Confectioners' sugar

door to hold mending equipment such as thread, needles, scissors, etc.
Odd trays and pottery, seldom used vases? These should be stored high, perhaps above a refrigerator or in a small closet. Use vertical trays for keeping the trays easily accessible.
Small shallow closets underneath a working surface can be used to create order for pot and pan chaos. Use hooks on which to hang pans and you won't have to shuffle through several to find the size you want.
For pans and utensils frequently used, attach peg boards to kitchen walls from which to hang pans right near the range or mixing center. They can be decorative as well as convenient.
Deep rather than narrow shelves in your cabinets? Movable shelves in between these will give you more storage space.

Load of Shifts, Truck Ditched, Driver Killed

A truck company owner was killed near Belhaven Friday night when a six-ton load of steel on his truck shifted and threw the truck off the highway into a tree.
Jack McEachern, 46, of Pefferlaw, was killed instantly. His companion, Gerald Westgarth, of Ucora, was removed to York County hospital with facial cuts.
The truck was en route to Beaverton from Toronto with the steel. Going into a sharp curve on a county road in N. Gwillimbury, the steel shifted forward onto the cab and then hung sideways.
McEachern seldom drove one of the trucks, but just happened to take this trip.
