

News of the World in Pictures

LINK WITH THE FUTURE—The first link in the $9,000,000 expressway linking San Juan, Puerto Rico, with International airport is nearing completion. The airport is at top center. The expressway will be four miles long.

FIGHTING GLAD—Returning to the White House following a news conference, President Eisenhower is all smiles after seemingly enjoying his battle of wits with newsmen. He appeared to be full of vigor.

HURRICANE HUNTER—This F2H-2P Banshee photo jet plane of light photographic squadron 62, Jacksonville, Fla., is photographing hurricane phenomena.

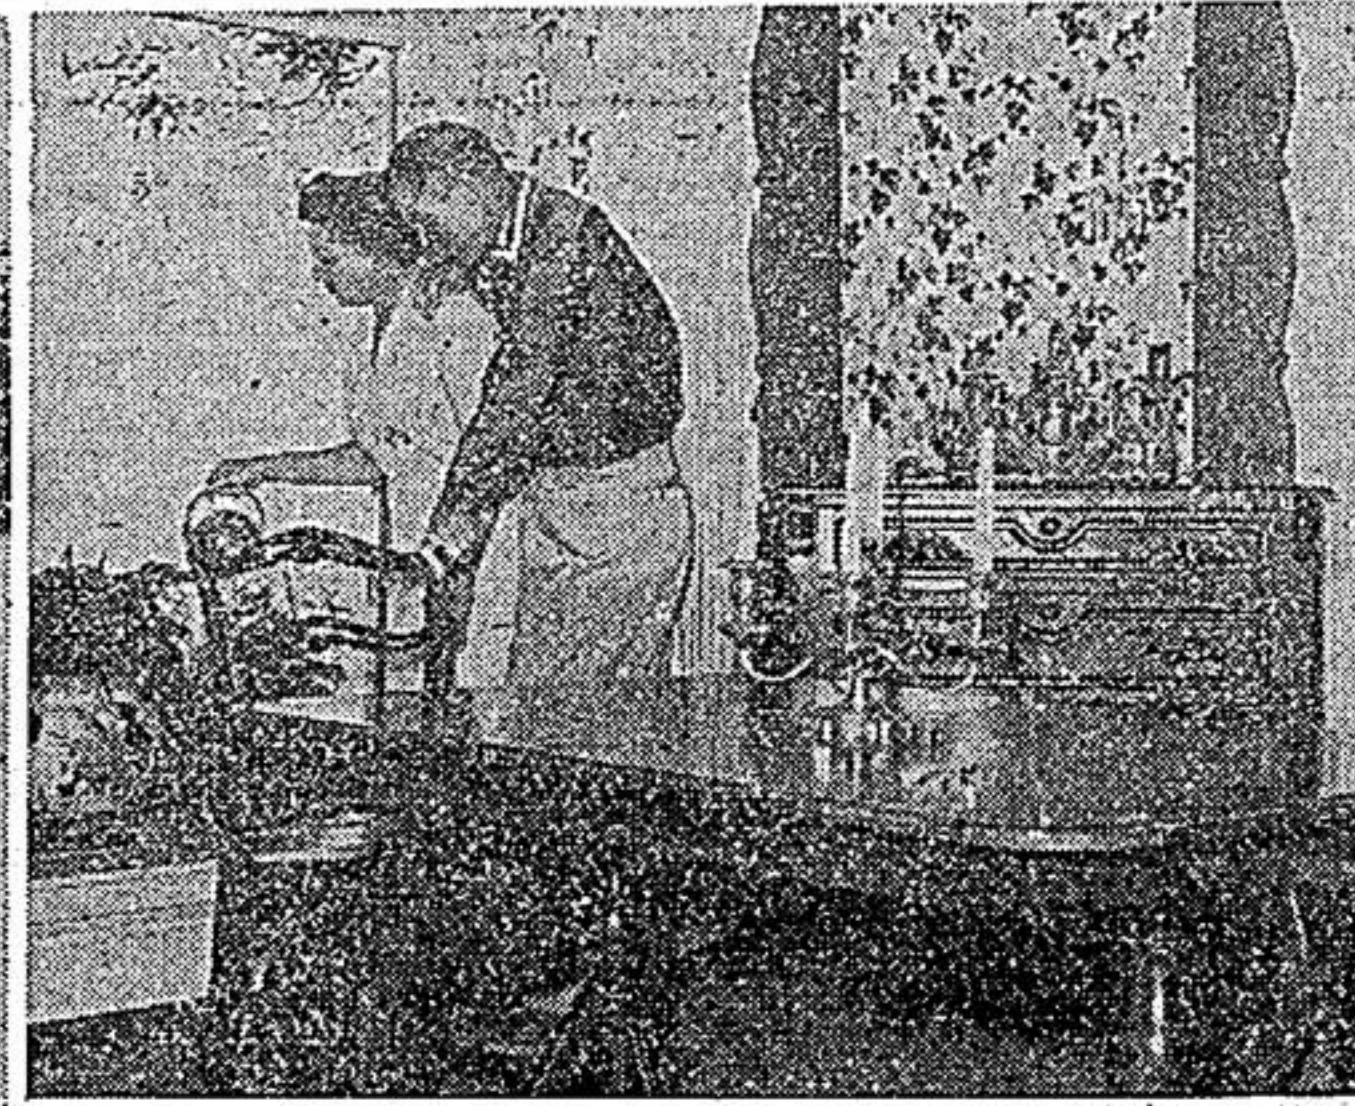

RECEIVING HER WINGS—Toni King of Great Neck, Long Island, gets her wings from Harri R. Kranen of Porto Alegre, Brazil, during dedication ceremonies at the International Flight Mall at Roosevelt field, New York. Two hundred foreign aviation cadets, from 22 nations, in the Civil Air Patrol international cadet exchange program took part in the "cradle of aviation" ceremonies.

