Former Councillor & Farmer, John Scott Buried Wednesday

Resident in Stouffville for a number of years and farmer in the Claremont area for more than forty years, John Scott passed away at Blackstock on Sunday, Feb. 7th following a lingering illness, the result of a severe stroke.

The late John Scott was born at Altona on Oct. 10th, 1874 and farmed in the Claremont area for more than forty years. The large red barn and brick house which he built just south of the village and which he operated for thirty-five years were familiar to the many residents who travelled the 9th concession. His first wife the former Margaret Bayles predeceased him in 1916 following which he retired to Stouffville and erected a new bungalow on Park Rd. north.

He has been residing in Blackstock about a year and a half.

One of the best known men throughout this district John Scott was a director on the Markham Fair Board for forty years and held the presidency at the time the mortgage was burned in 1943. He was a member of the Claremont School Board for nine years and served on the Stouffville Municipal Council for two years as well as on the Park Commission. The late Mr. Scott was a keen livestock man and had many blue ribbons to attest to his progress as a sheep breeder. He was familiar throughout the area as a clerk of farm stock sales and handled sales for twenty five auctioneers over a period of forty five years. He was a member of the Independent Order of Workmen, later the I.O.O.F. as well as the Stouffville Lions Club. Since coming to Stouffville he had become a member of the Anglican Church.

Ken and son Douglas paid a short visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Crosby on his way from Centralia.

An odd coincidence occurred the other day involving our local Jeweller Ken Wagg and a Toronto taxi driver. The taxi driver happened to be Harry Brown, son of the late Abe Brown, formerly of Stouffville and a school student here some twenty-five years ago. Harry was making a quick dash for the hospital with an expectant mother when he collided with Ken Wagg's car. Speaking to this former school chum this week, the writer learned that Mr. Brown marvelled at the great changes in town. He has not visited here in more than ten years.

The regular monthly meeting of the Stouffville Home and School Assoc. was held on Wed., Feb. 3 at 8 p.m. in the school.

Her talk outlined the work of the Public Health Unit and its relation to the community. One point of interest of which many may not be aware, was the fact that there is a Gage Institute T.B. unit present at the Stouffville United Church every eighth week to give free chest x-rays.

Following Mrs. Abrams' address two films were shown. The first dealt with eating problems and proved very enlightening. The second showed the ageless problem of "the common cold" and the care that should be taken. After a vote of thanks to Mrs. Abrams, the meeting adjourned.

ANXIOUS TO HAVE CROSSING CORRECTED
Feeling is quite high near Gormley concerning the dangerous approach to the crossing on the Leary side road and where a recent fatality occurred. In last week's issue of The Tribune, the name of Jack Gamble was erroneously mentioned as not being favorable to giving land from his property to aid in rectifying the crossing condition. The Gambles are most anxious that some move be made to improve the visibility and according to Mrs. Gamble have not been approached concerning the giving of any land for this purpose.

The Business and Professional Womens' Club held International Night dinner at the High School on Monday evening, Feb. 1st. Miss Audrey Markham, regional advisor, conducted the candlelighting ceremony. A number of members of the Unionville Club were also present.

Interesting Letter From Miss Trotter In Greece

(continued from page one) - Relations Club. They share in the village rehabilitation project at Mavrorachi. Residence parties are sometimes joint. Plays are usually produced separately but with joint audiences. The boys did Eugene O'Neill's "Oil" in Greek for the big school bazaar, and the girls did a full-length, most charming play of "Little Women" in English for Christmas.

Many little customs here are like Moulton's. Girls have the same sweet ways and the same little tricks. I feel at home and am often reminded of the happy days of old. How thrilled I was with my Christmas cable from Moulton, with the Alumnae News sent air mail in a Christmas card, with the Class Tea Programme, with newspaper clippings of Anne Williams and Ruth Page. I am glad the re-sodding is finished, the front hall decorated, etc. By the way, many of my girls would like pen pals, and I'd appreciate hearing from anyone who would like to co-operate. Our ages are from twelve to eighteen.

I do not feel competent to discuss the political and economic situation in Greece. It is all too complex and too uncertain. There is much red tape irksome to the foreigner. There is dire poverty, especially throughout the villages, which may make them the easy prey for propaganda. American aid has been poured in, and many constructive projects started, but not always a clear-cut government policy in regard to pursuing them.

I have just received snapshots of my family taken on Christmas day including baby Victoria Jane whom I haven't seen. It is lovely to hear good news of them.

I must stop. Greek people shake hands and say "Chronia polla" for the first forty days of the new year, so it not too late for me to say it to you. It means literally "Many years" but with the glowing smile and warm handclasp that always accompany it, it means a wealth of good wishes. That's what I'm sending you.
