

News of the World in Pictures

OUT OF ACTION—A French general inspects a batch of Berber tribesmen who came to surrender on outskirts of Oued Zem, Morocco. Rebels killed 80 French near here.

QUITE A RANGE—Hired the same day at a Tulsa, Okla., plane company were skyscraping Ken Leatherman, seven feet tall, and Carson Atkins, who measures 4 foot, one inch. Leatherman and Atkins are working on B-47 jet bombers.

EIGHTEEN YEARS LATER—Katherine Katsaros, 21, is kissed by her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Katsaros, of Batavia, O., when they were reunited on a nation-wide TV program in New York. Couple adopted Katherine on a visit to Greece 18 years ago.

NEW TENANT—A new occupant, Alvaro Obregon, son of the martyred president of Mexico, now lives in the Governor's Palace at Hermosillo ("the little beauty"), capital of Sonora, Mexico. He became governor in inauguration ceremony in September.

A LOT OF BOLOGNA—Aida Colma hefts a 10-pound example of why Bologna, Italy, is famous as Europe's sausage manufacturing center. It won the prize in annual contest.

A POWERFUL DISPLAY

AN INDUSTRIAL CIRCUS, with mechanical horsepower replacing four legged kind, is packing them in along Chicago's lakefront to see "Powerama," the salute to the 250 displays of diesel and turbine-powered products. The new passenger cars may have glamor, but these heavy-duty boys do the work. Roaring diesel-engined locomotives, saw-mills, oil-drilling rigs and huge earth-moving vehicles, including a 50-ton dump truck, are on stage four times a day. Jet engines and ordnance equipment are also part of the carnival. Other show events include a tractor hoe-down.

Fair is spread over one million square feet. Circular area is "main tent" of big show.

Stage show features aerial act suspended from a crane boom. It's part of hour show.

A ROUGH COURSE—One of education's traditional "three-R's" stands for riding at the Southern Arizona School for Boys in Tucson. Youngsters from all over the country are glad to be back at the ranch school, where polo is one of many riding sports taught.

WEST MEETS EAST—Japanese star Machiko Kyo (right) strolls hand in hand with British actress Janette Scott at a film festival in Venice, attended by stars of many nations.

This 50-ton dump truck, converted into swimming pool, holds 7,000 gallons of water.