EDITOR'S MAIL
 101 Hawthorne Ave.,
 Stouffville, Ont.,
 Dec. 4, 1961

To The Editor,
 Dear Sir,
 In regard to your editorial that the ratepayers appear satisfied and did not bother with the nomination meeting, let me assure you that we are not satisfied.

I would like to know how people are supposed to know or be here when the meeting is on the same day as the paper is distributed. It is a well planned scheme by your paper or by council not to let many know of the nomination meeting. If this was published a week or two in advance, I am sure that the turnout would be very large. You also speak of a critical situation of having to press someone to close the gap for council, but if the meeting was made public far enough in advance, your so-called "lack of interest" and "critical situation" would be well taken care of. Another thing, why are the polling stations never announced? There are numerous newcomers to Stouffville especially in the sub-divisions who haven't a clue to where they should vote. This should be made public.

Yours truly,
 George Hall

MARKHAM U. M. CHURCH
 The month of December will offer many Christmas features to the congregations of the Markham and Dickson's Hill U.M. Churches. Next Sunday night will be our annual Christmas Carol service. Sunday night December 17th, will feature candlelight services in both churches. Local and outside musical talent will add greatly to the spiritual tone of the service. The Pastor has prepared and published this special candlelight service. Christmas Sunday night members of the church will present a Cantata based on "The Quest of the Magi". Our orchestra will make a first time appearance. The solos, duets, trio and men's chorus will present the Christmas story in song and word.

The hanging up of the mistletoe and the burning of the Yule log are two of the most ancient customs which come from our pagan ancestors.

This week, he fired four goals, three unassisted and one on a pass from Tom Snow. His Boston team defeated Mole Motors 7-1. Other Boston marksmen were — Bill McNelly, Ken Torrance and Tom Snow. In the assist department, Tom Snow collected a pair. Single points went to Geo. Redshaw, Bill McNelly and Brian Madill. David James teamed up with Rod McJames for Mole Motors lone tally. David James put the puck in the net.
 Detroit 1, Chicago 1
 In the Detroit-Chicago game, the boys had to settle for a 1-1 tie. Billy Goudie blinked the light for the "Red Wings". Pat Coughlan scored for the "Hawks" a pass from Jim Mehafeey.
