Local Voters to Nominate Town's First Deputy-Reeve a new phase of municipal life this year when, for the first time, nominations will be received for the office of deputytake on the same form as that of a township council having a reeve, a deputy-reeve and three councillors. While the new office does not add to the total number of local council members, it does give Stouffville an added voice at County Council. The move is brought about by reason of the steady increase in the number of voters. One thousand eligible voters, that is, owners and tenants, are required before a deputy-reeve can be elected and one thousand and twenty such are listed this year.
