Former Moderator Was Well-Known Here

Rev. William A. Cameron, former moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, died last week after being in hospital since Monday. He would have been 81 in December. Dr. Cameron received his early education in Woodville, Ont., and the Collegiate Institute at Lindsay. After a few years teaching, he entered University College, Toronto, and graduated in 1907 in philosophy. He then spent three years at Knox College. He spent a year as assistant minister in Bloor St. Presbyterian Church and was then appointed by the Home Mission Board to Scott, Sask., where he was ordained. Subsequently, he was located at Battleford and Melfort, both in Saskatchewan. In 1921, he was appointed superintendent of missions for Northern Saskatchewan and in 1925 became Synodical Missionary for the province. In 1925, when the Presbyterian Church was split by union, he was superintendent of missions in Western Canada. Prior to his election as moderator in 1953, he was general secretary of foreign missions. Dr. Cameron leaves four sons, William, of Ottawa; Donald of Vancouver; Lorne, of Montreal; and Dr. Gordon Cameron, of Hamilton, and seven grandchildren. Funeral services were held on Monday from Glenview Presbyterian Church with interment at the Old Stone Church Cemetery, Beaverton.

How To Control House Crickets

Crickets are exasperating. They sneak into your house. They keep you awake nights. They damage woollens, silk, cotton, and other fabrics. And who can find them? The house cricket is pale brown and about three-quarters of an inch long. Few homemakers know this, because the pest has the knack of being "heard but not seen". As soon as the weather cools down, the cricket leaves the garden and sets up shop in your house, where it may remain active for a whole winter. It lays its eggs in cracks and crevices. There is only one generation each year. What about that infernal chirruping? For sake of interest, the song of the cricket is produced by the male rubbing together the outer pair of wings. Night-time is singing-time for him and his many friends. Light sleepers and those concerned with the welfare of their broadloom might be interested in control measures advised by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Apply chlordane as a 2% spray or as a 5% dust. Direct the material into spots near any warm location where the crickets may be hiding. For outside control, try a ¼ % chlordane spray. Put it on infested vegetation and garbage.

Beech Leaf Miners Hit Hard This Year

What was wrong with those birch trees this year? Gardeners all over Ontario were asking that same question during most of the summer. And there was little that could be done about it. Put the blame on the birch leaf miner, that insect whose larva hides out between the upper and lower surfaces. The work of this miner results in large dead blotches on the leaves. The foliage of heavily attacked trees has a brown colour. Once the injury has become advanced there is little that can be done; this pest's home is almost spray-proof. The best time for control is anytime between the 15th and the 25th of May. During this period the leaves are well out and the "miners" are just beginning to show. Here are some spray suggestions from the Ontario Department of Agriculture:
—25% lindane wettable powder, 1½ tablespoons per gallon of water.
—25% malathion wettable powder, 4 tablespoons per gallon of water.
—50% malathion emulsion, 2 teaspoons per gallon of water. Spray thoroughly and repeat the treatment about six weeks later to control the second generation. The timing must be correct for control. The shine folks take to a new car ought to be used on it after it gets old.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SHARING THE LIVING CHRIST
(Lesson for October 18)
Acts 3

Golden Text.—Then Peter said, Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee.

THE LESSON AS A WHOLE
Approach to the Lesson
The power which Peter used at Pentecost, when a multitude heard his preaching and turned to the Lord, was just as effective when applied to a crippled beggar.

The Word of God can stir the masses. But masses are composed of individuals, each of whom needs the Saviour. Peter and John did not hesitate to help a solitary individual. They had learned their lesson in the School of Christ, who dealt lovingly and patiently with people one by one, as well as with the crowds.

The scene is laid in the Temple area. Think of all the worshippers through the years who had heard the lame man's call for help and had never really been able to help him. Then two men arrived who knew the Lord and were empowered by the Holy Spirit. The beggar was instantaneously healed. It is right and proper to worship God. But let us be certain that we are personally familiar with the precious name of Christ and indwelt by the power of His Spirit; and that souls who cross our pathway are not simply impressed by our religious conformity, but are genuinely influenced for Christ and eternity.

The Heart of the Lesson
The cripple's plight was desperate. His twisted limbs pained him. He was powerless to help himself. His friends could move him from place to place, but that was all. The sight he presented was revolting. He was a public nuisance. Moreover, he had never known anything but suffering and shame; he was "lame from his mother's womb." So it is with a lost sinner. He is helpless and hopeless. He has never known life. Nor will he know it until he meets the Saviour. The miracle was performed in the Lord Jesus' name. The apostles were not agents in a divine transaction. They were the first to admit that all the credit should go to their risen Lord. His glorious name still prevails. It has never changed. The name of Christ — not simply His title, but also His attributes of grace and love that brought Him to Calvary for sinners — is still the only hope of men and women whose lives are marred by the ravages of sin. Peter used the healed man as the text for his sermon. Basing his remarks squarely on the Scriptures (3: 22-24), he pointed out that Christ is the fulfillment of prophecy (3: 13); and the object of Israel's hopes and aspirations. The Jews had grievously erred in dooming their Messiah to death. But God in mercy had intervened and raised Him from the dead. Now was the time for them to repent of their dastardly deed and turn to Christ.

Movable Closets Big Home Boon

Many young home owners and apartment dwellers have a common problem — not enough closets, shelves and storage facilities. Often a move to larger quarters is looming in the not-too-distant future, so "built-ins" are out of the question. Now, new "built-ins" move into the van just like any other piece of furniture. These pieces have other advantages, beyond their marvelous qualities as generous storage units and their mobility. They come in all shapes and sizes so they can be mixed around to suit you now and later. They stand right against the wall or can serve as a room divider. Most of the units are two-faced; offering storage facilities on both sides. They're available luxury-finished, unfinished, painted . . . or most any way you want them. And, best of all . . . their cost is reasonable. If you lack adequate storage space these dividers and "built-ins" may be just what you need. Housefiles don't seem to realize that human beings carry germs.

JUST WHAT IS YOUR NEWSPAPER?

This question has many answers. Here are a few:

It's a public service

It serves this community with news, advertising, editorial comment, and entertainment. It promotes projects which it believes will make this a better place in which to live.

It's a manufacturing plant

It converts ink, paper, metal, and power into a finished product. It gives employment year round, to heads of families.

It's a business

It enjoys full status as both a wholesaler (of newspapers) and a retailer. It plays its full part in the commercial life of the community.

It's a service establishment

It tries to give information and guidance both through its columns and personally through its staff. Its classified section is the local market place. It is the 20th century town crier and community counsellor.

It's a 100% home institution

It serves this district first, last and always. Its weekly payroll remains almost entirely in the area. Its taxes help support local schools and local government. It buys all possible supplies and services locally.

It's the voice of the people

Its printed reports, comment and pictures mirror this community in such a way that we may understand both its problems and its opportunities. It is a vital factor in the operation both of free, responsible government and in the life of free, democratic individuals.
