Rambling with The Oldtimer

In the issue of Jan. 10th the heading was "Rambling with the Oldtimer," and I wonder that the editor didn't use that title before as I have made some long rambles in some of my writings. However, there are several others I know, who if they were so disposed, could make a better job of it than I am doing, as I am not the only elderly person who has lived in Whitchurch who possesses a good memory. As I travel around I have met perhaps a score of them who can tell me of things I don't remember. I have taken some good long rambles, and in record time, seated in some of these modern high-powered cars going at full speed, until I have sometimes wished I was riding with some other person.

Last issue I spoke about the house on the corner of Lot 14, built by Richard Atkinson, a brother of Simeon. Their father owned that farm, so I was told by one of Richard's daughters. Richard lived in that house and also built the other building on that lot. He moved from there to the farm in 1890 where his son Clarence and his daughters now live.

Job Scott lived on the west side of the fifth on Lot 13. His good wife was a Miss Steckley. He and Richard Atkinson were brothers-in-law. Job had four or five of a family. One boy, Dudley, was in the old Stouffville baseball team of years ago. One of Job's girls was Ed. Logan's first wife, and Edgerton Clubine the only remaining family of Ezra Clubine, married the other girl. The boy who now lives on the old farm married a daughter of John Spence, and their daughter married Leonard Brillinger.

Across the road on Lot 13 was the Chapman farm. He had a family of five girls and two boys. I mentioned one before, Randall who owns the service station at Pine Orchard. The other son, Will, married S. P. Foote's daughter. If he hadn't been such a hard worker he might have been alive today. The youngest girl, Ida, married the late George Leary and still lives at Gormley. Will Burkholder married Sarah Chapman and Robert Spofford married Aggie, Richard's oldest girl. Charlotte, is still single. Alma married Allen Closson for her second husband and they both spend their winters in Florida. Ross Brown married the other daughter but she has passed on.

Richard Chapman's wife was a Miss Hare. I remember David Clarke telling my father that when Richard died he was called on to lay him out and get him ready for the coffin, and that he had the hardest hands of any man he ever knew. This venerable old gentleman, Chapman, was a hard working man and was hard to beat at handling a pick and shovel. He helped to cut down the gravel hill north of Stouffville. I mentioned this before. He also helped cut down the Clarkson hill west of the Devil's Elbow and I understand that he and his gang boarded in the house that still stands on that farm.

"That old Clarkson farm is a string hundred" and runs out to the fifth of Markham. When they cut the hill down, there was a man killed there. The bank fell down on him and killed him.

The hip-roofed barn on the Chapman farm was built in 1904. I understand it is one barn on the fifth that Richard Atkinson did not frame—I have forgotten who did. At present, a Dutch family lives on that farm.

Lot 12 was the Alex Logan farm. He had two boys, Edward who married Miss Scott, and Russell who married Ira Badgerow's daughter and now lives in Toronto. Alex also had a daughter who died a few years ago.

Cite Improvements at York County Home

The 1956 Commissioners of York Manor, Deputy Reeve A. H. Rutherford of Vaughan township and Reeves Edward Wrightman of Newmarket and Howard Anderson of Georgina township, were congratulated by Warden W. J. Taylor at the Jan. 17 session of County council on their work of the past year.

Following the presentation of their report to the 1957 council, Mr. Taylor called attention to the many improvements at York Manor, the county's Home for the Aged on Yonge St., and repeated a conversation he had had earlier with an Inspector from the Provincial Dept. of Welfare who was visiting York Manor. The Inspector said his report would contain the highest praise for both the superintendent and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wilde, and the Home Commissioners. The Inspector termed the work accomplished in 1956 as remarkable. Mr. Taylor said.

A list of improvements was included in the Commissioners' report to York County council. It included the re-decorating of four dormitories in the women's wing, the superintendent's apartment and private dining room; painting of three bathrooms; the laying of new floor coverings in the private dining room and the men's and women's infirmaries; and the construction of public washrooms for the convenience of visitors to the Home. Work was done to improve the water supply at the home with filter beds being cleaned and baffle boards installed. Twenty new mattresses and woolen blankets were purchased and six colorful prints hung in the women's wards, the report stated.

The number of residents at York Manor was 78, with nine of these being from Metropolitan Toronto. There were 26 discharges during 1956 and 27 admissions. Average age of the residents is 71 with 46 men and 32 women in the group.

Dr. W. L. Carruthers, medical officer, in his annual report stated that the general health of the county's senior citizens is good. He said the nursing care received at York Manor is adequate and that the residents are happy with their living conditions. He termed the sanitary conditions around the Home as excellent.

In their report, the York Manor commissioners paid tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Wilde for their efficient operation of the Home. They called attention to the happy atmosphere there. All members of the commission said it had been a pleasure to serve the senior citizens of the county during the past year.

Co-ordinate Federation Committees in York

Co-ordinated committees on grain marketing, canning crops, livestock marketing and dairy products were set up at a recent directors' meeting of York county Federation of Agriculture in Newmarket.

Suggestion for co-ordinated committees came from Frank Brumwell, president, who said that if, for instance, hog, beef, and poultry producers all sat on one committee and attended all meetings, they would become acquainted with each other's problems.

Committees on budget, finance, Farm Forum, land expropriation, insurance, education and public relations were also appointed. Plans for a series of farm safety meetings to be held in the county during the latter part of January were made during a general business meeting following the election of committees. Ray Hergott, head of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture field services, and Ernest Moores, underwriting manager for Co-operators Insurance Association, were present to help plan the meetings.

The meetings are to be held by the Federation's insurance committee in co-operation with township Federation groups. Special safety films, a guest speaker and panel discussions will be features of the meetings. Mrs. Ross Armitage, secretary of the women's division for zone four, was appointed to the county Federation board as a member at large. John Sytema, York county C.I.A. agent, was also named a director.

An honorarium of $50 was presented to Mr. Brumwell for his work as president in 1956.

The directors' annual turkey dinner was held at noon the day of the meeting.

East Gwillimbury township Federation of Agriculture is holding Farm Forum meetings in Sharon community hall and anyone interested is invited to attend.

BLOOMINGTON

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Stafford and all the relatives in the death of the late Mr. Clarence Stafford. A beautiful bouquet was in the church here on Sunday morning, having been sent by the family.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Kee, Betty Anne and John of Orangeville were at O. H. Tranmer's on Sunday.

The Misses Diane Robinson and Lorraine Porter of Toronto were guests of Miss Helen Lem- on recently.

Mr. Valteau of Oshawa and Mr. and Mrs. J. Radford and children of Pine Orchard were at Mr. K. Tranmer's on Sunday.

Miss Noreen Barkey of Markham is visiting her cousins Diane and Marlene Story.
