Smothers Fire with Boiling Water

Whitevale Mother

Mrs. James O'Brien of White-vale battled flames in the living room ceiling of her frame home single-handed on Friday night. She had the fire under control when the Brougham brigade arrived.

The outbreak occurred ar ound midnight after Mrs. O Brien had put her four chil-dren to bed. She was working in the kitchen and smelled smoke. After calling the Brougham brigade she raced upstairs and roused the children. By this time the fire had ignited the rafters in the ceiling and in a desperate effort to extinguish the baze she grabbed kettles of boiling water off the stove and doused the flames. Her right arm was scalded. A

Markham Council Charges Price Fixing Among Eight Culvert Supply Firms

"I would take all the tenders and mail them to Ottawa to the Combines Investigating Committee," declared reeve Alf. LeMasurier on Monday afternoon when Markham Township Council opened tenders for their supply of culvert pipe for this year. Eight firms tendered on the contract and the prices of all eight were identical.

Reeve LeMasurier told council that the Ottawa Committee had acted against the paper industry and could. act against the metal product firms as well.

Engineer Jack Howard suggested that the tenders be turned over to the road committee but reeve Le-Masurier pressed for action on the alleged price fixing and it was finally agreed that Councillor Deacon should draft a letter which could accompany the tenders to Ottawa and which would be scrutinized by council next Monday night.

Reeve LeMasurier said that if all municipalities would rebel against such tactics competitive prices could result in much saving for the taxpayers.
