WHEN you're doing your big cleaning for the season, wear one of those aprons with several pockets so that you can stuff cleaners, sponges and dusting cloths into them. The pockets are also very nice when you're doing picking up in rooms.

Long handled brushes are excellent for reaching over to the other side of the bathtub when you scrub it. They're also fine for cleaning other hard-to-reach places.

Now is a good time to apply a cleaning and polishing wax to window sills since you're going to

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Tomato Curry Rarebit
(Serves 4)

3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup drained canned or cubed fresh tomatoes
3 cups grated sharp Cheddar cheese
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon curry powder

Blend together melted butter, flour and milk. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add tomato and cheese. After cheese is thoroughly melted, add seasonings. Serve over toast triangles.

keep windows open more often. A good wax polish on the sills can be wiped off easily after rain splatters which might otherwise penetrate the wood.

For waxed floors, use one of the new long lasting floor waxes applied with a long-handled applicator to save your knees. The new waxes will last for two or three months without renewal, and the floor needs only to be wiped when it's soiled.

Sponge your painted walls with a non-abrasive cleaner to remove finger and dust marks. You'll save a lot of painting this way and live in cleaner surroundings.

York C'ty Levy Down

Stouffville will be called on to pay $11,913.44 into the county coffers in 1955 or about $4,000 less than last year, according to a statement just received here at the clerk's office.

Reeve Marshall McMurchy of the Vaughan Township heads the York County Finance Committee and found it necessary to do some "trimming" to come up with better figures than last year. The county was faced with a pre-sent $60,000 increase by virtue of the payment promised to the county hospital by last year's council. In addition, the county this year has to allow for some items which were operating only part of 1954.

Offsetting the fact that there were nine increased items among a breakdown of 25 different costs, the finance committee has a larger assessment upon which to levy. The County of York assessment, when equalized from the 14 municipalities' assessors' rolls, shows a gain in 1955 of $1,652,784. That increase is in part the result of re-assessing plus the increase in new residences, new commercial and new industrial assessments within the county. The gain over-all is a shade better than three percent, from $50,000,000 to $51,652,784.

The greatest increase in any item of York County's costs was in the expenditure for the Children's Aid Society, which asked for a budget increase from $54,000 to $75,000. When the York Children's Aid had submitted its requirements, it had shown that $85,436 was needed; nevertheless its budget was cut down. Another large increase is in the juvenile and family court costs, from $4,868 to $15,000.

The cost of interest on York indebtedness climbed because last year's interest was apportioned between the old and new county organizations. A sum of $10,000 is included for 1955. The reforestation committee, which last year held costs to only $793 will require $2,000 in 1955. Health Unit costs for 1955, set at $37,000, makes a large increase from the $37,000 spent last year, but the Unit has many enlarged services. The county assessor's office will cost $5,000 with a full-time official, instead of the 1954 policy of having a man doing partial work for the county.

The most important of all cuts made in the budget was the slash in expenditure for the Toronto and York Roads Commission; from $215,000 last year to a total allowance of $137,000 this year. That $137,000 will have, in addition, a further $80,000 for road construction purposes, which is being debentured, with approval of the Ontario Municipal Board, into 10 yearly payments.
