GROWING PAINS
moment, he was making change, consequently could not go to the switchboard for some moments. Having raised central, the person who was making the call said, "Markham, please". The odds were against the caller that our party-long-distance line was busy, but if he had the good fortune to make the call when the line was clear, Stouffville would ring Markham until the attention of some person who was busy attending to customers, was attracted. The caller then gave the name of the person to be called, and designated the line on which he was located. The Markham operator made the call and, having made the connection, returned to her work of waiting on customers. When the talkers had ended their conversation, they might, or they might not, give the ring-off signal, and the operator might or might not hear it. It frequently happened that the connection was left up, and while this continued possibly seventy or eighty telephones were connected on one immense party line. When this happened—as it frequently did—if weather conditions were unfavorable, it was almost impossible to obtain an answer from telephones that were more than a short distance away, and our subscribers learned, by experience, that it was possible to work their calls through by calling some telephone at an intermediate point and have the call relayed. On the other hand it was surprising to sometimes have your ring answered from a most distant point. John Neilson, who lived at Highland Creek, had the same signal as the writer had and it was no uncommon occurrence, when weather conditions were right; for us to both answer the same ring. To do this, about 35 miles of metallic circuit, and the resistance of possibly fifty telephones had to be overcome.
Our first construction work, in the spring of 1905, was the dividing of our rural line, making it into two party-lines. To do this was simple. We erected another metallic circuit from Stouffville to Ringwood and connected all telephones located between Stouffville and Ringwood, and those on the 8th Con. line and in Markham Village, on one party-line; and all west of Ringwood on another line. While this made a great improvement, the line to Markham was still our long-distance line and also a party-line, giving local service. Moreover, the relief was only temporary; more telephones were installed and lines were again overloaded.
Again we obtained temporary relief by installing a switching telephone in Gormley Post Office, and all telephones south and west of that point were connected on a separate line. But again, this relief was non-existent if the plug was not pulled at the switch.
Early in 1906 our Directors began planning reconstruction, in anticipation of important expansion. An order was placed for a 50-line switchboard. Heavy 35-ft. poles were erected along the main street of Stouffville. It was also planned to reconstruct the pole line from Stouffville to Gormley by erecting heavy poles capable of carrying several cross-arms, making it possible to subdivide our existing lines and to add new lines when increasing business might make that necessary. We advertised for 1,000 poles suitable for our proposed trunk line from Gormley to Stouffville, and obtained all of them locally at $1.00 per pole.
This plan for reconstruction, in 1906—looking to the future—was one of the most important that we have ever made, and its adoption indicates the confidence of the Directors in the future of the Company.
We had come far since that day—two years previously—when we had decided that if we could obtain twelve members in our Association, we would build a telephone line to Stouffville.

WEDDINGS
JONES-MEYER
Pink and white Snapdragons decorated the living-room at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Meyer Wednesday, January 12, when their daughter, Dorothy Emma Meyer was given in marriage by her father to Mr. John Allan Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon L. Jones. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. Huson. Miss Shirley Jones acted as Bridesmaid and Mr. Paul Meyer as best man. Mrs. F. Huson sang "O, Perfect Love" and the "Wedding Prayer". The wedding march was played by Miss Marion Corner. Mr. Arthur Wideman and Mr. Fred Byer acted as ushers. Mrs. Arthur Wideman and Mrs. Fred Byer were table waitresses. After the wedding dinner the bride and groom left for Florida to spend their honeymoon. Upon their return they will make their home on the 9th con. of Markham.
BRAZIER-LAW
Grace Anglican Church, Markham, Ont., was the scene of the wedding of Sharon Constance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Law, and James W. Brazier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Brazier. Rev. R. A. Wigby officiated.
Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a waltz-length gown of white net and Chantilly lace over satin, with an empire bodice. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a pearl-trimmed Mary Stuart cap. She carried a cascade of white carnations and red roses. Miss Erin Wilton, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She was gowned in taffeta with tiny matching velvet hat. Her flowers were a cascade of iris and pale yellow carnations. Mr. Gordon Wallace was best man. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The couple will live in Markham.

Friends will regret to learn of the serious mishap which befell Mrs. Milton Clark of Peterboro, well-known as a visitor at the H. O. Klinck and Frank Rowbotham homes in Stouffville. Mrs. Clark is presently in a cast from her hip up, having suffered a broken back several weeks ago in the Clark home. It appears that she had got up, during the night to investigate a noise which turned out to be a squirrel that had entered the house through a window slot, when she took the tumble.

The local United Church auditorium was crowded for the Sunday morning service when the entire Sunday School met with the congregation and awards were made to those who had attended Sunday School regularly for forty-five Sundays or more in 1954. More than forty received awards. There are fourteen classes in the Sunday School which had an average attendance for the year of one hundred and fifty. Mr. Delbert Booth who has been superintendent for some years is leaving the post as the family has moved from townland and the new superintendent will be Mr. Stewart Stouffer.

The death occurred in Toronto recently of Anne Margaret Ward, widow of the late A. J. Ward, formerly of Stouffville. Surviving are six daughters and three sons. The funeral was conducted from the Elliott Funeral Home and interment was made in the Stouffville Cemetery. The Ward family when residents here occupied the property which is now the Brierbush Hospital. The name "Brierbush" was given to the home by the late Mrs. Ward and later adopted by the hospital when it acquired the place. The late Mr. Ward occupied a seat on the Stouffville Council for several terms and his ready wit is well recalled by many in town. A number of fine religious books are presently in the Stouffville Library, a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Ward.
