

Thirty-Eight Sets of Twins Ensure No Dull Moments in Guelph Schools

Representing double trouble to public school teachers at Guelph, Ont., schools are these 38 sets of identical twins. Most of the twins are between five to 10 years old—the hardest age group for teachers to identify, as their personalities have not as yet diverged. Although the harassed teachers have devised such tricks as giving each twin a different colored scarf to wear, the youngsters usually swap scarfs to further confuse the issue.
