Tent Meetings Draw Big Crowds

Large crowds are attending the Crusade for Christ services now being held each evening at 8:00 p.m. on the Markham Fair Grounds. These tent meetings began Sunday evening, June 10, and continue for three weeks.

The Crusade, sponsored by the Christian Laymen's Tent Evangelism Inc., of Orrville, Ohio, is here by invitation of the Evangelical Churches in the Markham area. The Fair grounds site is an ideal one and its location and facilities will make it convenient for thousands of people to attend the services.

The evangelist is Myron S. Augsburg of Harrisonburg, Virginia. Young and dynamic, he has preached to thousands of people in Canada and the United States.

The song leader is J. Mark Stauffer, head of the music department, Eastern Mennonite College, Harrisonburg, Virginia; he also directs the Mennonite Hour Chorus in its world-wide ministry.

The equipment manager is Paul A. Neuschwander, an electrical engineer, of Kidron, Ohio. He has served with the campaign since its beginning five years ago.

Besides the staff families, there are two secretaries and a general maintenance man. The entire Crusade staff is dedicated to serve Christ and the spiritual needs of men and women in the Crusade area.

The huge tent is 107 ft. by 227 ft. with four centre poles. The raising of the big canvas required four tractors and thirty men. The tractors were operated by Ernest Hoover, Leonard Hoover, Oliver Shank and Arthur Burkholder.

A similar tent was destroyed last year in a hurricane while on a campaign in Pennsylvania and the cost of replacement was $10,000. This is the fifth year the organization has been in operation. Following the Markham campaign the group will move to Clarence Centre, N.Y., just outside of Buffalo.

bags or other containers which may have come in contact with diseased tubers. All storages should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected after old crop potatoes are removed.

Several satisfactory materials are available for disinfection purposes, among which is a comparatively new one, yet commonly used, known as quarternary ammonium compound, now sold under several well-known trade names. It should be used at the rate of 1 pint in 35 gallons of water. A 2 percent lysol solution may also be used.

Other materials in common use are: one pound of bluestone in ten gallons of water, or one pint formalin in thirty gallons of water.

Bags should be soaked for two hours. In the case of storage space, some growers follow the custom of yearly whitewashing, which is a highly recommended practice.

Further particulars may be obtained from Agricultural Representatives in every county and district, your nearest seed or table stock potato inspector, or your nearest branch of Canada or Provincial Department of Agriculture.

BOX GROVE

The June meeting of the Box Grove W.A. was held last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Haines. Highlights of the evening were a sale of leftovers from the last year's bazaar and a stork shower for one of the members. One of the topics under discussion was the erection of a sign in front of the Church and the planting of bushes on the bank. After the meeting was closed, a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Dowdell and the hostess. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Walter, when the projects will be "Sunshine Pennies," one penny for every day of sunshine during June, and aprons for the bazaar.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Russ Jarvis who celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary last Sunday and also to Mr. and Mrs. Scotty Black who will be

Should Take Care To Prevent Ring Rot

As a prevention against infection from Bacterial Ring Rot in potatoes which often results in serious crop losses, a few simple precautions should be taken, says the Field Crops Branch, Ont. Dept. of Agriculture. The use of high quality seed will of course be the first step in paying big dividends, by way of a guarantee against Bacterial Ring Rot and other seed-borne diseases. Good seed will be more likely to produce strong and vigorous plants with a bigger crop which will also conform more closely to the true type for the variety.

If machinery such as planters, mechanical cutters, and graders are being moved and used from one farm to another, each machine should be thoroughly disinfected, as well as any pails,
