

Admits Leaving Dog Family on Twp. Road

A Richvale man, Donald McPhee, 26, has been turned over to officials of the Toronto Humane Society for questioning, after he admitted to Markham Township Police that he tied a female German Shepherd dog to a tree on the 5th concession and placed her six pups in a box nearby.

Sgt. Wm. Shearn investigated a tip-off received from a neighbour that the rescued dogs had been the property of Mr. McPhee. The neighbour may qualify for the $100 reward offered last week by Markham Council for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the party responsible.

The mother dog and her pups were spotted by a passing motorist, Mr. Richard Rogers of Scarborough. The adult was crazed with hunger and thirst and the two-month old pups were too

GORMLEY FARMER TOPS WHEAT COMPETITION

Mr. Nelson Boynton of Gormley topped a class of ten competitors in the annual field crop wheat competition sponsored by the Markham Fair Board. Mr. Boynton collected a total of 91½ points. Mr. Murray Dunkeld of Claremont was the runner-up with 89½ points. Davidson Bros. of Stouffville placed third with 88½ points.

The complete standings were as follows: Nelson Boynton, Gormley—91½ pts.; Murray Dunkeld, Claremont, 89½ pts.; Davidson Bros., Stouffville—88½ pts.; Eugene Lemon, Stouffville—87 pts.; Stuart Watson, Markham, RR2—85 pts.; Master Feeds, Thornhill—83 pts.; Don Brodie, Gormley—82½ pts.; R. P. Armstrong, Locust Hill—81 pts.; R. D. Buchanan, Unionville—77½ pts., and Murray Macklin, Agincourt—77 pts.

sation across the entire Province. Offers to purchase the orphaned animals came from such distant points as North Bay, Sudbury and Sarnia. A number of private parties wished to enlarge the reward money with individual donations.

A good example of side-lighting that gives a roundness to the faces and eliminates squinting. Try to use the sunlight in this way in all your vacation snapshots.

Keep Camera Handy When Going on Vacation

No plans for a vacation are complete that do not include taking a camera and a good supply of film and flash bulbs.

Half the fun of a vacation is preparing for it; dad inspecting his fishing tackle, checking his outboard motor in a tank full of water; mother showing off in her new vacation clothes; junior grooming the dog and sister looking on delightedly.

Picture that puzzled look on father's face as he tries to find room for everything in the car — and mother carrying out more things that, she says, simply must go. Since there are as many women snapshots as men, mother can "shoot" father at his preliminary tasks and father can "shoot" mother at her's and if junior can get a shot of both of them in some ridiculous situation, it will be a good "shootin'" party all around. And what fun!

In fact, snapshots are for fun and the good humour that can be introduced at the start of your vacation story will make a wonderful opening.

Don't pack your camera away where you can't find it en route and don't put it in the glove compartment or on the back window shelf. The heat might ruin the film. Just keep it handy in the car for incidental shots. Who knows but father may have to change a tire — what a shot that would make! Take pictures of some of the road signs to identify your trip and again when you stop for lunch or a coffee-break. Then, when you get to the cottage or wherever you're going, let mother out of the car first so she can get a picture of your arrival.

The pictures you will take while you are away will suggest themselves, but since you will most likely be near a lake or river, remember that water is a strong reflector of light. For this reason, snapshots should take along a yellow filter in the K-2 class and use it for any scenes on or near the water and especially when it's a bright, sunny day. This filter cuts down the reflection and brings out any fleecy clouds in the sky.

If you haven't tried color pictures, this is a good time to begin. All you do is put color film into your camera instead of black-and-white and be guided by the instructions that come with the film.

How Many Beans...

Perhaps you, too, stood outside a store window in your youth and tried to estimate the number of beans in a display.

Guessing the circulation of a newspaper was once quite a game for advertisers, too.

But the Audit Bureau of Circulations took all the chance out of this game. A.B.C. auditors don't stand outside and estimate—they come inside the publisher's office and count.

When the auditor is finished and his precise findings published, well there's just no room for guessing.

It's all there in his report—how much circulation, where copies were circulated, how much people paid, and some of the reasons why the people bought our paper.

There's no reason to guess about the circulation audience you get when you advertise in our paper. The facts are down in black and white for you to see.

Ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.
