Tribute to the work the junior farmers of Ontario county are doing is paid in the current issue of Junior Farmer News, published by the Ontario Department of Agriculture in the interests of junior farmer activities.

Ontario is designated as the county of the month. An entire page is devoted to Ontario county of the executive of the organization graces the page.

Prefacing the article, reference is made to the remarkable record the county has enjoyed as the cradle of agricultural livestock. Its farmers, men like the Millers of Ashburn and the Drydens of Brooklin, it says, were pioneers in the importation of top quality shorthorn cattle and clydesdale horses from Britain. Today its livestock is numbered among the best in Canada, with yearly shipments being made to various countries, as well as supplying the breeding stock for many Canadian farmers.

The article continues as follows:

Ontario is ideally situated geographically, climatically, agriculturally and industrially. It is midway in the Golden Horseshoe of Lake Ontario, stretching northwards to the Muskoka District and flanked by Lake Simcoe and Lake Scugog. These features not only influence the climate to make diversified agriculture but also draw a large number of tourists during the summer and winter.

It has a fine market gardening and cash crop area along with a splendid fruit-growing section which supplies the best of apples and vegetables to the expanding urban centres. There is an excellent potato-growing section around Uxbridge which has Ontario County Reforestation established in 1927. Naturally with live stock so important, there are large areas specially suitable for the production of grains and roughages.

Junior Farmer History

Although the first Junior Farmer organization in the county, the Brooklin Junior Farmers, was not formed until 1937, the Junior Farmers have accomplished much since then. Eight years later the Uxbridge Junior Farmer Club was organized, and that year also saw the birth of the county Junior Farmers. In 1950 the other two clubs in the county were formed—Beaverton and Port Perry.

A few juniors who have become prominent in the county and province are Mrs. John Hamer, Myrtle, former County Fieldman for the Federation of Agriculture; Hugh Ormiston, Brooklin Holstein Master Breeder; Morley Bain, Zephyr, the present Warden of the county; and Hugh Baird, Blackwater, Canadian Champion Plowman.

Very extensive programs are conducted during the year by the county and local clubs. A progressive farm and home improvement project undertaken over a three-year period was broken down into different phases; such as entrances and fence rows; clean fields; buildings and general improvements. The two paint sprayers which were purchased by local clubs for use throughout the county have proven to be a great asset to the communities. The grain and livestock clubs which have been carried on by the different local associations have proven very successful in distributing new varieties of grain and in encouraging better live stock management.

Since the organization of the county association, an annual church service has been held at various points in the county. In 1956 they were privileged to hold their annual church service in the Foster Memorial Temple, Uxbridge, which was modelled after the Taj Mahal in India.

Choir Formed

As a result of the county junior farmer choir which was organized in February, 1954, interest in the junior farmer association has increased and has become highly recognized by urban and rural groups. Each year the choir presents a concert with some theme in mind, such as the "Holiday"—a quick tour of the world. This year they will present early in March "Talent Showcases" which is more a variety type of musical. The choir has been honored by being requested to provide the special music for the Thanksgiving Evening Service at the Woodgreen United Church in Toronto, as well as at the Provincial Junior Farmer and Women's Institute Conferences at Guelph. This past fall the choir provided the entertainment at the International Plowing Match Banquet for the Canadian Champion Plowman.

At the time of the International Plowing Match which was held in the county, the largest project ever attempted by the county association was undertaken; that of the Bar-B-Q Chicken Booth. Besides being a financial success, it drew the members of the county closer together and gave an opportunity for all members to express their abilities.

Outstanding Achievements

Ontario County has been fortunate in winning some honors in the past and hopes to continue in the future. In 1954 the male quartet, composed of Allan Ball, Hugh Baird, Walter Kerry and Jack Pearson, won the provincial competition and since then the quartet's date book has been filled with appointments.

This year the ladies' trio, composed of Jeanne Pearson, Jeanette Dobson and Jeanine Werry, won their competition at Toronto.