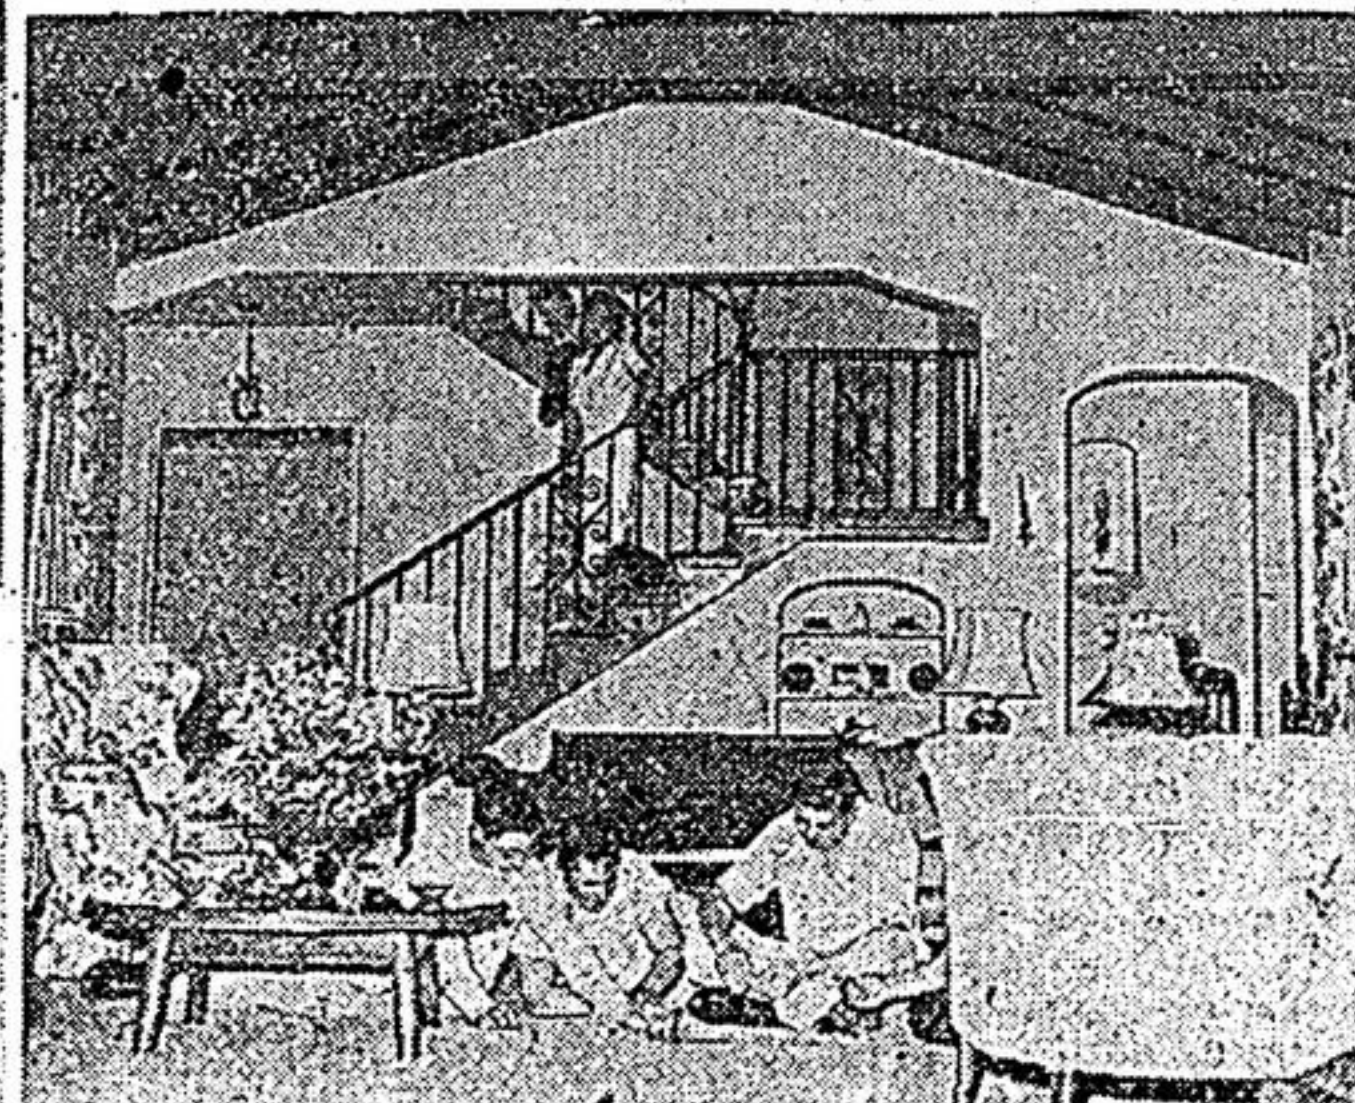

At Home with the Stars

