Would Ban Truckers From Producers Meetings

Because of crude and false reports which truckers and drovers are circulating regarding their premeditated attempt to disrupt the provincial meeting of the Ontario Hog Producers' Association and our Marketing Agency held in Toronto, March 3 and 4, Ontario hog producers are considering the banning of truckers and drovers from all future hog meetings in Ontario.
 Mr. Charles McInnis, president of the Ontario Hog Producers' Association, indicated this today as he reviewed current interference by truckers and drovers with Ontario hog producers' meetings and programs.
 "Our county and provincial hog producer meetings have been orderly and business-like," Mr. McInnis said. "We do not invade processor or trucker meetings as a mob in an effort to interfere with proceedings. Whenever we have business with these groups we make appointments, and during our meetings with them we observe standard protocol."
 "The provincial meeting of our Association and its Marketing Agency is a legally constituted meeting of delegates officially appointed by county hog organizations. At these county meetings all producers are privileged to speak, to elect delegates to the provincial meeting and to instruct the delegates as to the wishes and opinions of the county," Mr. McInnis said. "Only these county delegates are privileged to speak to the provincial meeting. We welcome observers, provided they do not interfere with the meetings. Our meetings have to be properly conducted because we have heavy agendas and have only two days in which to make critical decisions regarding a $100 million industry. Also, our marketing agency operates under provisions of the Ontario Farm Products Marketing Act, and we have to follow certain fixed meeting procedures scrupulously."
 "Our annual meeting this year was attended by 251 qualified delegates out of a maximum of 259 delegates eligible to attend," Mr. McInnis said. "Through these delegates we had a thorough representation of hog producers of 41 counties. The only county not officially represented was Stormont. However, hog production in this county is not substantial. These 251 delegates had every opportunity to voice the opinions and wishes of their constituents, and this they did through orderly discussion, through voting on resolutions, and by electing a board of directors for 1958."
 "On the first day of our annual meeting this year, March 3, a group of 40 to 50 drovers, truckers, and members of the Ontario Peach Growers Protective Association arrived at our registration desk, outside the Crystal Ball Room of the King Edward Hotel," Mr. McInnis said. "Among this group (who, although they were not delegates, and who derive most of their income from trucking, and who did not have the courtesy in advance to ask permission to attend or speak to our meeting) were these truckers and drovers: Arnold Darroch, Wm. Harris, Charles Coultas, and Edgar Martin. Some of the 40 to 50 people registered under phony names, and some were inebriated."
 "From the moment these men entered our meeting they chatted noisily among themselves, disregarding the fact that reports were being presented," Mr. McInnis said. "At the completion of a report from our General Manager, Jake Kohler, the meeting chairman asked the visitors to make less noise. Promptly, a well known trucker from Bruce County had the effrontery to reply before an audience of some 400 people that he and his associates were not interested in Mr. Kohler's report because Mr. Kohler was "not sincere." This he said at a meeting at which he and his colleagues were not entitled to be present, let alone talk. Before these same people left the meeting, they boomed, shouted, threw eggs and prevented orderly discussion by our delegates."
 "According to press reports these same men and their associates are now claiming that they were prevented from speaking because the microphones were cut off," Mr. McInnis said. "Their statements are completely false, and we can prove it with an official statement which we have in our files from the management of the King Edward Hotel, whose own staff operate the microphone circuits."
 "The illegal and arrogant invasion of our annual meeting by these rabble truckers, drovers and peach men is only part of their over-all program to discredit and smash our hog marketing program," Mr. McInnis charged. "On March 11 the Ontario Livestock Shippers' Association appeared before the Ontario Legislature's standing committee on agriculture and had the impudence to make proposals to that committee regarding producers' marketing programs. It is ridiculous for these truckers and drovers to presume to be our spokesmen."
 "This same Association," Mr. McInnis continued, "during the past winter sponsored meetings in Ontario to attempt to force our marketing program to be put to a vote even before it was given a fair trial."
 "Obviously, our Hog Association and marketing agency does not welcome to our meetings people who behave in this fashion. When men who are uninvited, break into a provincial meeting of 251 officially appointed delegates and break into a meeting financed by our own
