Toronto Growth Is Greatest On Continent

Mr. Fred Gardiner, Chairman of the Metropolitan Council, told a York County audience on Monday night that only two other cities on this continent are growing at a rate comparable with Toronto. They are Dallas, Texas, and Los Angeles, California. Metropolitan Toronto's growth will be felt for a radius of one hundred miles. Four arterial highways are planned to service this huge growth. The expressway from the Humber to the Woodbine, the Don Valley Parkway, the Spadina extension and the Eglinton cross-town route. These will cost $100,000,000. They must be built to service industrial development, or it will go elsewhere. We must have industry to help finance the services necessary for our huge population.

Said Mr. Gardiner, "Our problems now are caused by the City Fathers deciding in 1912, after annexing East Toronto, West Toronto and North Toronto, that no more annexation would take place. It was too expensive to provide the services. So what happened? No annexation took place for forty years. 1952 found 13 municipalities around Toronto, each geared to a local pattern, more concerned with what was going on in their own districts than what was happening to their neighbours. 20,000 septic tanks were permitted in North York. Bedroom municipalities were all around the city. No industry balanced the assessment. This is what districts which had only living accommodation were called. $36,000,000 in assessments was at King and Bay Streets. No educational costs there. The children were in the suburbs. Forest Hill with a high assessment boasted it had the best schools and teachers in Canada. Other districts with lower assessments could not keep up with the costs of education and so lower standards prevailed. Metro is now charged with the education costs throughout the area and equal facilities are available to all.

Metro has the power to establish green belts. One spot where 14 people died in the floods of last week, never would have been used for housing if a department of planning and development had been in existence. That spot will be a Park.

The Toronto Transportation Commission is now charged with giving service in all districts comprising Metropolitan Toronto. They own all the bus routes coming into the city. There have been criticisms certainly, but we are making progress. When horse cars were established they travelled at six miles an hour. Before the opening of the subway traffic on Yonge Street was still moving at six miles an hour.

The 24 members of Metropolitan Council accepted the challenge and are working together, solutions to the problems are being found. Mistakes made over a forty year period cannot be rectified in a year or two. Mr. Gardiner ended his remarks with a quotation from Abraham Lincoln. "If he were to answer all the complaints received he would have no time for work. If he succeeds, the complaints will be of no account, and if he failed, ten angels from heaven could not proclaim how he was right."

Although the church was filled, the public turnout to the annual Remembrance Day Service in Stouffville was poor. The greater portion of the church pews were filled with members of the various boys' and girls' groups taking part in the parade as well as the Legion members. The service, held on Sunday afternoon in the Presbyterian Church, was addressed by Rev. G. Robins, former Melville pastor who recently returned from England. Assisting in the service were Rev. Douglas Davis and Rev. H. Branton. Rev. Mr. Robins delivered a most moving address, centred around the words, "Remembrance Day, 1954". Prior to the service the Veterans paraded to the Cemetery where the soldier graves were decorated. Following the service the parade moved to Memorial Park gates where Councillor Glenn Ratcliff made a few remarks and wreaths were placed. The Provincial Government wreath was laid by Mrs. O. Trammer, the Village of Stouffville wreath by Councillor Ratcliff, Veterans' Association by Mrs. F. Fairles and Ladies' Auxiliary by Mrs. W. Smith.
