Assessment Increase Brings Raised Eyebrows In Appeal Court

An appeal by three munici-; has some fringe development palities against the equalized around Oshawa. He had added assessment of the County of $70,480 to its assessment Ontario opened in Whitby last week with hints that the hearings before the three-man court may last for four weeks. The appeal has been brought by Pickering Township and the towns of Ajax and Whitby. The opening day included evidence from County Assessor Gordon Hepditch and municipal consultant Paul Mantha, of Ottawa, the latter called by Pickering Township, who is first presenting its case. Early in the proceedings, solicitor for Reach and Scugog Townships had made a motion that the board conduct its own inquiry and no cross-examination by all the counsel present be permitted. Every municipality in the county is represented at the appeal with the exception of the villages of Port Perry and Pickering. He said that the main reason for such a motion was that the hearing could drag on three or four weeks. Some counsel, he suggested, were being paid $400 per day and rural municipalities could not afford this fee and did not wish to not be represented. When he reported the $400 per day figure, the chairman of the board quipped that he was on the wrong side of the appeal business.

However, he did not allow the motion and the hearing will proceed with all municipalities being allowed to submit any evidence that is ruled relevant and all counsel being permitted to cross-examine.

County Assessor The first to give evidence, however, escaped the cross examination but will later be recalled. He was Gordon Hepditch, Ontario County's assessor for three years. In fact, he was appointed on Nov. 1, 1957, so the occasion was also an anniversary for him. His first evidence required that he list his qualifications, qualifications which brought amazement to the eyes of more than one of the counsel listening to his evi-

His evidence consisted of covering the county, municipality by municipality, to explain why he had added to, relieved, or left untouched the local assessments of the municipalities to arrive at the equalized assessment for county purposes.

Starting in Pickering Township, he said that he found land assessed at $3 in many cases, an assessment, he said, that held true for land which was being sold for $30 or $40 per foot and also for land being sold at $16 per foot. He said that he had raised Pickering Township land assessment by $284,120 to bear some ratio to its value.

Give Abatement Ajax, he said, had increased its assessment by $1,168,360 during the year by a reassessment of its land. He said that he had given this town an abatement of $238,260, a five percent location allowance. In Whitby, he said, he found that land assessment was not up to the standard of Ajax and Pickering village and he had

The village of Cannington, he | noon. said, had been treated properly and its local assessment was accepted.

In Mara Township, he said, he felt that some buildings were high and had given an abatement of $14,300. In Rama Township, he said, he felt that the assessor had looked too sternly at farm assessments and he had allowed an abatement of $3915. During his three years as county assessor, he said, he has travelled 56,000 miles within the county and has in those miles travelled every passable road and walked many impassable roads.

In the afternoon, Paul Mantha, a municipal consultant, called by Pickering Township, reported on spot evaluations he had made in every municipality in Ontario County.

In addition, he compared the valuation with the local assessment on that same property. His averages, he said, showed a range from 25 percent to 30 per cent of the replacement value of the properties was the assessment figures.
