Conference Endorses New Farm Safety Programme

A forward step in farm accident prevention was realized this week when more than 300 persons representing 55 Ontario counties and districts, endorsed a proposed farm safety programme which was the basis of a two-day Farm Safety Conference held at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, under the joint sponsorship of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and the Ontario Dept. of Transport.

Safety authorities from the Ontario Government and the United States, outlined the nature of the accident picture in agriculture, and on our highways, and revealed the measures that have so far been taken to curb the accident toll.

Speaking for the Ontario Department of Agriculture, the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, said "It is a recognized fact that machinery, live stock, fires, falls and high-way accidents all contribute to make farming a very hazardous occupation. It follows that it is our duty to undertake a programme of safety education that will assist in preventing needless loss of life and injury that is all too common today."

Dr. J. D. MacLachlan, President of the Ontario Agricultural College, pointed out that it was useless to strive for increased productivity, better husbandry, and more efficiency in farming if the price that had to be paid was injury and accidents to the farm people concerned. Prof. C. G. Downing, head of the Dept. of Engineering Science at the O.A.C. disclosed that the idea of promoting safety was not new with the Department of Agriculture. For years, the Dept. through its Agricultural Representatives and through organized programmes with 4H Clubs, homemakers, junior farmers and rural people generally, had been engaged in a safety programme.

"But we have to go even further," states T. R. Hilliard, Director of Extension, Ontario Department of Agriculture, under whose supervision the Farm Accident Survey will begin on March 1st. "Just as improved farming practices are the result of scientific research applied to actual farming conditions, so can a sound farm safety programme result only from research on actual farm accidents. Once the research is completed, farm safety programs can then be devised which are based on actual farming conditions."

The Extension Director disclosed that the survey will record all farm accidents over the one-year period March 1, 1959 to February 29, 1960. Although the accident survey will be province-wide in scope, he stressed that a prime objective of the survey would be to provide a county and district farm accident picture, so that a specific programme could be undertaken for each area.

He revealed that the survey will be conducted mainly by farm people with the co-operation of the Ontario Department of Agriculture branch offices. He estimated that approximately 7,000 rural persons had offered to serve as accident reporters. He emphasized that reports would be confidential, in that no names or persons or location of farms would be included in the reports or be revealed by the reporters but that the confidential information would be used to prepare a safety education programme. The statistics obtained from the survey will be available to any organization interested in a safety programme. Mr. Hilliard solicited the co-operation of rural people in carrying out the survey so that an effective farm safety programme may be devised for Ontario farm people.

The delegates to the conference supported the department's Farm Accident Survey. Mr. Gordon Greer, President of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture; Miss Kathleen Homan, President of the Junior Farmers of Ontario; and Mrs. James Haggerty, President of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario, all pledged the support of the accident survey by their respective organizations. Mr. Eugene Lemon, of Stouffville, chairman of the York County Survey Committee, participating in a discussion panel with three farm group presidents, pointed out the hazard of fatigue which he had learned from experience. He shuts off his tractor and has a rest or a little walk across the land, every couple of hours. Many farmers miss this break now that they do not have to rest the horses. Mrs. Elton Armstrong of Armitage, representing the Women's Institutes, chaired a panel the first day of the conference. Others of the York County committee who attended were Stuart Watson of Markham Twp.; F. Marriott of North Gwillimbury; Morris Snodden of Georgina; Paul Snider of Vaughan and Agric. Representative W. M. Cockburn, secretary of the County Committee.

Illness prevented the attendance of some of our regular members Tuesday night, Feb. 24th. We sincerely trust that Mrs. George Baker will soon have a complete and speedy recovery. Mr. Archie Reid was also under the weather and we hope to see him full of vim and vigour at our next meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Hillis of Sutton kindly visited us to show a film of their trip to San Francisco, covering territory from Sault Ste. Marie to the Golden Gate. There were views taken in Yellowstone National Park that cannot be duplicated elsewhere — numerous black and brown bears begging at the roadside, a geyser throwing steam and boiling water high in the air, deep canyons and rushing torrents. The Bad Lands in North Dakota, cowboys in Montana, the rugged beauty of the Coeur d'Alene, the Cascades, steep mountainous roads in Idaho, stop-over pictures of family and friends in Idaho and Washington completed a most interesting and instructive view of the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Cossey also entertained us with some excellent pictures taken in their own and other greenhouses. The advantage of being right on the spot at the proper time was clearly demonstrated by the excellent views of the various plants in full bloom. The tomatoes grown in the Stouffville Floral greenhouses were a mouth-watering exhibit. One of them measured 16 inches in diameter and weighed 2 1/2 lbs. Herb's films plainly showed that we can travel far afield and miss the beauty available at home.

Our hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. T. Aida and Mrs. A. Reid, and as usual, a most acceptable and varied luncheon was enjoyed by all the members.

DICKSON'S HILL

Rev. William Annett, Pastor of Didsbury, Alberta, United Missionary Church, and son-in-law of Mr. Wilmot Wideman of Castor, spent the weekend visiting the Wideman and Moyer families. He was guest speaker at Church on Sunday morning, and was accompanied by Mr. Ira Stauffer, also of Didsbury. They are enroute to New Carlisle, Ohio, to attend the General Conference, which convenes there this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Eby motored to Malton last Wednesday morning to meet his brother-in-law, Mr. Urtas Gingrich, of Lethbridge. They journeyed on to London to visit his daughter also, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Lambert and family on their return they stopped at Preston to call on Elwyn and Beth Eby and Ricky. Maurice has since received a telephone call from High River informing him that his aged father is in failing health in the Calgary Hospital.

A goodly number from this congregation attended the missionary Service at Mt. Joy on Sunday evening. Dr. Ross Bell, on furlough from Nigeria, was guest speaker and showed slides of the work being conducted there.

Hog Co-operative

Operating $100 Million Per Year Business

It takes a top flight sales organization to sell 2,000,000 hogs every year—or an average of better than 40,000 hogs each and every week, week in, week out. But this is just what the Ontario Hog Producers' Co-operative is doing through its central sales office in Toronto.

Some 50,000 farmers in Ontario are now engaged in producing one of Ontario's most basic farm products — good quality hogs. Raising and selling of hogs has become an important segment of this country's farm economy and has reached a $100 million a year business—a business demanding efficient organization in both raising and selling hogs.
