

New energy ingredient wins!

The above new poult weighed 5.3 pounds in 9 weeks of feeding on Swift's New Turkey Starter. The extra half pound gained over other birds fed ordinary feeds is the result of Swift's new energy ingredient—Calogen.

TESTS PROVE POUTS FED

SWIFT'S TURKEY STARTER WITH CALOGEN

GAIN EXTRA 1/2 LB. IN 9 WEEKS...

Results of recent tests prove that Swift's New Turkey Starter with the powerful new energy ingredient Calogen cause poult to mature much faster with less grain fed! In 9 weeks poult fed Swift's Turkey Starter averaged 5.3 pounds—one half pound more than poult fed on ordinary starting feeds without Calogen.

That means that each ton of Swift's Turkey Starter gives you extra growth worth about $27. This points the way to earlier maturity, which means less feed, more profits. Feed savings could easily total one-half to three tons per year depending on the size of the flock.

The reason for these startling results is Calogen, a special blend of animal fats and associated trace nutrients that deliver two and one-half times more energy than grains.

About three-quarters of the feed now eaten by your poult is used for heat and energy. Calogen supplies this need and releases the proven high protein content in Swift's Turkey Starter for the profitable body-building job it was intended.

Besides Calogen, Swift's Turkey Starter contains a full quota of animal and vegetable protein and antibiotics for speedy growth. See your Swift's Dealer. He's ready to discuss Swift's New Turkey Starter with you and develop a tailor-made feeding program especially for your needs.

Ontario Candidates Up To 300 For Election

It is likely that more than 300 candidates will be in the field when more than 3,000,000 Ontario electors go to the polls on June 9.

The three main parties, Progressive Conservative, Liberal and CCF, plan to contest all of the 98 seats and several Labor-Progressive candidates are expected to be nominated, as well as a sprinkling of Independents, Social Credit and other fringe organizations.

The June 9 election will be Premier Frost's second appeal at the polls for continued support of the Progressive Conservative administration which has been in power in Ontario since 1943.

Premier Frost was elected party leader on April 27, 1949, succeeding T. L. Kennedy who became caretaker premier when George Drew went to Ottawa as national Conservative leader in 1948.

In the Nov. 22, 1951, vote, when Premier Frost sought his first mandate as premier, his party all but annihilated opposition ranks, gaining 79 of the 98 seats at stake.

The Liberals were reduced from 14 to eight members and became the official Opposition when the CCF returned only two members, compared with the 21 they had had before the election. One Communist, J. B. Salsberg, completed the makeup of the 24th Legislature.

The Government won all by-elections since 1951, including Niagara Falls where the Victoria was a gain from the Liberals.

This was offset by the death of Welland S. Gemmel, Lands and Forest Minister, who represented Sudbury, and the resignation of Provincial Secretary Arthur Welsh, leaving Muskoka riding open.

The party standings now are: Progressive Conservatives 78, Liberals 7, CCF 2, Labor-Progressive 1, Vacant 2.

Total 90

As a result of redistribution, approved at the 1953 session, 98 seats will be contested.

The eight new seats are Ottawa West, which give the capital three ridings; London South, giving that city two ridings; Nettle Belt, a seventh riding for the north country; Oshawa, result of splitting the Ontario part of Muskoka—Ontario; Wentworth East, a fifth riding for Hamilton, and York Centre, York Scarborough and York Humber.

The election will be the first since its expulsion of 14 Trotskyite members and the resignation of Rosa Thatcher over disagreement with the federal party's policies. Stouffville voters will cast ballots as part of York North riding.

New Picnic Facilities For Town Park

Building materials are on the ground and work is to commence this week on a large picnic shelter and new refreshment booth in Memorial Park, both to be under one roof and both the gift of Mr. Ar. Latcham whose wonderful gifts to the local park have made it second to none in the province for communities the size of Stouffville.

The new picnic shelter is to be a little over eighty feet in length and about twenty-six feet wide with plenty of space to house two picnics at one time in case of rain. The refreshment booth which has been in a dilapidated condition for several years, is to be replaced by an up-to-date stand as part of the picnic shelter. The entire project to be built immediately south of the tennis courts will have nearly 1700 sq. ft. under one roof. The floor will be of the polished cement type which can be readily used for dancing if desired.

Stouffville Memorial Park is already booked solid with Saturday picnics throughout the summer, and many will no doubt avail themselves of these new accommodations.
