MARRIED COUPLES MUST PAY FOR "FAMILY" HOSPITAL INSURANCE

It's getting close to the time of year when church bells throughout Ontario will announce the marriages of thousands of starry-eyed young brides and grooms.

These couples will have a great deal to think about in making wedding arrangements, but one thing they should not overlook is hospital insurance. For the most part they will already be insured either as family dependants or as single persons, but as soon as they marry, they should insure together as a family.

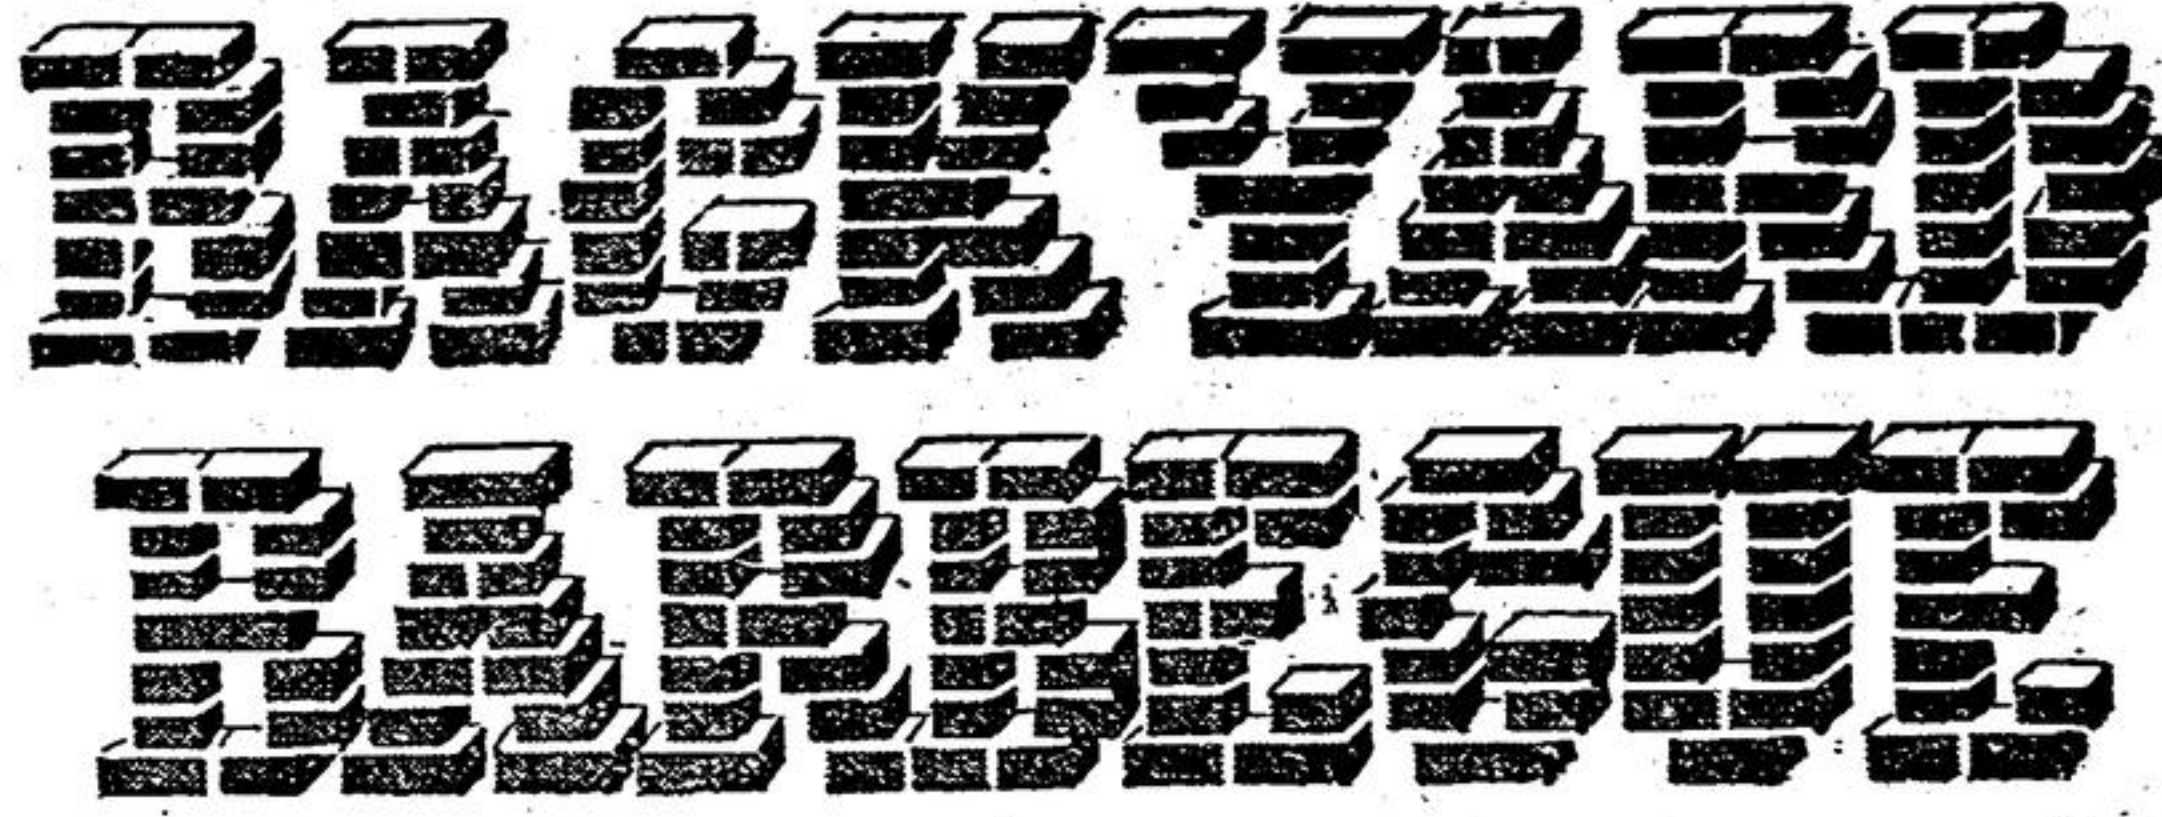

If the husband is employed in an insured group, he should advise his group of the marriage and begin paying the "family" premium. If the wife is in a group, and not the husband, she pays for the family. If they pay directly to the Commission, the Commission should be advised.

However they pay, immediate action should be taken to change to family premiums.
