TEACH A BOY

There's a niche in the life of every boy reserved for the inspiration derived from learning the ways of nature.

This lesson can only be taught in the out of doors. His classrooms are the forests and lakes, his tools a boat and motor, a rod and reel.

In teaching a youngster the ways of the outdoors, show him how to handle a boat and outboard motor. Teach him to have a healthy respect for the elements, to obey the laws and rules of the road, and to practice safety above all things.

Teach him how to leave and approach a dock, how to tie up a boat, and what lifesaving equipment he must always have aboard—and how it works.

Teach a boy to fish. Buy him a rod and reel of his own, and take him out into the back yard and show him how to use it. Only after he has mastered the rudiments of casting, of handling hooks and lures and bait, should he be actually taken fishing.

Once on the water, teach him the ways of nature's children. Show him how a bass makes its nest for spawning, explain why birds migrate, and treat him to the breathtaking sight of a deer thrusting its muzzle in the water at the lake's edge. And, in the process, teach him that finding the lair of a big fish and inducing it to strike is far more important than killing it. Teach him how to handle fish he has caught, to return to the water all those undersize so that they can grow up, and all those he doesn't intend to eat so they can grow bigger.

Teach him sportsmanship and understanding as only nature's school room can provide. Picking a Prop

Boat propellers differ from one another according to their "pitch"—in theory the distance they can drive a boat forward in one revolution with no slip. Selecting a suitable prop for your boat requires a close regard for boat dimension, weight and loading.

As these vary so much from one boat to another, the only truly satisfactory way of making certain you get what you want is by actual test.

Approach as closely as possible the most usual loading, attain the speed at which you wish to operate, and check the results.

The prop you use should not be so highly pitched that top motor rpm's are impossible. Under this condition an outboard performs much as an overworked car motor.

Angle of Dangle

You can check the tilt angle of your outboard motor on your boat in two ways. The cavitation plate above your propeller should be parallel with the bottom of your boat and the main shaft of your motor should not vary by any more than ten degrees from the vertical.

Again distribution of cargo and planing characteristics remain the chief factors in correct "angle of dangle" of your outboard.

THE PRESERVING KETTLE

by Frances Benton

OF GENERAL FOODS KITCHENS

Raspberry jam is one of the easiest to make, as well as the most delicious, so why not try this very successful recipe?

RASPBERRY JAM
4 cups prepared fruit (about 2 quarts ripe raspberries)
6 1/2 cups (2 1/2 lbs.) sugar
1/2 bottle Certo fruit pectin

To prepare fruit. Crush completely, one layer at a time, about 2 quarts fully ripe raspberries. (If desired, sieve half of pulp to remove some of the seeds.) Measure 4 cups into a very large saucepan.

To make your jam. To the measured fruit in saucepan, add 6 1/2 cups sugar. Mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full rolling boil. Boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, stir in Certo at once. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Stir and skim for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle into glasses. Cover at once with 1/2 inch hot paraffin. Makes about 10 medium glasses.

When we mention "pectin" many women say "I don't really understand what it is". Well, pectin is simply the jelling substance found in all fruits in varying amounts. Certo is pectin extracted from fruits rich in this natural substance, then refined, concentrated and performance-controlled. So naturally, when you use Certo and follow the tested Certo recipes, your jam and jelly always sets perfectly!

Preserving Pointers: It's a good idea to temper all new glass jars before using, in order to prevent breaking. Simply place the jars on a rack in a pan, cover with cold water, and then heat gradually to the boiling point.

Keep canned fruits in a cool dark place. The darkness protects the color, the coolness helps preserve the flavor.

Keep an eye out for my next column which will have another recipe. By the way, if you have any problems with your jam and jelly making, I wish you'd let me know. I will be able to help you.