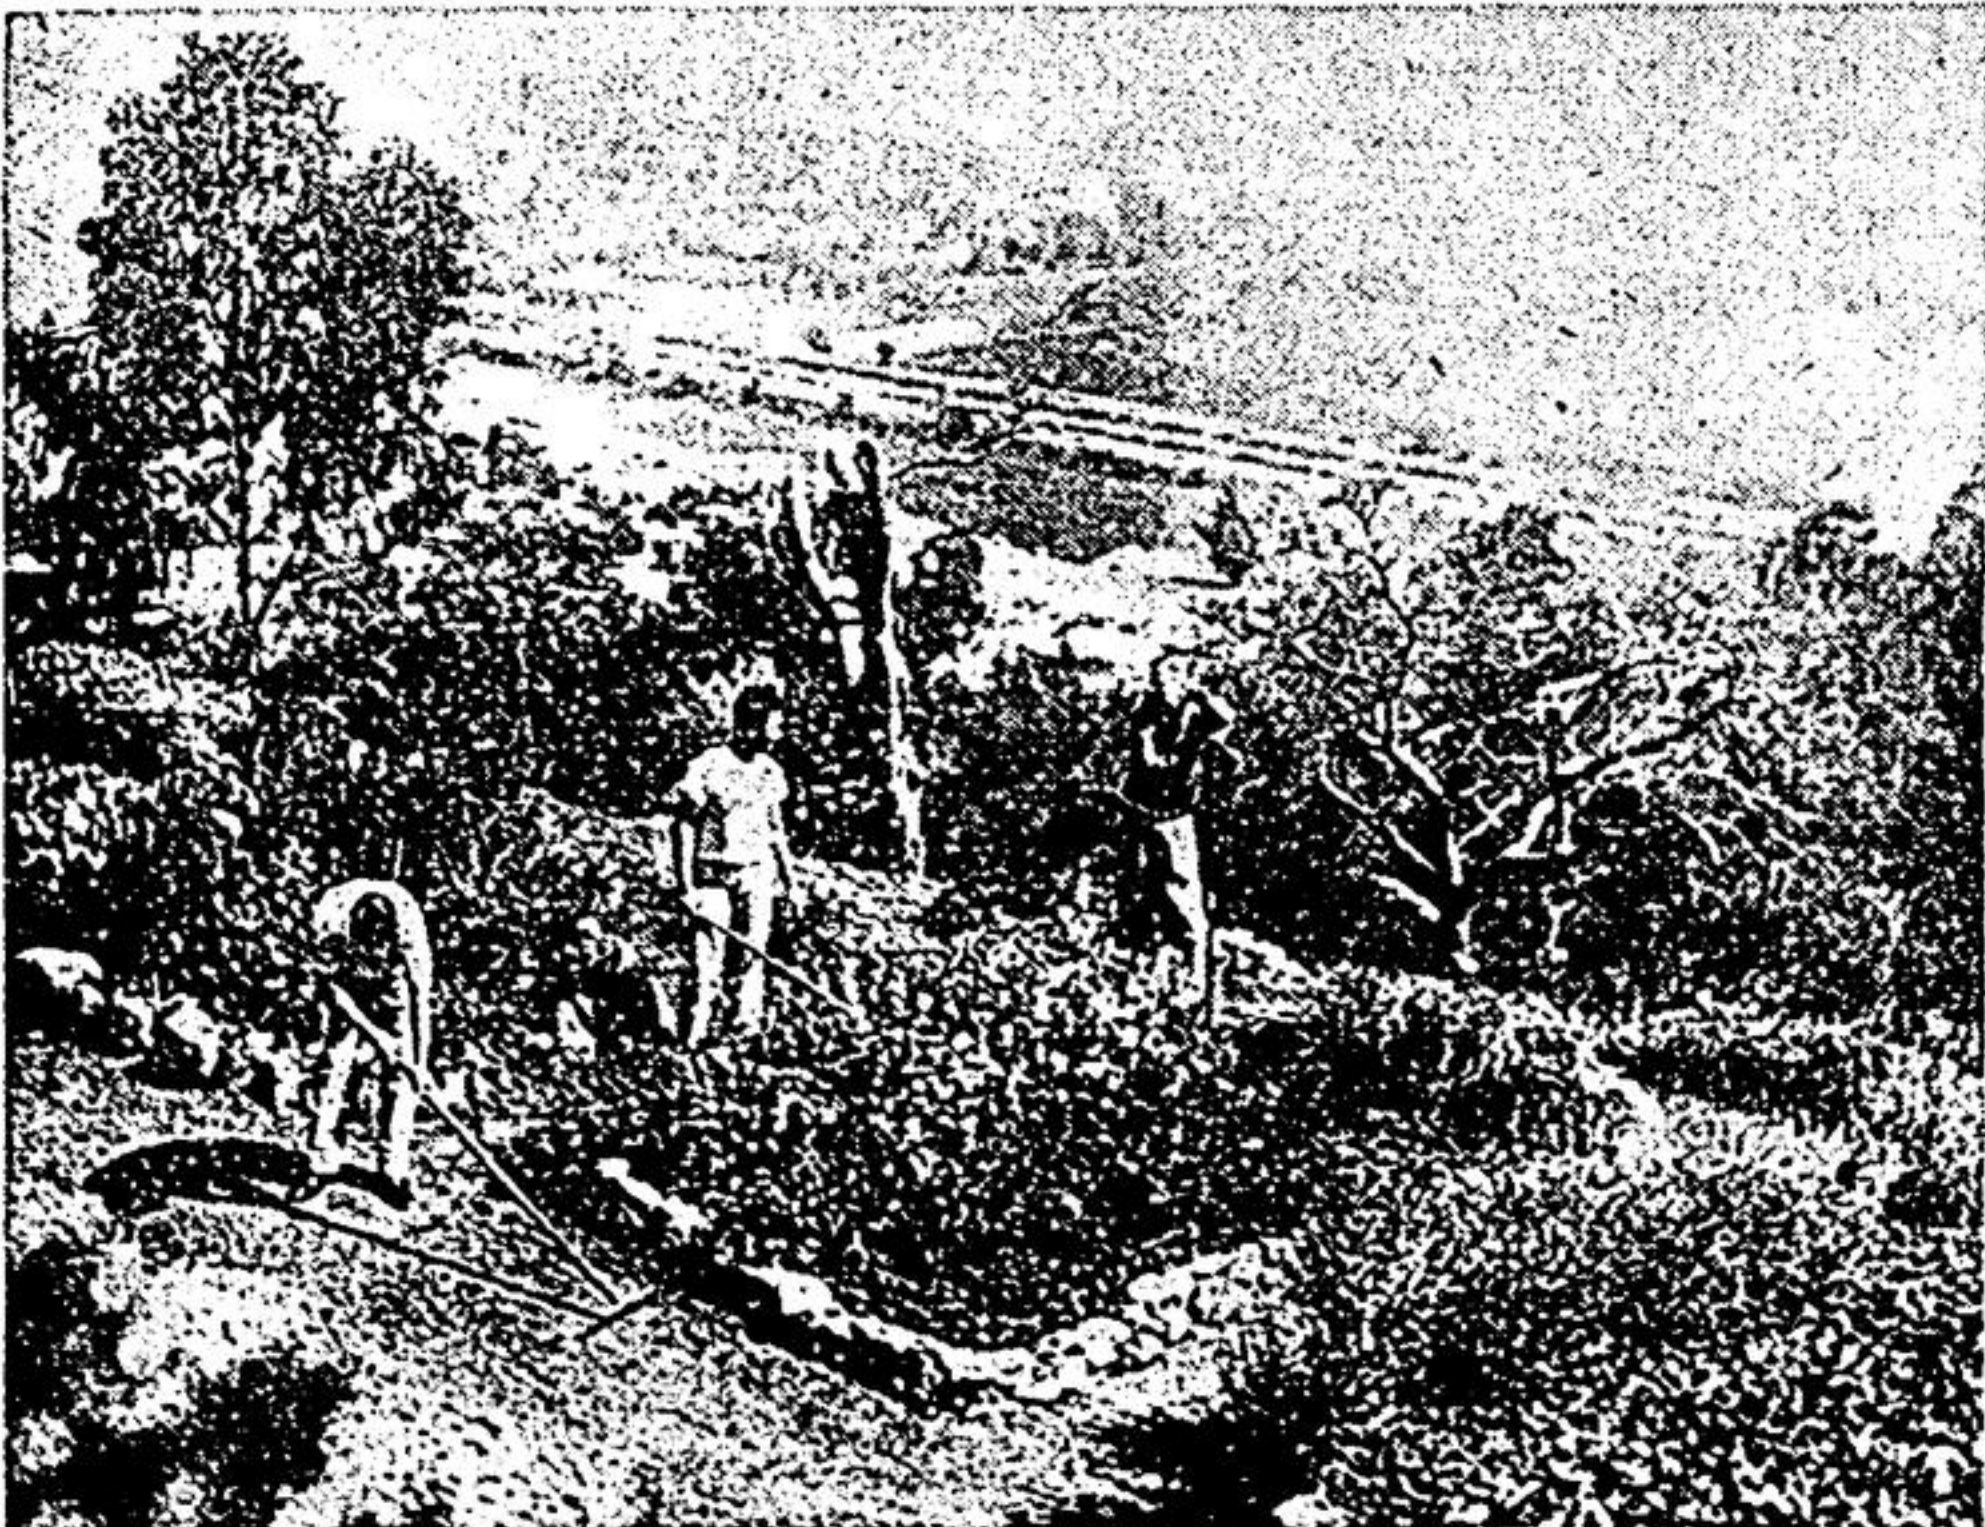

DAN AND MRS. DURYEA stand in front of their Spanish-type, sprawling hilltop home on Mulholland drive, Los Angeles. Overlooking all the city, the home's visibility is unlimited to the Pacific ocean. He is TV's "China Smith."

