Swift's Minerals for all livestock.

Half a pound extra gain per day on a steer... can mineral do that? It sure can, according to experiment station tests. That depends, of course, on a couple of important things. First, your steers must like the mineral and eat it—as they do Swift's. Second, the mineral must be complete, including the right trace minerals. Well, Swift's contains eleven essential mineral elements, balanced just right.

Your hogs can make extra gain, in proportion, on Swift's hog mineral. And sheep, too, on Swift's All Purpose Mineral.

Looking for the best buy in mineral? That's Swift's—at your Swift feed dealer.

Last week the constitution which governs the election and the operation of the Student Council was changed. It was decided by the Student Council and the students to have elections for student government with the exception of the class representatives in May.

In recent years the elections have been held some time in September, but this proved unsatisfactory because the Student Council could not begin its activities until October. With elections in May, the Council will be able to get under way the first week of September.