At the 1954 Inter-County Livestock Judging Competition at the Royal Winter Fair, Walter Kerry, president of the Uxbridge Junior Farmers, won the Sheep Judging Trophy. Again in 1955, the County Livestock Judging team composed of Ted Lamb, Stephen Stephen and Jim Temple, won the Ontario Veterinary Association Beef Trophy. This year in the CNE Dairy Queen Competition, Ruby Leask, Director on the County Executive, was declared Queen of the day, and Shirley Ann Crosier was named Queen for the Yorkshire Breed, and was a finalist in the competition.

For its outstanding leaders the County has provided trip awards. This year's winners were: Bert Pearson to the United Nations, and Norene Ross to the Eastern Ontario-Quebec Bus Tour. Hugh Baird, past president of the Uxbridge Junior Farmers, brought honor to the county and province when he was named Canadian Champion Plowman at the International Plowing Match held in Ontario County this past year.

4-H Clubs

The future of the junior farmers seems bright as Ontario has a strong active 4-H movement. In 1956 under the leadership of twenty-seven leaders, H. L. Fair, agricultural representative, and Sidney MacDonald, associate agricultural representative some 300 members participated in 18 different 4-H Clubs. Miss Ruth Shaver, home economist, with the help of over 16 leaders, directs 4-H Homemaking Clubs for about 100 girls.

Provincial honors were won in the beef competition in 1944 by Ed Ball and Lance Bath; in the potato competition in 1947 by Bob Meek and Harry Harper; and this past year Michael Hart and Craig Peters brought the Forestry Trophy to the county.

Reeve Sherman, Scott, Reeve Lawson, Deputy Reeve Scott and councillors Edgar James and Jack Chapman voted in the affirmative. Councillors Glenn Julian and Robt. Stewart were opposed.

The delegation was represented by Mr. Oliver Crookford, former Reeve of Scarborough. Mr. Crookford informed council that he intended to continue the protest at a later date. tending from Frenchman's Bay to Whitby. It is not expected that this work will be completed for at least three years. Both Deputy-Reeve Sherman Scott and Councillor Robt. Stewart questioned County Engineer Ted Symes with regard to the future of the Brock Road at Highway 401. Dep. Reeve Scott contended that either an overpass or a cloverleaf should be constructed at this point. Councillor Stewart felt that too much was being left to the discretion of the Department of Highways. He desired that council be given more concrete assurance that the Brock road would not be closed at Hwy. 401. Mr. Symes noted that the Dept. of Highways was in the "transportation business" and would recognize the importance of this thoroughfare.

Police Break Up Pickering Theft Ring

A series of break-ins and burglaries ended in Whitby police court last week when Magistrate F. S. Ebbs found William Earl Gourelie, 18, of Fairport Beach, Pickering, guilty on nine counts of breaking and entering, and theft. Gourelie was remanded for one week to await sentencing.

His accomplice, David Aldred, formerly of Uxbridge Twp., previously escaped custody from the Pickering jail. Provincial police reported that a suspect, answering the description of provincial-wide alarm, was arrested in London. He faces the same charge of escaping custody.

The pair had broken into a number of stores, service stations, and cottages in Scarborough, Pickering, Uxbridge Twp., and Pickering Twp., and managed to steal a great deal of goods. In Scarborough alone, they stole 78 automobile tires from 4 service stations valued at $3,090, but these were recovered in a break-in at the Penny-worth store in Pickering the pair made away with $500 worth of articles. $400 worth of these has not yet been recovered. The pair also broke into a cottage in Uxbridge Township. Here they helped themselves to canned meats and vegetables but they were considerate enough to wash the dishes and put them away carefully. Then Gourelie broke into another cottage not far from the first and took a bottle of beer, a bottle of sherry, and a telescope.

He took these back to the other cottage, but were discovered by its owner and the pair drove off in their car. They also stole a shotgun but it was thrown into the lake. Gourelie and Aldred were arrested by the OPP and lodged in the Pickering town jail. Aldred later escaped from the detention room in which he was being held and the province-wide alarm was sounded and his description flashed to every law enforcement agency in Ontario.
