold, Dr. Weigle said, "that people generally are anxious for a text of the Bible on which they can rely as an accurate translation of the original text and one that they can understand because its words and phrases are used in their customary meaning."

"It seems," he added, "that there is a vast hunger in the world these days for truth and for something that will lift us out of the morass of suspicion and fear in which we are plunged."

"Now we have the materials and the stimulus," he said, "for a great step forward in interest in reading and studying the Bible. Certainly the reading now becomes a pleasure rather than a chore and the study is enhanced by the clarity of the translation."

Referring to controversies about the new revised version of the Bible, Dr. Weigle said, "debates do no harm as long as they lead people to study it (the Bible) honestly."

He was referring to the viewpoint of some that the new version, though distinguished for its scholarship, does not replace the King James Version, which was made when the English language had attained great beauty and at a time of dawning of spiritual light.

There also has been some discussion about the removal of the "thee", "thou", "thy" and "thine" of the King James Version from the revised.

All of these words in the new version, Dr. Weigle stressed have been retained in the language of prayer addressed to God, such as in the Book of Psalms and the Lord's Prayer in Matthew. It was decided, in other instances, however, to follow the present English usage with respect to these pronouns and verb endings "est," "edst," and "eth."

In the King James Version, he explained, these pronouns and verb endings are used for God and man alike. They were then in common English usage when the King James Version was published in 1611.

Dr. Weigle noted the fact that revision of the Bible is going on at present in Germany, and that revision was completed a year ago in the Netherlands. Also a new translation is under way in Great Britain, he said. In Germany and the Netherlands it is revision of the old vernacular translation, he explained.

Dr. Weigle has just received word from Thomas Nelson & Sons, publishers of the revised version, that by Jan. 1, two less expensive illustrated editions of the new Bible will be available. A third Bible, called the Pew Edition with no illustrations and no presentation page will sell for $3. A larger and more luxurious Pulpit Bible for use in churches also will be ready about Feb. 1st.

Orders for the illustrated editions are being placed in such quantities that 500,000 copies are expected to be moved in January and possibly a million copies by the end of March 1954.

Win Many Prizes On Clydesdales

For a half century many of the major awards for showing of fine Clydesdales at the Canadian National Exhibition and at many Ontario fall fairs have been won by Frank Batty of Brooklin. Except for one year when he was judging, Mr. Batty has been a regular exhibitor at the CNE since 1903. With his son, John, and grandson Billy who live on the farm, one mile south of Brooklin, the tradition is being carried on.

Five generations of Battys have maintained and enhanced the Clydesdale breed. Frank's grandfather Christopher was a Yorkshire man who loved and bred fine horses decades before the tractor was dreamed of. His father William came to Canada as a poor young man and established a farm a mile east of Kedron church. He was a prosperous and successful horse breeder from whom Frank Batty got his first insight to the business.

W.F. Batty has spent his whole lifetime as a Clydesdale expert. His son John, now a partner, has his father's flair for the breed and his young son Billy has already shown at some local fairs. This great record of 'persons' is matched by the uncounted dozens of prize ribbons, medals and cups and other forms of award which may be seen here, there and everywhere in the big, rambling comfortable old farm home.

Considering their preoccupation with heavy horses, one would hardly think that W.F. Batty and son would have much time to show other animals but they also keep an excellent herd of purebred Jerseys—92 at the present moment, and show the best of these also from time to time. One excellent cow will be put in the sale of stars at the Royal Winter Fair.

This year perhaps more than ever before, the Batty and Son Clydesdales brought

2-Mile Rubber Road May Stretch Service

You won't be able to bounce on it—but a two mile strip of Highway 11, at Langstaff, is made of rubber.

Ontario Highways Department is experimenting on a 10 mile stretch just past Langstaff school. Two miles of surface is rubber and four miles on each side regular materials. Success of the experiment will determine whether future roads will be of usual material or rubber, similar to highways in Holland and the U.S., which have had greater lasting power.

The two mile rubber section was built with natural rubber additive in the asphalt mix.

They said rubber roads built in Holland before World War II withstood the pounding of the German Invasion and retreat as well as the Allied Invasion.

American engineers built rubber roads in 18 states, Massachusetts laid over 300 miles, in 1930 alone. U.S. air force has been laying rubber strips since 1932.

The RCAF built a rubber airstrip at St. Hubert, Quebec, and Quebec government laid 1,287 ft. of rubber road north of Montreal.

home a record number of ribbons and cups. At the CNE at Lindsay Exhibition, at Ottawa, at Markham Fair and at several other shows, the Batty Clydesdales always seem to score.

Modest by nature, Mr. Batty is loathe to recount his successes. But by easy count, the farm won eight first, six seconds and one third at the CNE this year. At Lindsay last month, his gelding "Joe" won all the way through. This horse was Grand Champion last year at the Royal. Mares from the Batty farm also won all their classes at Lindsay.

From the Lindsay show, they came home with the Ho-
