THE CHURCH IN EUROPE

Golden Text—But we preach Christ crucified, unto the Jews a stumblingblock, and unto the Greeks foolishness; but unto them which are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God, and the wisdom of God.—1 Cor. 1:23, 24

THE LESSON AS A WHOLE

Approach to the Lesson
This week's lesson focuses on a vision at Troas and a ministry at Corinth.

Or your map of St. Paul's journeys locate the Roman province of Asia, which is the western portion of what we call Asia Minor. Near the north end of the west coast of Asia, not far from the narrow strait called the Hellespont, which divides Asia from Europe, you will find Troas. In a northwesterly direction, across the Aegean Sea, you will locate Philippi, where Paul and Silas began their Macedonian campaign.

Now look southwest from Troas to the fingers of Greece, or Achaia. On one of the eastern inlets you will find Corinth. Corinth was a new city, built by Julius Caesar in 46 B.C. on the site of the old city which had lain in ruins since Lucius Mummius had destroyed it a century before. This new city of Corinth had quickly become a commercial center of the first order. In a very short time great wealth had been amassed by its inhabitants. With the wealth came a veneer of culture. But it was not the learned refinement of Athens, and beneath that thin layer there was a voluptuousness and an abandonment to immoral practices which made the city a byword in all Greece. To say of anyone that he lived like a Corinthian was to mark him as utterly degraded. The temple of Aphrodite, voluptuous and magnificent, supported a thousand ministers of vice. It was to this city that Paul came from Athens "in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling," but determined to "save Jesus Christ, if it might be." (1 Cor. 2:2).

Verse 16:—"They were to be children of the Holy Ghost to praise the word in Asia. Look for these districts on a map of St. Paul's journeys. They are in the western half of Asia Minor. Note the restraining of the Holy Spirit.

Verse 17:—"Mysia . . . Bythynia; but the Spirit suffered them not." Mysia was the northwest section of the province of Asia. From its eastern portion it was but a step north into Bithynia, which spread along the southern shore of the Black Sea.

Verse 8:—"And they came down to Troas." This brings us to the west coast of Asia, on the Aegean Sea, a large bay of the Mediterranean.

Verse 9:—"And a vision appeared to Paul . . . a man of Macedonia . . . Come over and help us." There is little use speculating about the identity of the man of Macedonia. The vision represented the need of the lands across the Aegean Sea to the west. There is no indication that Paul ever met one to whom he said, "You are the man I saw in my vision!" The first convert in Macedonia was a woman (v. 14).

Verse 10:—"Immediately we endeavoured to go into Macedonia . . . the Lord had called us." Paul did not dictate the course of the group. They unitedly interpreted the vision. The "we" in this verse indicates the presence of Luke, writer of the Acts, in the company.

Chap. 18:5—Silas and Timothy . . . Paul was pressed in the spirit, and testified to the Jews that Jesus was Christ." For "pressed in the spirit" read "pressed by the word" (A.S.V.), and compare Jeremiah 20:9.

Verse 6:—"And when they . . . blasphemed, he shook his raiment . . . Your blood be upon your own heads. . . I will go unto the Gentiles." Paul's vigorous testimony forced the issue and brought the slumbering opposition to a climax. His action was not of a conciliatory nature. The lines were too clearly drawn for conciliatory measures. This is the second time he had turned from the Jews to the Gentiles (13:45, 46).

Verse 7:—"And he entered into a certain man's house, named

Mr. Herb Moorby spent the weekend at Aurora, New York.
Susie Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Jones, fell in Stouffville park on Friday and brother at Barrie recently.
We hope you'll soon be feeling better, Susie. Miss Sylvia Jones spent the weekend at the Jones home.
The parents, grandparents and friends who attended the school music festival in Uxbridge last Wednesday evening certainly enjoyed themselves and are proud of the children who took part. The Altona pupils and their teacher, Mrs. Woodcock are to be congratulated on their part in the festival. Altona's contribution to the scene—the Stained Glass Windows—was really a work of art. Our thanks, also, to Mrs. Colby for her untiring efforts to put on such a musical display.
Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bunker were Sunday supper guests of their grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wagg of Mount Albert.
Wedding bells will soon be ringing in our community.
Mrs. Elwood Elson and Shirley and a few other relatives attended a shower in Toronto last week in honour of Miss Nelda Elson who will be one of this year's June brides.
Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Al Jakeman and family were Mr. R. S. Chambers and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Ward, Claremont.
Mr. and Mrs. Orval Fretz entertained Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lewis and boys to dinner on Sunday.
Mrs. Reg. McKay of Stouffville spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Hill.

ON THE FARM

Today's Living is measured in Kilowatt-hours

Ontario Hydro's first rural line, extending from Baden and Petersburg to St. Agatha, near Kitchener, was strung in 1913, and in that same year, the first farm service connected. Since that time, rural electrification has advanced steadily. Today in this, Hydro's Golden Jubilee Year, 87% of Ontario's farmers are served with electricity.

That the future holds numerous new and unique uses for electricity in agriculture is certain. Already, two-way radio is used as a means of communication. Electrified hot beds step up the planting timetable. Electricity refrigerates seasonal products for year-round distribution, and lighting can be used to create artificial conditions more favourable for plant growth.

Electricity will continue to play an important part in the economic growth of Ontario, and it is the aim of Hydro to provide an adequate supply of electricity . . . so vital to our province's homes, farms and industries.
