Cedar Grove News

From 1763 to 1929 the story of the Mennonites in Russia and their final exodus was an account of extremes. From prosperity to poverty; from freedom to confinement; from peace to invasion, by three forces in this period, from the reign of Catherine the second to the years following the Russian revolution, it told in history books as it was related by Cornelius Rempel would not be easily forgotten. Mr. Rempel, a lively speaker with a sense of drama and a sense of humour, spoke to a full schoolhouse last Tuesday evening. He was much more conscious of the time than was his audience which included members of the York Pioneers Association and a generous representation from Cedar Grove.

At the conclusion of his talk the foreman who expressed was that Mr. Rempel would return soon to pick up his story where one short evening forced him to leave it. Mennonite ladies of the community provided lunch which, among many delectables, featured Fet Kuchen (twisted donuts), Fingsten Kase (egg cheese served with maple syrup), Liver Wurst, Lauterwick, Shnitz, Streusel Kuchen (coffee cake) and shoo fly pie.

Next event on the Cedar Grove agenda is the big dance coming up June 5th in Agincourt. This will probably be the last until fall so make up a party and, whether you enjoy square or round dancing, you will be sure of a good time. The ever popular Sod Busters will be on hand to provide the music and refreshments will be served when you need them most. Agincourt Community Hall on Friday, June 5th.

The Bowling League held the annual banquet last Saturday night and a gay evening it was to wind up the bowling season. The winning team consisted of: Joyce Lapp, Ruby Reesor, Audrey MacIntosh, Lloyd Clendenen, Mike Dean and Don Cornelius. High lady, averaging 180, was Joyce Lapp and high man, averaging 193, was Mike Dean. During the evening a vote was taken and it was decided to bowl next season in the new alley in Markham at 9:15 Wednesdays.

Here are last week's euchre results: Mrs. B. Thompson, Betty Swain, Mrs. Bill Watson, Harvey Swain, Walter Slack and Archie Little. Carrying prizes went to Mrs. Herb Jarvis and Mr. Alvin Klink.

The W.M.S. has decided to combine bale packing with the next monthly meeting, so Tuesday, June 2nd (at 8 p.m. sharp) will be a big night for the ladies of the Missionary Society. The meeting will be held at Mrs. Maurice Hamill's, and please, bring old clothes for bales and Milte. Boxes to this meeting. Waste paper to be taken to the church shed MUST BE securely tied. If you are short of cord, Allan Reesor has baled wire, but please tie it so, it stays put.

NOTES ABOUT NEIGHBORS (Some of it a little late) Mrs. Sadie Mortley spent the long weekend in Cedar Grove visiting Mabel and Ruby Reesor. Frank Sewell is home from hospital and feeling much better. Bob Lapp, Don Cornelius, Mike Dean, Jack Walton, Jim Sears and Chuck McCarthy, forsake their homes for trout over the holiday weekend, and returned with 24 beauties. Three newcomers in the community were christened at last Sunday's service in Zion Church. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Gib Whittamore, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Armstrong and Mr. and Mrs. Pearcey.

At the Community Club meeting held Monday night at Mr. Mrs. Maurice Hamill's, announcements were made for summer activities in the village. Volley ball, which has proved very popular game for the long summer evenings, will be resumed again this year on Tuesdays and Thursdays, beginning this Thursday evening. On Monday, June 1st, a four-game euchre series will begin in Cedar Grove school house. All players invited to attend this. The annual summer picnic is planned for the last week in July - details later. A special watch is being put on Cedarena since some pranksters with BB guns have been knocking out windows on the worm infection.

east side of the building. Heaven help them if they start on the west side.

Spray Weeds Early

Spray weeds early! Experience has shown that to control most weeds (and especially annuals, which are generally heavy seed producers), chemicals must be used early, and when weeds are actively growing. The reason: under these conditions, weeds plants more readily absorb chemicals and thus are killed faster.

Too many farmers put off spraying until the weed has flowered, reports the Field Crops Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture. By that time, the harm from weed competition has resulted, and spraying, even if it kills the weed, will not help the crop yield. It also takes more chemical to control the weeds and often the extra 2,4-D will harm the grain crop.

Mustard and most annuals should be sprayed at the 3-to-5-leaf stage, and not at flowering time. Weeds, such as Pigweed, Ragweed, Dock and Lamb Quarters, would respond better if sprayed much earlier when only a few leaves have formed. Ragweed cannot be safely sprayed when the flower stalk is present, but if sprayed earlier, good results are obtained. Sow Thistle and Chicory can be controlled if the crown leaves, at ground level, are treated early after spring growth starts. This is the time to destroy many of the winter annuals and biennials. For such weeds as Wild Carrot, an early application, when just a few leaves are present early in June, will stop growth for that year. Again other weeds such as some thistles and yellow Rocket can be sprayed early in the fall after the little rosettes of new plants have been established.

