Pickering Farmers Barred from Dairy Business at Ajax

Fifteen district farmers and citizens have threatened full-scale war over the Ontario Milk Control Board's refusal to permit local farmers to start a dairy in Ajax.

With concrete plans for a cow-to-table dairy service that they say will cut costs of milk production, members of the Pickering Transport Co-Operative, have twice been refused a producer-distributor license by the board on the grounds that Ajax is now being served by five outside dairies.

Before the board will consider granting a new license proof of poor quality or inadequate service by the five dairies serving Ajax must be produced.

After the milk board's last refusal Jan. 5, the Citizens' Association instructed its secretary to send a resolution to the board pointing out the town of 5,000 persons does not now possess the best possible dairy outlet and urging the board to grant the license for a consumer-distributor dairy in Ajax.

The resolution charges the board's refusal is preventing industrial development in the town, depriving the municipality of additional taxes and free competition.

The farmers claim that since their trucking co-op has cut transportation costs by one-third, similar action in the dairy industry would considerably reduce the cost of milk.

Some point out the co-operative dairy project would also solve the problem of surplus milk for local farmers.

Co-op president Alan Lishman points out several advantages of the plan.

"We all live within a mile or two of Ajax and could serve them well," he argues. "Another advantage would be our ability to pipe steam from the CHMC central heating plant. We would not have to install our own steam plant."

Henry Westney, secretary of the co-op said the group may seek a producer-consumer license, enabling them to split profits with the consumer. He said the cost of putting the dairy into operation would be about $40,000.

At present there is no dairy retail outlet in Ajax. The population is served by door-to-door delivery from outside dairies and across the counter in grocery stores. Citizens say the five dairies give a very high type of service and the Citizens' Association is quick to point out that no criticism of the five dairies is implied.

A number of people who are otherwise truthful will look you straight in the eye and tell you emphatically that they enjoy working.

Lots of time is saved by people who take just a little longer and do a thing right.

York County Holstein Annual

Holstein breeders from York County filled the Masonic Hall at Richmond Hill on January 21st for the annual meeting of their county club. President, Percy Barker of Woodbridge called the meeting to order at 10:30 a.m. and complimented the breeders on their continued interest in the promotion of their breed. In this connection, a feature of the day was the presentation by Fieldman Gerald Nelson, of 43 certificates for superior and long-time production to members whose herd had made outstanding records on R.O.P. tests.

The guest speaker was Dr. J.C. Rennie of the Animal Husbandry Department, O.A.C., Guelph. Dr. Rennie spoke on the sire indexing programme, now being carried on at the College. Under this scheme, sires are being indexed for prepotency according to the R.O.P. records and the selective registration ratings for type of their daughters. The sire's rating is obtained by comparison to the average of the breed on all R.O.P. Selective Registration records available. This work is all done by machinery some of which is capable of sorting 400 index cards per minute. Holstein breeders believe this research to be the most progressive yet undertaken in the field of animal breeding and the project will eventually cover all dairy breeds.

In the election of directors, the following were elected: Glen Atkinson, Schomberg; Robt. Chapman, Weston; Russell Boynton, Woodbridge; Alex. Davidson, Agincourt; Wm. Edwards, Schomberg; Neil Farris, Newmarket; Sam Gough, Milliken; Geo. Jackson, Jr., Downsview; Wilbert Jennings, King; Bruce Keffer, Maple; Jas. Reid, Kleinburg; Jerry Walker, King; Bruce Watson, Woodbridge; Stanley B. Watson, Markham. At the Directors' meeting which followed, they elected Bruce Watson of Woodbridge as President and Geo. Jackson Jr. of Downsview as Vice President. It is noteworthy that these young men but a few years ago were fellow members in the Woodbridge Boys' Calf Club. R.H. Barker of Woodbridge was re-appointed Sec. Treas.

The most severe snowstorm of the season failed to halt meeting of farmers, hunters and conservationists who gathered at Dereham Centre to protest the shooting of six deer in the area on Jan. 1st by Ontario lands and forests officials and provincial police. The incident which so aroused the district, south-west of Ingersoll, was the sequel to a complaint made in November by farmer Bert Bell, above, that deer had trampled his grain and what could be done about it. Knowing that the animals were too numerous in that section, Inspector F. R. Meadmore, top of the lands and forests district office at Hespeler, had hoped that an open season in Oxford county would eliminate damage by deer, but evidently in Dereham township there had been few hunters. There had been a complaint, and department officials had acted upon it, as they were entitled to under the Game and Fisheries Act. Deer and agriculture don't mix, he added.

The quarterly Temperance Sunday was observed in Sunday School with Mrs. C. Lemon, the Supt. giving a reading and a quartet, Misses Lillian and Jean Brown, Miss H. Lemon and Mrs. Lemon gave a musical number.

Mr. E. Lemon, Pres., of York County Soil and Crop Improvement Association with Mrs. Lemon and son Johnathon attended the sessions in Toronto to last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Harper of Lemonville visited with Mr. and Mrs. George Talbot last Sunday.

A thought for folks working on their income tax — supposing the government taxed you on what you think you're worth to the company.

Jersey Club
Annual Meeting

Ross Chapman of Queensville was re-elected President of the York Jersey Club at their recent annual meeting held at the Dept. of Agriculture, Newmarket. Cecil Morton, also of Queensville, was declared Vice President.

The meeting at which forty breed enthusiasts were present, centred much of its attention on the formation of a Central Ontario Club. The purpose of the Club being to organize Jersey breeders on a larger area basis for breed promotion work. Mr. Alfred Bagg, the club salesman, complimented York County breeders on winning the championship herd award at the 1953 CNE. With reference to sales, he stressed the fact that American buyers were available for cattle showing attractive type but not for mediocre quality.

Other directors elected at the meeting for 1954 were Newton Burr, Gormley; Bert McGrath, Markham; Jas. Morgan, Schomberg and Art McKeown, Richmond Hill. W.M. Cockburn was again appointed Secretary Treasurer.

Canadian department store sales climbed 2.4 per cent in February compared with the same month of 1952.

Mr. and Mrs. Property Owner of Markham Township

As we are completing the re-assessment of Markham Township in 1954, it is necessary that we know the correct size of each parcel of land in the Township.

Would you, Mr. and Mrs. Property Owner, be good enough to assist the Assessment Department with that work as provided for in Section 13, Sub-Section 2 of the Assessment Act., by filling out this form and mailing it to the Assessment Commissioner or hang it up in your kitchen so that it will be handy, when the assessor calls at your home. If your property is an irregular shape, a sketch would be very helpful.