Watering plants in formal, handsome living room.

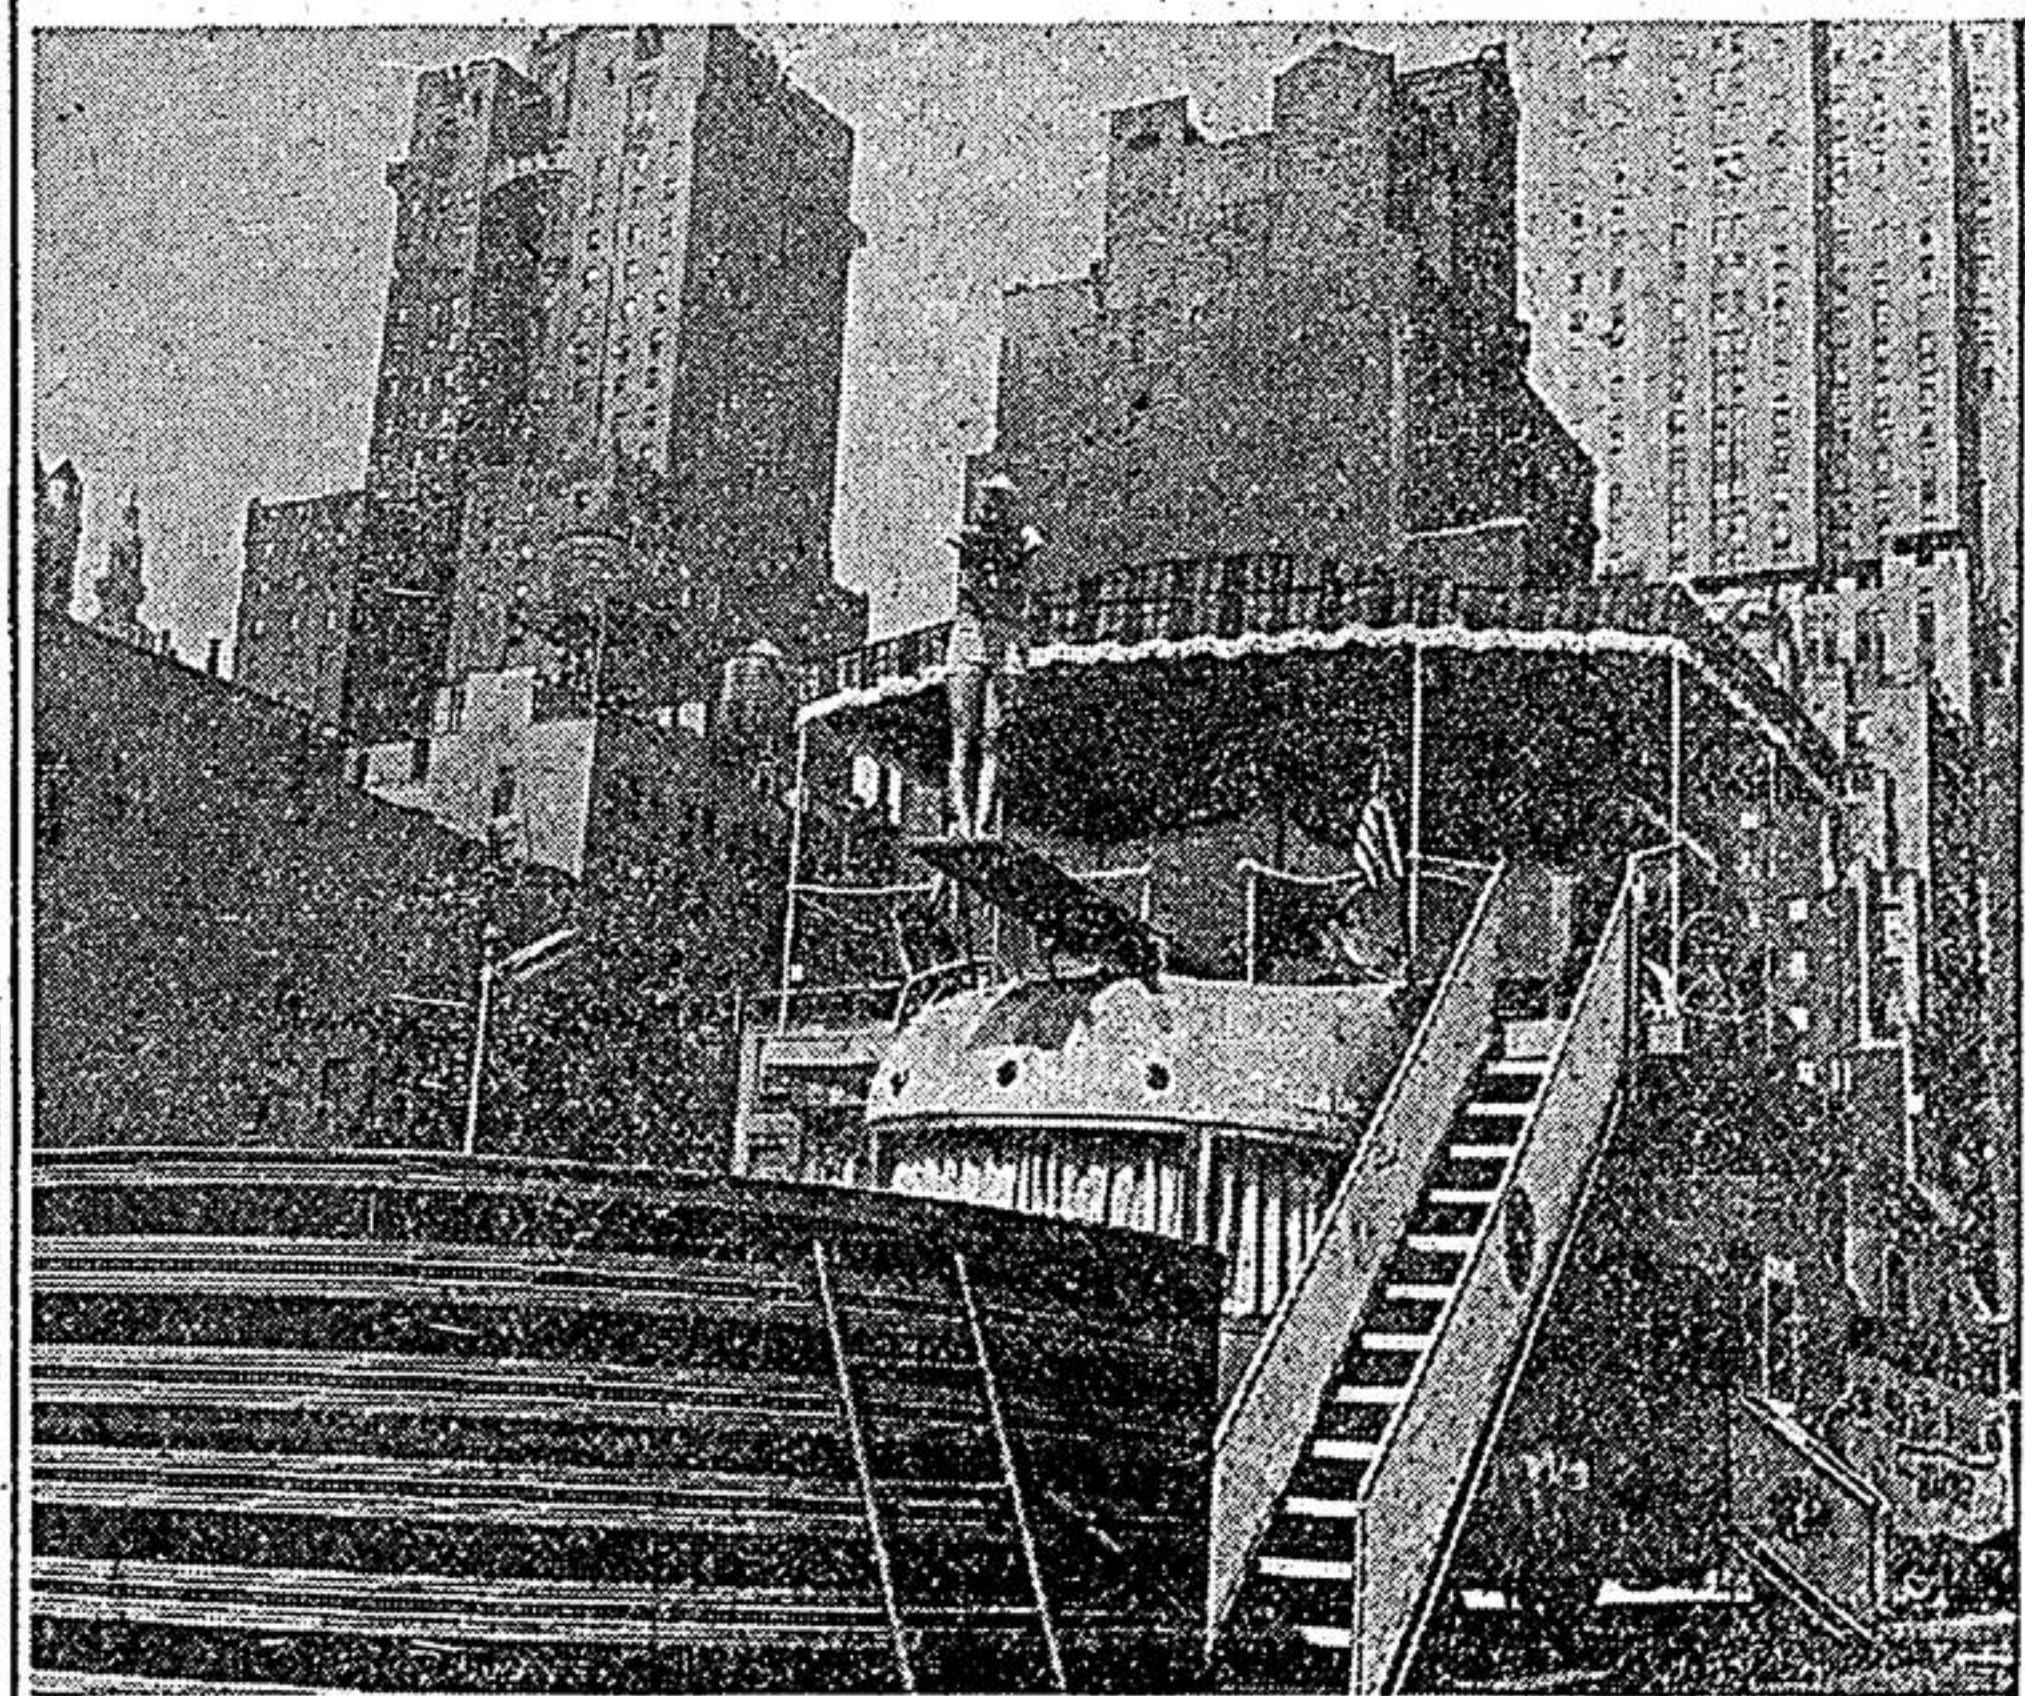

The two Duryea boys play cards with pals on floor.

The Duryea estate is terraced. Several thousand feet below is Los Angeles.

The Duryeas get set to watch a home-shot movie.
King Features Syndicate

ROLLING HOME—Beverly Anderson poises on the diving board for a plunge into a portable swim pool which is part of a self-propelled, $75,000 "flagship" on display in New York City. It also has a helicopter landing deck.

TAKE ME OUT TO THE BALL GAME—Caesar, a white toy poodle, was the only dog in a reserved seat at a recent National league game in Philadelphia.