Spray early as a supplement to other good cultural practices to effectively control weeds. The county agricultural representative has detailed information on chemical weed control.

Pasture Does Not Pay For Market Hogs

"If you value your pasture in terms of its worth for hay or for use with other classes of stock, it does not pay to provide pasture for market hogs." That is the latest hog pasture advice from the Ontario Agricultural College's swine expert, Prof. R. P. Forshaw.

"The aim in market production is to get that pig to market quickly on a small amount of feed, if possible," says Forshaw. "If the pigs are given pasture, they actually eat very little of it if fed a balanced ration. But if you try to force pigs to eat pasture by cutting the amount of supplement the feed carries, you will lengthen the feeding period and may get no net saving of feed."

What about pasture for breeding stock and litters? "Sows during gestation and while nursing a litter get considerable good from pasture. It provides exercise, and the bulky feed satisfies the sow's appetite without providing too much energy. The sow has less tendency to become overfat. It is also a good way for the sow to protect itself against nutritional deficiency," says the O.A.C. authority.

He stresses that where roundworms are a problem, take care to rotate your land to break the cycle. In cases of severe infestation it might even pay to haul grass to the pigs. The sow will get less exercise but there is less possibility of roundworm infection.

Costly Not to Stop At Bloomington Corner

Job Harber, driving a truck, was fined $29 and costs or six days for failing to stop at the Bloomington corner, 9th concession of Whitchurch. Officer Lizette stated that the driver was travelling at high speed and no attention was given to the safety of others.

Fifteen dollars and costs was paid by William Kearney for passing on a hill on the Don Mills Rd. Officer Kingston told the court that accused drove over a hill against oncoming traffic. He said the white line was double and solid. Kearney admitted he knew the line was solid but he didn't observe any traffic. He suggested the law observe some common sense, and the Magistrate fined him $15.

Mrs. Shirley Duck of Wilcox Lake was fined $10 although she had never had a driver's license or been on a highway. According to the evidence, she was practising to drive with her husband's car on a right-of-way which leads down to the water. In backing up she collided with another vehicle coming in to the waterfront.

George Traithy, charged with driving on the 8th concession of Whitchurch at 75 miles an hour, was fined $25 and costs or 5 days. Accused said he felt very guilty and had not exceeded 50 miles an hour since. Officer Pettigrew stated he followed the car during which time he passed three cars at a speed of 80 miles an hour.

About sixty cases were listed on Tuesday's docket at Vandonr. Fines have been increasing. The usual $7 fine for "not quiet" stopping at a stop sign is drawing now up to $19. Truck drivers who previously paid 50c per ton overload are now paying $1 in most instances, which brings the usual overweight charges from $40 to $50.

DICKSON'S HILL

The news this week centres about family gatherings, and what events are more enjoyable? Sometimes there are guests of honour, who have travelled from a distance, and usually new babies, who as well as other children of varying ages, captivate the attention of all.

On Victoria Day holiday, the descendants of the late Martin Wideman and Fannie Stouffer, fellowshipped over a turkey bruce Wideman of Kitchener presided over a program which was recorded for the Widemans of Alberta. Mrs. (Rev.) William Annett (Muriel) daughter of Wilmot Wideman, and her little daughter Arlene were special guests, who are spending some time visiting relatives here. Other families came from Toronto and Peterboro.

Saturday evening the families of the late David Moyer and Fannie Wideman enjoyed indoor picnic lunch at the Roy Moyer home. Here, Don Moyer of Toronto announced the program numbers which filled the tape Muriel will be taking home with her.

Mrs. Elmer Hill, Joanne and Charles Wesley of Manitoulin have been spending a time at her parental home. In their honour the Simeon Hoover families gathered for a picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Gibbins of Lemonville on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Moyer and Norma Jennie were present

Legion Group Propose New War Memorial

Stouffville Legion Branch is proposing that a new and suitable war memorial should be erected in town, and last week called a meeting of representatives of various organizations, to discuss the project. Some half dozen local groups were represented.

While the proposal still lacks organization, some facts were learned concerning the cost of such projects. The price of the two granite models was $4200 and $5300. The memorials would be solid granite, and would rise some ten to twelve feet above the base.

Various aspects of the proposal were discussed, one being whether or not the names to be inscribed should be all those who were in uniform or just those who paid the supreme sacrifice. Another point was the matter of location. At the present time, names of the local sons in the First World War are inscribed on the Memorial Park Gates which were recently rebuilt.

No decision was forthcoming and another meeting is to be held shortly.
